Texas Actor's Theatre at Backstage Friday

The Backstage Coffeehouse will present a comedy revue entitled "Eternal Nothingness is O.K. if You're Dressed For It" Friday night.

The seven skits are put on by the Texas Actors Theatre.

The first skit is a retelling of the first chapters of the Book of Genesis from the Bible. William Weldon, who was recently seen as Lenny Bruce, plays God in the form of a construction worker. David Walker plays Satan.

The second, entitled "The Clean Up," is about three junkies who will shoot up anything they can get their hands on, including peanut butter and cat hair.

In the third play, Ellen Dowling portrays a liberated secretary who gets back at the office lecher.

Then, Steve Thomas and Sharon Barrow act out a typical husband-wife argument by describing their lines and giving stage directions.

"The Tridget of Greva," translated from the Squinch by Ring Lardner, contains one of the oddest casts ever assembled, including the Tridget, a Wham Salesman and a Corn Vitter.

Then, Dowling and Thomas portray a perfectly matched couple in "Computer Date."

The final piece in the revue is Woody Allen's "Death Knocks", a parody of Ingmar Bergmann's "The Seventh Seal," with Death playing gin rummy instead of chess.

Admission for the two shows, at 8:30 and 11 p.m., is $2.00.

Movement and dance class offered for girls

A dance and movement education course, sponsored by the Texas A&M University Department of Health and Physical Education, will be offered for girls aged five through eight years during the second summer session.

The six-session course will be held in the G. Rollie White Coliseum Annex Dance Studio, starting Saturday.

Creative dance can lead children to creative use of their bodies and develop a self-confidence of body use, Carl Gabbard, Department of Health and Physical Education, said. Preregistration is required. The course will cost $15 per person.

Co-op opens new location Saturday

by BECKY SWANSON

Arts, crafts, plants and a bake sale will highlight the grand opening of the Brazos Valley Food Co-op in its new location this Saturday.

Kim Johnson, grand opening coordinator, said the co-op has moved from the renovated chicken coop off Nimitz Street to its new location at 4405 Old College Main, across from Grins Beer Garden.

The grand opening will run from 11 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and will include an arts and crafts show and sale, a plant sale and a bake sale as well as the sale of regular co-op goods.

Local musicians will perform at the grand opening, Johnson said.

The co-op offers a variety of goods ranging from whole wheat flour and pasta to honey and herb teas. Cheese, dry beans, granola, fruit juices, dried fruit and oils are some of the other products offered. Bread is also baked by special order by a co-op member.

The new building will give the co-op room to expand its inventory and the variety of products it offers, Johnson said.

The grand opening celebration is being staged to acquaint people with the co-op and its program, Johnson said. The co-op offers discount programs for members, but anyone is welcome to come and shop, she said.

Paid members pay an initial $5 lifetime membership fee which entitles them to a 5 percent discount off posted prices.

Working members receive a 10 percent discount for working two hours per week, Johnson said.

A paid working member receives a 15 percent discount, she said.

The co-op's regular hours are Monday and Wednesday from 9-11 a.m. and from 5-8:30 p.m.; Friday from 9-11 a.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Williams performs at Hall of Fame tonight

Country singer Don Williams will be featured in concert at the Texas Hall of Fame tonight (July 17) at 7:30 and 11 p.m.

Williams, an artist of MCA Records, was named Male Vocalist of the Year by the Country Music Association in both the United States and Britain.

Williams' concert style is described in his press releases as "laid back" or "mellow." He performs wearing blue jeans, and his band consists of a bassist, a lead guitarist, drummer and keyboard player.

Although he spends fifty percent of each month on tour, Williams regards songwriting as his major talent. Williams' songs have been recorded by Charley Pride, Kenny Rogers, Johnny Cash, Jeannie Pruitt, Sonny James, Lefty Frizzell, Lobo, Eric Clapton, Pete Townshend and Ronnie Lane. Williams said he's written over 600 songs.

Tickets are $8 for each show, and are available at the Texas Hall of Fame, Tip Top Records, WTAW radio station and the Hairport. Plenty of good seats are available at all locations, a WTAW spokesperson said.
