Council may alter its bylaws

Wright in first fight in 26 years

Texas Congress race stiff

United Press International
FORT WORTH — House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, is battling the strongest challenge of his 26-year congressional career with a well-financed Republican who has the active backing of Gov. Bill Clements, the principal owner of the Texas Rangers baseball team and a minister regarded as a leader of the state's "New Right" Christian movement.

The Texas A&M University Academic Council will consider a proposed amendment to its bylaws when it meets at 2 p.m. Wednesday in 225-226 Memorial Student Center.

T.W. Adair III, council secretary, said the proposed amendment is to ensure that comments of vice presidents would be available to the Rules and Regulations Committee of the council before submission of recommendations for changes to University regulations.

Wright first won the House in 1954, upsetting incumbent Wingate Lucas. He had not previously challenged since he shrewdly began his campaign.

Bradshaw's most influential supporter is Eddie Chiles, primary of the Texas Rangers and a radio businessman who has used radio advertisements for his Co. of America to promote conservative causes and criticize the administration.

Wright apparently has a threat of Bradshaw's campaign sent letters to directors of a conservative political action committee asking them not to contribute to Bradshaw's campaign.

"He's gotten away for years talking one way down here and voting the other way in Washington," Bradshaw said. "Jim Wright is a liberal. His voice is not saying in Washington what you want your voice to say."

Wright spent most of the debate on the defensive, turning back charge after charge by Bradshaw, and actually shouted when Bradshaw suggested he was soft on national defense.

"I deny the erroneous innuendoes that my dedication to the defense of the United States is a Johnnie-come-lately thing — it isn't," Wright said. "I've presided over the biggest increase in national defense spending this year since World War II."

"I'll be coming back to Congress but anything you give to me just makes it that much more costly for me," Wright said.

"So I guess my plea is that well-known woodsman who has uttered the following prayer: 'If you can't help me, just please help that bear!'"

Each of the candidates is expected to spend in excess of $500,000.

Giant Armadillo Strikes San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO — The Lone Star Brewery in here was raided yesterday by a GIANT ARMADILLO.

Reports are that it is the same armadillo that ravaged Lone Star Beer warehouses in Dallas, Abilene and Temple. Once again, the enormous creature did not consume the tasty beverage but just swallowed up some kegs and headed out.

Lone Star Beer brewers were not available for comment and the number of kegs taken has not been disclosed. In any case, the question remains, where will the giant armadillo go next?

Another puzzling event in this armadillo occurred when the giant creature snatched up the San Antonio-based band, THE MAX. It seems as though the big armadillo has some sort of scheme or plan. What that plan is, we can only speculate.

The latest report from Armadillo Watch headquarters in College Station is that the giant mammal is headed in an easterly direction out of San Antonio. His destination is not known.

In any case, an ARMADILLO WATCH has been posted for BRAZOS and surrounding counties.

Authorities are especially concerned with the armadillo's activities now that the best beast has captured the popular band THE MAX. Apparently the band members remain unhurt, and in fact they've been playing a couple of tunes as they continue on their unknown journey.

Fairgoers fewer, but no problem

DALLAS — Attendance at the State Fair but operators still expect the 95th annual event a success.

"The whole fair industry is in a bit of a slump because of the economy," Wayne Gallagher, general manager of the fair, said. "Plus, we're heavily on the city buses and weren't running (due to a bus walkout)."

"But this will rank as one of the all-time top five fairs. Camelot has been a huge success. The rodeo and livestock entries increased."

Despite an attendance drop of 3,052,883 in 1979 to 2,925,000, Gallagher said revenues may be up because admission was increased from $2.50 to $3. Food sales should be close to last year's $3 million mark, but revenues will probably drop eight percent, he said.

A roving gang that attacked fairgoers and a few midway marauders marred the 17-day event.

A police tactical squad was called to fair security after some people leaving for their cars were attacked by a band of men.

One ride had to be closed as malfunctioned and took about 10 minutes to get back in operation. No injuries were caused when a woman broke her wrist on a ride when she was thrown from a car.

The final day of the 1979 fair one man killed and 17 injured as two gondolas fell from the Swiss ride, which did not run this year.

Gallagher said there has been one year in the past five — 1977 — when no one had to be taken to hospital.

"When we have a 17-day fair of almost 3 million people we expect to have the pluses minus of any community of this size," he said.
