Middle East peace talks come to a close

United Press International
President Carter's Middle East envoy Sol Linowitz, who successfully coaxed Egypt and Israel to resume the stalled Palestinian autonomy talks and agree to another Camp David summit with the United States, ended his mission Thursday at a meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Butros Ghali.

Linowitz announced the agreement Wednesday in Alexandria, following a 45-minute meeting with President Anwar Sadat. Linowitz had arrived earlier in the day after two days of talks with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

"The parties agreed to resume the autonomy negotiations at a mutually agreed date and to consult regarding the preparation, venue and timing of a summit meeting," Linowitz said in a statement on behalf of Sadat and Begin.

In Washington, President Carter said the autonomy talks could resume in a "few weeks." Official sources said no precise dates or locations had been set, but they expect the two sides to meet within two weeks. One high-ranking official said that the results of the Linowitz mission were better than expected.

In his statement, Linowitz gave no indication whether Israel made the concessions Egypt sought and it was not clear what had induced Sadat to resume the talks. Begin said Tuesday he was making no concessions.

Diplomatic sources mentioned two possible inducements. One was Sadat's desire to help Carter in his re-election bid. The other was a promise by Begin, conveyed by Linowitz, to make conciliatory gestures such as release of some Palestinian prisoners.

Nat'l Lampoon's Kenney dies

United Press International
LIHUE, Hawaii — Douglas Kenney, co-founder of the National Lampoon magazine and co-author of the movie comedy "Animal House," died in an accidental fall from a 30-foot cliff on the island of Kauai. He was 33.

Kenney's body had been found Monday but was not immediately identified, police said Wednesday. The body was wedged between boulders on a cliff 30 to 40 feet below a lookout point in Hanalei Valley, apparently after a body fall last week, Kauai Police Capt. Bill Sheldon said.

Comedian Chevy Chase, a friend who was vacationing with Kenney, took charge of arrangements to ship the body back to the mainland. Kenney arrived on Kauai Aug. 26.

"His fiancée Kathryn Walker and Chevy were with him," Kenney's publisher, the National Lampoon and producer of "Animal House," said in Los Angeles.

"They went back to their hotel, but Doug wanted to spend more days, and then he had this terrible accident."

A missing person report was filed Sept. 1 by Kenney's hotel. "He may have been hiking or just walking and slipped," said Sheldon, who added that the body lay undiscovered for three to four days.

Kenney and Henry Beard of New York, former editors of the National Lampoon, the college humor magazine, founded the National Lampoon, Simmons said. The magazine gained a large following for its brash, sardonic humor, which poked fun at anything and everything.

In 1976, Kenney and two other writers on the National Lampoon staff were working on a movie, which became "Animal House," a comedy about the antics of a college fraternity.

Kenney also was in "Animal House," although he had never before. He played "Stork," the tall guy with glasses and short hair.

He co-authored the National Lampoon High School Yearbook, which sold more than six million copies, before leaving the magazine to produce the movie "Caddyshack."

Kenney, a 1968 graduate of Harvard, is survived by his parents, and Mrs. Harry Kenney of Connecticut, and a sister, Victoria.

Carter convinced Demos back re-election campaign

United Press International
WASHINGTON — After three days of campaigning, President Carter is convinced that the once-divided Democratic Party is now closing ranks behind his candidacy.

Carter was to meet with two more politically important groups Thursday when he speaks to the AFL-CIO General Board meeting and the closing banquet of the B'nai B'rith convention, which Ronald Reagan addressed Wednesday night.

At the windup of a day of campaigning in Philadelphia Wednesday, Carter said in an interview with WPVI-TV that since the convention last month he has witnessed a remarkable coalescing of ranks in the Democratic Party.

In the interview and at a Baptist Church, Carter said that Sen. Edward Kennedy of Mass., his rival in the primary, telephoned him to express his support for Carter's re-election.

The Soviet troops "united" in November, Carter said, and he hopes the American people will do the same.
