Slavens appreciates TAMU

By ANN DUFFY
Battalion Reporter

Danville, Ill., is not the most exciting place to spend the summer, but it sure made Texas A&M University pitcher Robert Slavens appreciate College Station.

"That town made College Station look like a metropolis," the 6-8 right-hander from Houston Westbury said. "Everything closes down at 9 p.m."

Slavens and A&M catcher Joey Szekeley spent the summer playing baseball for the Danville Roosters of the Central Illinois Collegiate League. Danville is located 130 miles south of Chicago.

Robert Slavens

The two sophomores worked on the Roosters' baseball field during the day as a part-time job and had games every night.

"Playing every night helped me in preparing myself mentally more than anything else," Slavens said. "It was almost like playing for the minor leagues except we didn't get paid."

"No, it was really a good experience. I'd probably do it all over again if I had a chance."

Slavens was one of six pitchers on the 17-player team. The Roosters played 54 games this summer. Slavens finished with a 54-1 record.

In contrast, the lady finished last spring with an 11-1 record in the charity ally tough SWC.

Ag assistant SID resigns position

David Walker, assistant sports information director at Texas A&M University since last December, has resigned and will leave next week for a broadcasting job in Harlingen.

Walker, 25, has accepted a job as a sports reporter for KGBT in the Texas valley town. The station is a dual NBC-CBS affiliate.

Walker will attend his 14th consecutive A&M-Baylor game Saturday when the Bears come to Field at 2 p.m.

"I have mixed emotions leaving," he said Thursday looking forward to getting on TV. "I've been around here a long time, though. I'm going to miss the gobs and gobs. I'm really going to miss it."

Walker had previously served as sports director at Bryan's KETV.

Aggie women 4th in Georgia event

The Aggie women's golf team, after leading in the first round of the Georgia Invitational in Athens, Ga., early this week, faded in the stretch and ended fourth Thursday.

Texas A&M was led by Mel Welch, who finished fifth in the individual pool of 110 golfers with a three-round total. Other top finishers: Kim Bauer, 24; Yantis, 25; Shirley Furlong and Jackie Bertram, 25.

The Aggies finished with a team total, 15 strokes behind host team Georgia, who came behind to edge TCU for the title a 964 total. TCU ended at 970. UCLA was third with a 973 total.

The individual medalist was Moody of Georgia at 231.
