SAVE YOUR FIELDS: The IM-REC SPORTS DEPARTMENT would like to remind students to refrain from any activities on wet fields. The most common activity that takes place is "MUD BALL". In order to keep the fields in some type of playable condition, we are asking that mud ball not be played on the Penberthy Fields, the Main Drill Field, Cain Field, or the East Campus Polo and Soccer Fields. Only your cooperation can save your fields.

Weightroom Confusion

A great deal of confusion has surrounded the recent removal of the Olympic Weights from the free weight room on the second floor of C. Rollie White Coliseum. These weights are the property of the Texas A&M University Weightlifting Club, which has recently become an officially recognized student organization.

The Olympic Weights have been set up in room 263 of C. Rollie White for use by club members only. The club room will be tentatively open on weeknights from 5-10 p.m., Saturdays from 10-4 p.m., and on Sundays from 10-1 p.m.

Members desiring to use the room during weekdays may check out a key from the Intramural Office in 159 East Kyle. Individuals interested in learning more about the Weightlifting Club should contact Phil Bellmore at

The free weight room will still remain open for recreational use seven nights a week from 5-10 p.m. This room may be utilized by ALL students, faculty, staff and their respective spouses.

New equipment has been ordered for this existing weightroom and will be arriving in the very near future. The new equipment will include seven Nautilus machines and 3 sixteen station Centurion Universal sets. Once this equipment is in place, the existing free weights will be moved to what was formerly the Fencing Room in C. Rollie White.

When the dust clears and everything is in place, the Intramural-Recreational Sports Department believes that an opportunity will exist for each and every individual to fulfill his or her weightlifting aspirations.

Aggie Rugby Player Selected To Western USA Squad

The Western United States Select Side Rugby Tournament was held September 27 & 28 in St. Louis, Missouri. Teams from Texas, Missouri, Ozarks, Eastern Rockies, and the Heart of America Rugby Unions participated in the tournament. While these teams competed for the championship, the individual players were evaluated for selection to the Western USA Squad.

Individuals selected to the Western USA Squad will compete in the National Trials to be held later this year. The Western USA Rugby Union is one of four territories in the USA Rugby Union. Individuals to be selected to the USA Rugby Union Eagles squad will be determined at the National Trials.

Aggies Bill Taute and Mark Anthony were selected earlier this year to represent A&M. The Texas team, captained by Mark Anthony, dominated their opposition throughout most of the tournament before losing in the finals, 20-10.

Seven Texas players were ultimately selected to the Western Mustang squad, the most ever from the Lone Star State. Bill Taute will be representing Texas A&M University on the 1980-81 squad. Taute is the first Aggie to ever receive such an honor.

Action & Concentration

Pickleball action remains fast and furious, above, while Gary Scott concentrates on a key putt during the IM golf tourney, light.

New Game In Town — Co-Rec Flickerball

If you like the passing of football and the accuracy needed in shooting a basketball, Flickerball is for you. This year's action will be expanded due to the advent of a new Flickerball division... CO-REC!

Flickerball teams consist of seven players on a team. The object of the game is to throw a football through a square hole in a goal similar to a basketball backboard. The game is contested on a field that measures 25 yards by 50 yards. The ball can only be advanced by passing with no running allowed once the pass has been caught.

Dave Kerr, Assistant Intramural Director responsible for officials, notes that there are numerous rule changes this year. Kerr stresses the importance of attending the Team Captain's Meeting to be held Thursday, October 16 at 5:15 p.m. in room 267 of C. Rollie White in order to become aware of these rule changes.

Several adaptations have also been made for the CO-REC division. Instead of seven players per team, Co-Rec teams will be comprised of a maximum of six players (three men and three women). Men will not be permitted in an area five yards from the end line (10 yards from the goal) and a girl must touch the ball in every possession prior to a score. Men's goals will be scored one point if you hit the goal and three points if the ball goes through the goal, while the women's scoring will be two and four points respectively. Entries for all divisions will open today (Monday, Oct. 6) and will be accepted through Tuesday, October 14. The IM-REC SPORTS DEPARTMENT requests that entries come as soon as possible because 240 teams participated last year and an increase is anticipated due to the increasing popularity of the sport as well as the new division.

Last year's Weightlifting Contest drew 37 contestants, while this year's Contest has over 80 individuals ready to compete. The Weightlifting record is held by 149 pound James Rue, who benchpressed 270 pounds which is 181% of his body weight. So remember the contest is won by percent of body weight, not necessarily total pounds benched.

Special Events

IM Diving

Although the mercury dropped slightly last Tuesday evening, nine brave Aggies weathered the unseasonal conditions to compete in the Intramural Diving Contest. Suzanne Parsons topped the field of four women, while Mike Durkin outlasted four other male divers to emerge with the coveted Intramural Champion T-Shirt in the men's division. Durkin knudged second-place finisher Mark Hartwell by a mere two points in three dives while Parsons outdistanced runnerup Cindy Berg by 17 points.

Home Run Hitting

Thirty-three participants challenged the pitcher machine this past Wednesday during the Intramural Home Run Hitting Contest held at Olsen Field.

Topping the field of women was Jennifer Yeak while Mark Hensley outlasted twenty-eight other male challengers. In a close contest Hensley defeated runner-up Mike Pittard as his next to last shot hit the wall at the 57 foot mark.

Ladies Champ Yeak fought off challengers from Priscilla Hickman and Diane Gusti.

Punt, Pass & Kick Opens

For the past two decades, autumn brought about not only football mania across the country but also the annual Punt, Pass & Kick sponsored by the local Ford dealers.

Thousands of young guys and girls have participated in this event over the years in virtually every city and hamlet across the United States. In recent years, this interest has grown to the older generations as well. As the younger participants graduated to the college route to education, intramural Punt, Pass & Kick contests have emerged on campuses everywhere.

Texas A&M is no exception. The Intramural-Recreational Sports Department will be sponsoring their annual PP&K Contest on October 16 at 4 p.m. at the Penberthy Intramural Complex, field.

There will be two divisions offered in the competition — Men's and Women's. Each participant will be allowed one attempt at each of the three activities in the preliminaries. The three distances will then be totaled for an individual's score. The top five scorers in each division will be allowed a second attempt in each activity to determine the winner.

Last year's champions were Mark Hogue and Debra Minifie in Men's and Women's Divisions, respectively. The TAMU record were both set the previous year. Mike Woodard holds the Men's mark with a total of 508' 11 1/2" while the Women's record of 238' 2 1/2" held by Cindy Rogers.

Entries are now being accepted for this year's competition and will remain open through Tuesday, October 14. Stop by the IM-REC SPORTS OFFICE today and enter this fun-filled free activity.

Football For Fun?

The goal of every person playing flag football is to earn an All-University title, right? Wrong! The men and women that participate in Class C Intramural Flag Football are only after one thing — FUN.

"We don't care whether we win or lose," said Andy Smith, a Junior from LaPorte. "We are out here to have a good time and I think we play better without the pressure."

Many organizations, such as the Aggie Players, play Class C Football. Terry Martin, a Senior from Longview says it gives the Aggie Players "... a chance to be creative," and that they let everyone play and have a good time.

Another Aggie Player said that it was the only Class she ever remembers playing. "It is definitely good-natured fun among the teams," said Brenda Hiatt, a graduate student from Alexandria, Virginia.

Players, however, are not the only ones who enjoy Class C games. Buster Renfro, a second year official from Brownsville said, "They're mainly out here for the fun of it. If they win, fine and if they lose, fine."

"I think refereeing these games because they are not as competitive. Everyone gets along, teases each other and they are not as serious as in A and B."

Coaches Harold Giroir and Dean Swanzy of the Women's C Division Bad news Bears also enjoy the C action because of the good times.

But don't be misled, all this fun does not curve the competitive edge of the game. Players run complex plays, call sideline plays and often compete with the same intensity of players in the All-University final.

However, the underlying factor of Class C Flag Football is still fun. A classic line exemplified this attitude when a guy missed an easy chance at a girl's flag and said, "I reached for the wrong part."

Charles Jumper of F-1 gets down and dirty for his games. Charles is our "Be Our Guest" winner this week and should stop by the Intramural office for his free meal card.

Class C Football is M'm M'm Good!
