Tax returns made public

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward Kennedy and his wife owed $166,151 in federal taxes last year on a total income of about a half million dollars and overpaid the government by $40,000, their 1979 tax return shows.

The joint return, released by Kennedy's campaign headquarters, showed the Massachusetts Democrat had a higher income than President Carter and paid more in taxes last year.

Carter last Tuesday made public his return — showing a total income of $195,527 and claiming a refund of $16,703. A breakdown of his financial assets and liabilities showed his net worth plunged below the $1 million mark in 1979.

Inflation to hurt city budget

WASHINGTON — Rising inflation and reduced federal subsidies will hit America's cities hard throughout the 1980s, and already there are some disturbing trends.

A survey of more than 300 towns with populations over 10,000 shows expenses are rising faster than revenues, a study prepared for Congress' Joint Economic Committee found. An increasing number of cities are expected to show budget deficits this year, the report said.

The study also showed that cities are relying less on income from property taxes and more heavily on user fees or sales taxes, said Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., chairman of the subcommittee that commissioned the study.

Moorhead said the increase of user charges and sales taxes — to balance the reduction of property taxes in the wake of Proposition 13 and similar legislation — "places the burden of tax relief on low-income city residents."

City services that previously were free to the public, and now carry an admittance fee or user charge, affect poor residents more than higher-income people, he said.

User fees and sales taxes substitute with a city's economy more than property tax revenue declining during downturns, city needs money most, he said.

Another trend noted is that governments are deferring and maintenance on roads, buildings — perhaps threatening the safety of structures and weakening operations.

McDONALD'S INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

At University Drive

At Manor East Mall

Brothers Mark and Wes O'Rear receive their first lesson in the art of balancing a canoe. Their luck held for the rest of the race — they finished last in the "under-17-foot" IM canoe race.

Fast, Fast Results

The fast pitch tournament was a hit with stiff competition and exciting action. The proof was in the pitching for the winning teams. The excellent pitching created some close scores and frustrated many batters.

The real action in the women's bracket was between the Ding Bats and Half Fast. Half Fast came from behind to tie the game in the third inning, 2-2. They went on to win by scoring another run in the 6th inning. The final score was Half Fast 3 and the Ding Bats 2.

Half Fast defeated Mega in the finals to capture the women's 1980 fast pitch championship. The Ding Bats were the 1979 fast pitch women's champs while Half Fast placed 2nd in the 1980 Penberthy slow pitch tournament.

The Hustlers and Rousters glided from the semi-finals to a tough championship game. Here it was a battle of the pitchers, Calvin Lawson for the Hustlers and Milton Radke for the Rousters. Radke sat out the semi-final game which may have given him an edge over Lawson who had pitched all day. In the end it was a close game with the Hustlers over the Rousters, 2-0.

Game Of the Week

It was a rough and tough Fish class A softball game as D-2 squared off against K-1. D-2 galloped at the start to score two points in the first inning. Not to be outdone, K-1 racked up four runs in between outs.

The second inning slowed the pace as D-2 only managed a single and a triple before taking the lead from K-1. Only three K-1 batters to first base in the bottom of the inning.

D-2 put every man up to bat and scored seven runs in the fourth inning again. K-1's fielders with 6 more outs every man to bat, and as a result K-1 put two men across the plate to trail 8-15.

In the fifth, D-2 slowed the pace to a trot and tallied only one run for the inning. A valuable K-1 put three more runs on the score board. The game was tied 2-2.

D-2 fish were David Hughes, Paul Hastings, Davis, Dan Stedham, Lawshe, Blaine Edwards, Palomares, Dan Kahler, Ryan. K-1's players were Garcia, Stephen Moore, Makor, Mitchell Smith, Garcia, Robert Peterson, Tollette, Jeff Jackson, Maloney, and Mike Maloney.

Softball Scheduling

All teams should check their game dates 2 or 3 games ahead. Some teams may be playing several games on the same day. Of course, these schedules are subject to rainout procedures, as rain can cause drastic schedule changes.

At this time All-University play-offs are scheduled to begin Monday, April 28. Schedules will be posted Thursday, April 24 after 2:00 p.m.

Keep checking your schedules to keep updated on the tournament.

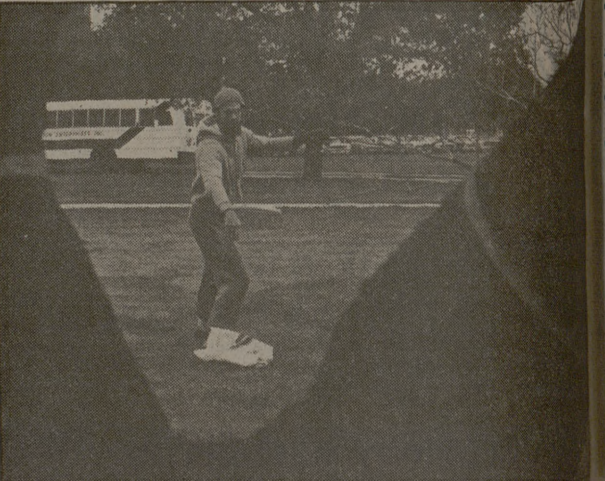

Team Managers

MEMORANDUM

Your chance to give the IM staff input concerning rule and program changes is coming up. Wednesday, April 30 is an All Team Managers Meeting with the IM staff. The meeting will be at 7:00 p.m. in room 701 of Rudder Tower. Suggestions and ideas will be accepted for next year's program. Please have your suggestions legibly written or typed. We're looking forward to it!

Oops

There were a few errors in the track results in the April 7 issue. The winner of the men's 440 yard relay was Magnum Force with a time of 44.33. The team included Thomas Brow, Tollie Thompson, Harold Eaton, and Reggie Tramer. Suzanne Glaymeyer of the 200ers was misspelled in the women's and CoRec 440 yard relays. Also the time on the women's 880 yard should have read 2:42.78.

Kevin Sullivan launches a frisbee toward the designated target during the IM frisbee-golf tourney. Sullivan took first place in the event.
