Tito's doctors report leader's heart is weaker than ever

United Press International BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Doctors Saturday revealed that President Josip Broz Tito's weakened heart shows increasing signs of giving out and that the Yugoslav leader also now suffers serious digestive disorders in addition to his numerous other ailments.

The official medical bulletin Saturday said the 87-year-old Tito, who has been hospitalized for 105 days, is still in "exceptionally grave" condition and indicated that he is still comatose and in shock.

Tito's left leg was amputated Jan. 20 just eight days after an unsuccessful bypass operation. Since then the list of serious medical complications includes virtually all of his vital organs.

In addition to the cardiac weakness and newly disclosed digestive system malfunction, he suffers liver failure and acute jaundice, total kidney failure, high fever, internal bleeding and pneumonia.

Earlier this week, the doctors treating Tito at the Medical Center in the northwest city of Ljubljana listed him in critical condition for several days, during which he lapsed into a coma and shock.

They have since said the coma and shock were easing somewhat but have not said they have disappeared.

Saturday's bulletin said, "In the past few days, serious difficulties in the function of digestive organs have been in evidence. Signs of diac weakness are again appearing."

Tito is less than a month away from the gala celebrations May 25 to Youth Day — and his 85th birthday. Tito's real birthday is May 7, but his birthday has officially been celebrated on May 25 for decades.
