

Staff photo by Pat O'Malley

Staff photo by Pat O'Malley

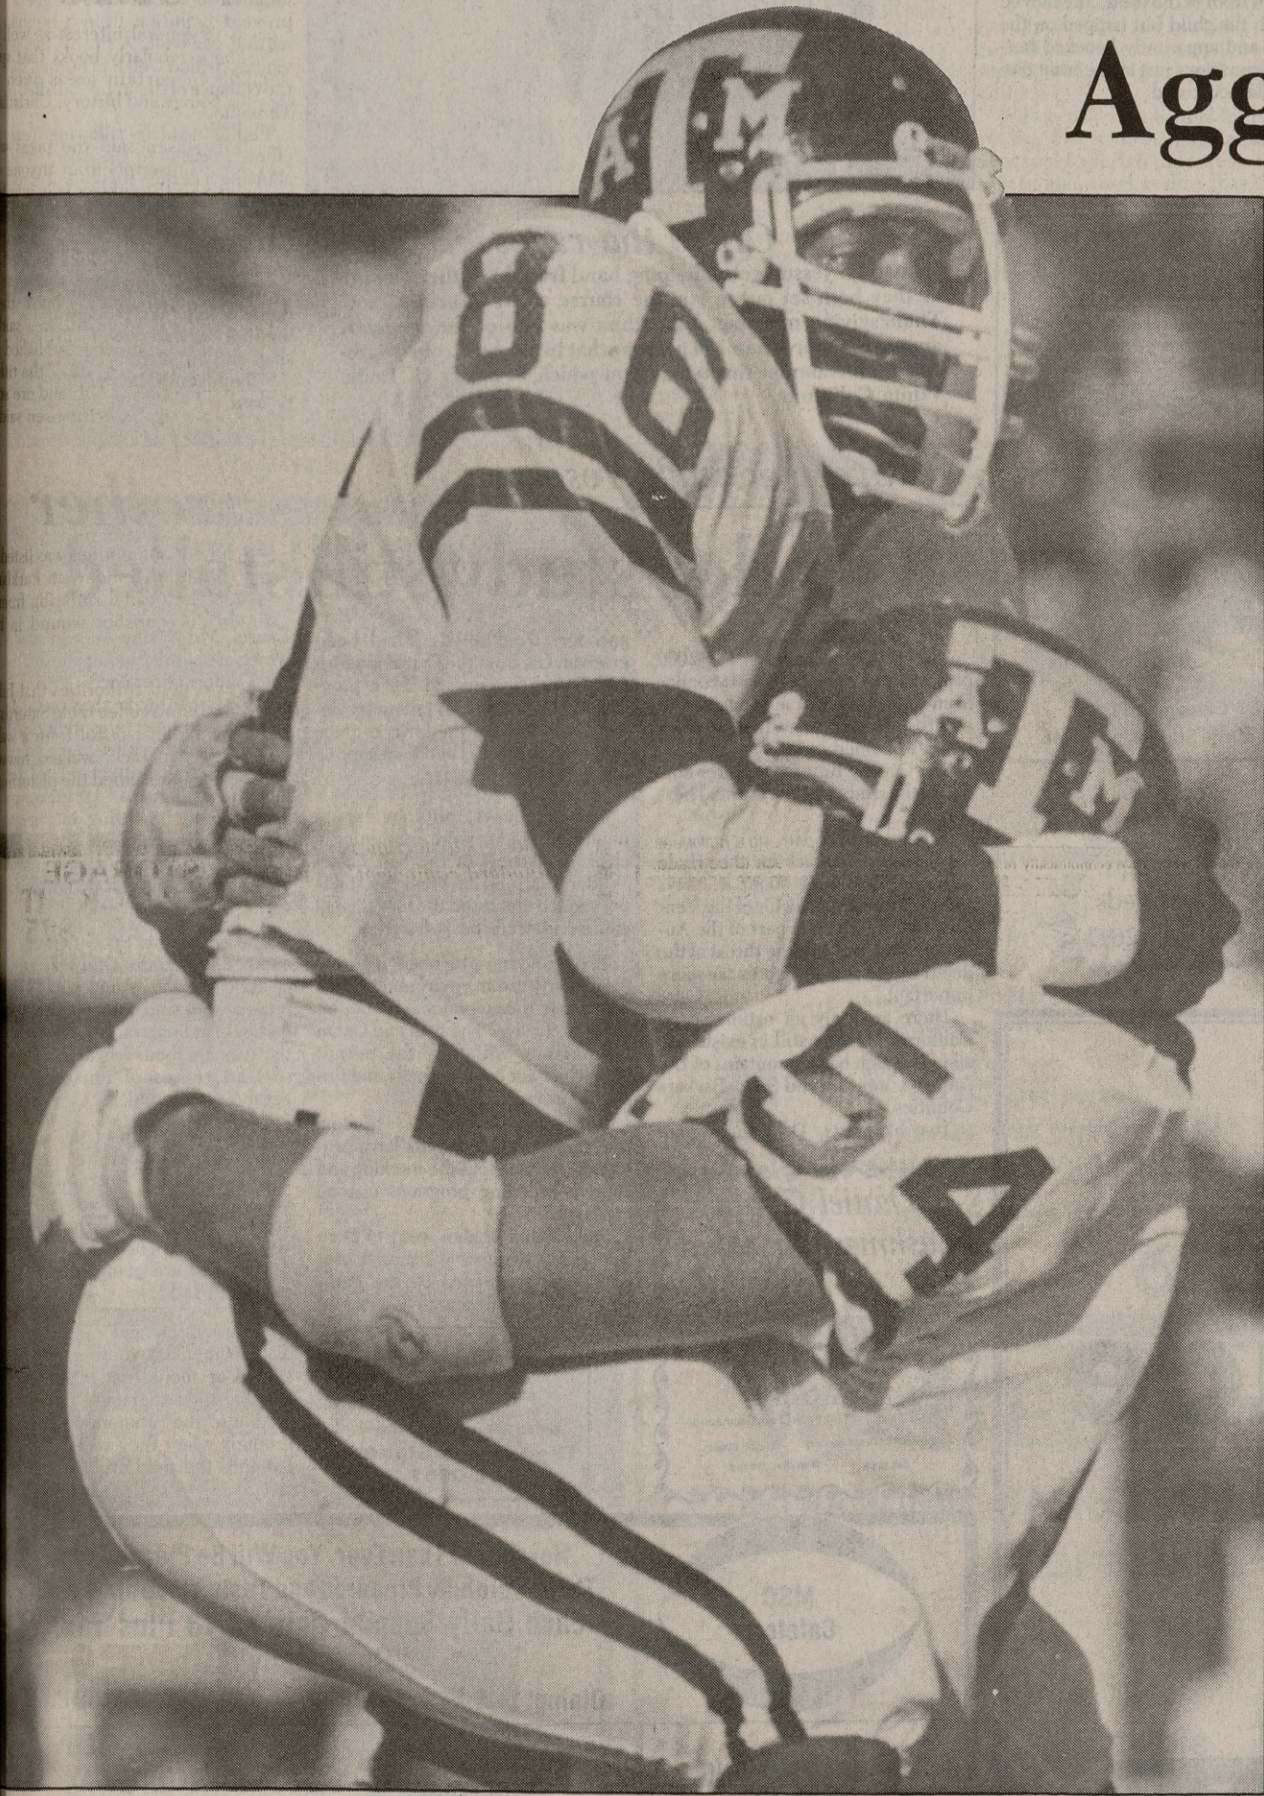

Aggies vs. Longhorns

A weekend of tradition

The annual Texas A&M-Texas football game has a sense of pageantry and display of traditions unlike any other college football rivalry.

Battalion photographers covered the many events before and during the game, in order to present a view of the varied pre-game Texas A&M traditions.

(TOP LEFT) Elephant Walk heralded the forthcoming demise of the Class of '81. (TOP RIGHT) The Aggie Band led the biannual Corps of Cadets parade through downtown Austin Saturday morning. (BOTTOM LEFT) The Aggie bonfire demonstrates "the burning desire to beat the hell out of t. u." (BOTTOM RIGHT) MSC Recreation sponsored a tea-sipping contest Tuesday. Head football coach Tom Wilson and Athletic Director Marvin Tate take their turn in a tea-sipping exhibition. Tate won. (MIDDLE LEFT) Aggie tight end Mark Lewis (86) is hugged by Kent Adams (54) after Lewis caught a touchdown pass to put the Aggies ahead, 24-14.

Staff photo by Pat O'Malley

Staff photo by Greg Gammon

Staff photo by Pat O'Malley