Texas A&M University quarterback Mike Mosley gets ready to pitch out during last weekend's game against Mississippi, which the Aggies won, 23-20. Mosley, who tallied 244 yards total offense in that game, will lead 19th-ranked Texas A&M against the 15th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs Saturday in Athens, Ga.

Dooley says stopping Mosley is key

United Press International
ATHENS, Ga. — Vince Dooley says the 15th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs must put a halter on Texas A&M quarterback Mike Mosley Saturday if they are to live up to their favorite's role against the 19th-ranked Aggies.

"There's no doubt the thing that impresses you about A&M is their speed," said Dooley. "And that starts with Mike Mosley. He runs a 9.4 100 and while leading A&M to a 23-20 win over Ole Miss last week he had two touchdowns and passing for 128 more for a 244 total."

Mosley, a 6-foot-2, 192-pound senior, was ranked eighth in the nation in total offense after last week's openers — rushing for 116 yards and those two touchdowns and passing for 128 more for a 244 total.

Dooley said Mosley's running style reminds him of New Orleans Saints quarterback Archie Manning and former Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach during their college careers.

"He's a very fluid runner," said Dooley. "And, in addition to his running ability, he's an accomplished passer."

However, Dooley has uncovered an offensive ace of his own. Herschel Walker, a 220-pound freshman who has been clocked in 9.5 in the 100, made his college debut late in the second half last week and scored two second-half touchdowns to lead the Bulldogs to a come-from-behind, 16-15, victory at Tennessee.

"What you are going to see in A&M is another Tennessee with two big exceptions," said Dooley, "a faster quarterback and a super tailback in (sophomore) Johnny Hector."

Saturday's game, Georgia's home opener before an expected sellout crowd of better than 60,000, marks the first meeting between the Bulldogs and Aggies in 26 years. A&M was the winner each time in their three previous meetings — in the 1949 Orange Bowl (41-28) and in regular season play in 1953 (14-12) and 1954 (6-0).

If Dooley had his way, Georgia wouldn't be playing Texas A&M this early in the season. He pointed out that A&M won four of its last five games in 1979 and is a "very experienced team on offense and defense."

"They have momentum now and we just don't need to be playing them at this time," said Dooley.

"But, I knew from the start that our first three games were going to be extremely difficult. And this game against A&M will be much tougher than Tennessee because of two things — Mosley and Hector."

Dooley says the Bulldogs concentrated on offense during this week's practice sessions because "we needed to get some offense going which was the problem last week against Tennessee. We know we have to score on Texas A&M because we know they can score." The game will start at 11:30 Saturday, and will be broadcast on KORA radio.

Kowal, Judson stage match at Royal Oaks Racquet Club

Southwest Conference doubles champions Ron Kowal and Tom Judson of Texas A&M will put on an exhibition Saturday at the Royal Oaks Racquet Club in Bryan at 6:30 p.m.

Dwight Edwards, the club pro, and Jim Crubert, a member of the Texas A&M men's tennis team will take on the champions as part of a festival the club has organized. Kowal and Judson won the doubles chamampionship last spring at the championships that were held in Corpus Christi.

In other action on Saturday, the Texas A&M Open Mixed Doubles championship will be held at the Country Club in Bryan. The match was postponed due to bad weather.

Charles Emley and Judson will take on Max King and Nuetze for the championship. King and Nuetze are former A&M tennis team members.
