

Friday, January 23, 1981

College Station, Texas

The Weather

Yesterday

USPS 045 360

Phone 845-2611

High 53

Rain none

Today

High 61 Chance of rain.... none

Weightroom open for students' use

By AUGUST SKOPIK

Vol. 74 No. 82

14 Pages

ADI

o day

SUN

er

AE/

Battalion Reporter the new student weight room opened ay night and is now available for all s A&M University students, faculty staff and their spouses.

the weight room, a Student Governfunded project, is located in 262 G. e White Coliseum and will be open 11 2p.m. and 5 p.m.-10 p.m. weekdays, 2 p.m.-7 p.m. on weekends. mereased demands on the old weightng equipment caused Student Govnt to seek a student weight room, Langford, vice president for student es, said. he room's $40,000 cost was shared by store profits and student service fee ves, after the student senate recom-

ded construction of the facilities. There was a big conflict bewteen the etes and students competing for hts," Langford said. "There was a set ee weights and Nautilus machines in lare, and when the demand got too the students were kicked out.

though the seven Nautilus machines not arrived, the three Universal Gym ines and the free weights are ready for

'As soon as the Nautilus machines arrive they will be set up," said James Welford, associate director of intramural athletics. The machines come pre-assembled so all that has to be done is for us to point the way when they're delivered.

Texas A&M was the last on the delivery list because of economics, Welford said. "Our distributor is from Dallas, and it wouldn't pay for them to deliver to us first because of the extra fuel that would be used," he said.

Welford said he thought the new weight room will be a definite improvement when compared to the one the students used before

"The new weight room will have three Universal machines, each of which will in-clude a running machine, while the old weight room had none," Welford said. "The new weight room will only have seven Nautilus machines, though, compared to the old room which had 12 or 13."

'Now students can get a full workout for their entire body, instead using the equip-ment they had before," Langford said. A seminar on weightlifting techniques and safety will be held Feb. 4 from 7-9 p.m.

in the newly opened weight room. Steve Stinson will be the demonstrator brought in to help students realize the hazards and the benefits of the machines.

"We'd like people to take care of these machines since we have limited funds, but, we also want everybody to be safe," Welford said.

Keith Dunn, a member of the Weight-lifting Club, was pleased with the new weight room.

"I thought the weights were quite adequate for the non-athlete students and those interested in keeping trim, but those interested in body-building should join the Weightlifting Club," Dunn said.

"I also think the seminars are a good idea," he added. "Anything that makes people more aware of safety and techniques in weightlifting is an added plus.

Tri Huynh, a former member of the Twin City Athletic Club, said that the student weight room compared favorably to the club's.

"Maybe this room doesn't have as many weights, but you don't have to pay $20 a month to use these," he said.

Committee narrows candidate field to 20 Searchers to forward list

By JANE G. BRUST

Battalion Staff list of 20 candidates for the presidency as A&M University will be presented as Board of Regents in February, as ed by the presidential search come Thursday,

There is still a broad cross-section of le within the 20 names," Mike Lytle Lytle, a staff associate in the office of ancellor, has served as coordinator of earch committee meetings.

n Thursday's closed session, committee ers deliberated for four hours in their and final meeting.

The committee will not reveal specific nes on the list, but Lytle did say ninees both inside and outside of the as A&M System are still under con-

Clyde Wells, chairman of the Board of Regents and the search committee, explained in a press release that names are being kept confidential because not all candidates are aware that they are under consideration.

Since September, the committee has reviewed 500 applications submitted by the nominees themselves, by their colleagues and by other sources. The University also contracted a personnel consulting firm to aid the search

"It was a big job," Wells said in the press release.

He said the regents are willing to take the time necessary to find the best individual for the position, "however long that may be

Lytle said the regents themselves will determine the rest of the selection process when they meet Feb. 5-6. He said they will possibly consider some candidates not among the 20 committee recommendations. The board may also trim down the list further before beginning interviews with the nominees.

The regents asked faculty members, alumni, students, and representatives of private business, industry and education to serve on the search committee that would begin the screening process. The 22-member was committee organized in August after Dr. Jarvis Miller was fired by the Board of Regents in July.

Dr. Charles Samson, a former department head of civil engineering, and acting president since Miller's firing, has not been disqualified as a possible candidate for the permanent position.

Scott Zentner works out on the new student weightroom equipment in G. Rollie White Coliseum. The $40,000 facility, funded from Bookstore profits and student service fee reserves, is open to Texas A&M students daily. Although the room only has Universal Gym equipment now, Nautilus machines should arrive shortly.

union to be at West Point

United Press International WIESBADEN, West Germany — The freed American hostages will fly home Sunday to an undisclosed location for two days of family reunions and a heroes' welcome.

Pentagon sources said the emancipated captives would then be taken to the West Point military academy on the Hudson Riv-er in New York for the reunions with relatives at the Thayer Hotel.

The freed Americans will arrive on "Super Sunday," the day of the Super Bowl football game in New Orleans, La.

came just six hours after the hostages went on a pre-dawn shopping spree at a military department store — spending $15,000 on suitcases, shoes and clothes to wear for their homecoming.

The only former hostage to skip the shopping excursion was Donald R. Hohman, who spent Thursday night with his German wife, Anna, at a Frankfurt apart-ment 25 miles from Wiesbaden.

State Department officials said Hohman would stay behind in Frankfurt when the rest of the hostages took a jet chartered by the U.S. government for Sunday's return to the United States.

carried 51 of the 52 Americans 2 miles from Wiesbaden Air Force hospital to a military department store where they stocked up on the new clothes, luggage, hanging bags, cameras and film

Following the reunions at West Point, the released captives will be flown to Washington for public welcoming ceremonies at Andrews Air Force Base in sub-urban Maryland, followed by a ceremony at the State Department - career home for the majority of the former captives.

In Congress, Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-

Staff photo by Greg Ga

By MARCY BOYCE

Battalion Staff lin E. "Tiger" Teague, retired Conan from Texas' 6th District, died this ing at Maryland's Bethesda Naval ital after a lengthy illness.

urces at Bethesda would not disclose nation surrounding his death, but the 2 graduate of Texas A&M College was own to be a diabetic and in recent years d been in ill health.

He was in College Station visting his John Teague, during the Christmas ys, Dr. John Koldus, vice president student services, said. The son is assistvice president for business affairs at the versity.

However, since that time Teague's

Dlin 'Tiger' Teague dies health had suddenly "taken a turn for the worse," Koldus said.

A memorial service tentatively is being planned for Tuesday, however details are not yet definite. And funeral services will be held at Arlington Cemetery in Virginia, Koldus said.

Even at 70, Teague is probably still best known to his constituents and colleagues today by the nickname he acquired while playing high school baseball -- "Tiger." The name stuck with him throughout 31 years in the U.S. House of Representatives during which time, Teague, a decorated World War II veteran, served as chairman for the House Veteran Affairs Committee and the Science and Astronautics Committee

For these and other accomplishments, in 1966 he received the A&M Distinguished Alumni Award, presented by the Association of Former Students at Texas A&M University

And in 1967 the University's mulitmillion dollar Teague Research Center was erected in his honor on Lamar Street.

While at Texas A&M from 1928-1932, reague was a Ross Volunteer and commanding officer of Company G Infantry.

Upon graduation, he was commissioned and served in the National Guard until he volunteered for the U.S. Army in 1940. Teague is survived by his wife Freddie, sons James and John O., daughter Jill and five grandchildren. State Department spokesman Jack Canon said the airport where the former captives will again set foot on U.S. soil would not be disclosed to protect the privacy of the returnees, who survived 444 days of captivity in Iran and have been in Wiesbaden for "decompression" for three days.

Awaiting the new heroes following fami-ly reunions will be an official public welcome in Washington and what New York Mayor Edward Koch said would be the largest ticker tape parade in history of the city

But the hostages first steps on American soil will be out of the public eye with only family members present. If West Point is their destination, McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey or Dover Air Force Base in Delaware seem logical choices for arrivals. The announcement of the Sunday flight

But a State Department spokesman in Washington said the hostages would return as a group. Government officials have gone out of their way to keep the hostages in one group to ease their return to normal life after 14 months in captivity.

Visitors said several of the 52 hostages have been slower to adjust to their freedom. because of the way they were treated in Iran.

Going home was clearly on the hostages' minds today. There have been widespread reports some of the hostages were tortured, fed only bread and water and placed before mock firing squads. But Iran flatly denied the growing allegations.

Before dawn, two blue Mercedes buses

Ill., introduced legislation to recognize the 'hostages as heroes" and to award them gold medals to pay tribute to the courageous men and women.

The eruption of the patiotism that has accompanied the hostages' release turned to rage Thursday as the horror tale of the two-day beating and mock firing squad ex-ecution of Marine Sgt. William Gallegos, 21, of Pueblo, Colo., became public knowledge

Officials of the Reagan administration said they too were outraged at the treatment but said the president would honor the Carter agreement that freed the hostages in exchange for $8 billion. Reagan said, however, that the implementation of the accord might be complex.

Bomb threat

likely work

of prankster

Over a hundred residents of Gainer Hall

Enrollment sets record for spring spring-semester-record enrollment of 10 students has been reported so far Texas A&M University Associate Retrar Donald Carter.

Final enrollment figures cannot be deined until the twelfth class day, Carter , but he expects those figures to be en 31,000 and 32,000. The twelfth gures are the ones reported to the inating Board in Austin, and are oted as the official numbers for the Spring enrollment is normally 1,000 to 300 lower than that of the preceding fall ester, Carter said, because of Decemgraduations of Texas A&M students. o, few high school students graduate in cember, and enter the University in

This semester's enrollment so far exs last year's spring enrollment total of 409 by almost 4 percent.

Last semester's record enrollment was

During the 1970-71 academic year, xas A&M enrolled 14,316 students, ning the University has seen a 134 perenrollment increase over the last

mittee.	into grandomi		The announcement of the bunday light	belore dawn, two blue Merced
Sp	ring ca	lenda	ar listing	wrong
itality Miss TAMU lehearsal Tennis: Arlzona State eam nent/Tempe, Az	IM Entries Open: Termis Doubles, Wrestling, Team Bowing Student Y Association: Fish CapperSociation: Fish	Men's Basketball: Arkansas/Here Women's Golf: Houstan Invitational/There Women's Basketball: Abi	Today last day	to add classes
Golf: Houston Baptist	FEBRUARY	Alaa MEnurs Close, Tennis	Because of an error in Texas A&M University's spring calendars, some stu- dents may have mistakenly believed they had some extra time to add classes. Today is the last day for enrolling in the University and adding classes, but the calendars say the deadline is Feb. 23. Today is also the last day for students who registered during delayed registra- tion to pay fees at the Fiscal Depart-	The calendars are available in dence halls, married student ments, the Information Center in der Tower, the Off-Campus Cen Puryear lounge and 216 and 221 M rial Student Center. The calendars are funded by p from the MSC bookstore and available free of charge.
sation/Gromus ketball: LSU/There dets at St. Mary	Last day for enrolling for the Soring Semester or for secting new courses IM Entries Open: Horseshoe Doubles, Frisbee, Fast Pitch Softball	Douc as, Wrestling, T Bossing Men's Tennis: Austin Poly/Here Men's Basketball: TCU/T	ment. The calendars' final exam schedule is also incorrect. The exam schedule for Monday, May 11, is repeated for May 12	Academic deadlines

Photo by Beth Gibson

The spring semester Student Activities calendar incorrectly shows February 23 as the last day to enroll or add classes. Today is the last day that can be done.

the University also publishes monthly calendars

"We'll have a chance to correct the exam schedule in the (May) monthly calendar," he asid. Albrecht said 27,500 calendars were printed and about 27,000 distributed.

vailable in resistudent apart-Center in Rudmpus Center in and 221 Memo-unded by profits store and are

emic ines

or adding clase University.

dopping class with no recor

Feb. 6 — Deadline for graduating seniors and graduates to apply for degrees to be awarded in May.

Feb. 20 — Last day for dropping courses with no penalty (Q-drop).

- Corps Dormitory 5 - spent a chilly evening interlude outside their dormitory Thursday night due to what were apparently the efforts of a prankster. Someone who "sounded like a white male" called the Corps of Cadets Guard Room at 9:57 p.m. and told the cadet who answered, "I've got a bomb and I'm gonna blow up Dorm 5 ... Dorm 5," and then Someone also called a cadet living in Gainer and told him about the same thing, at about the same time. Both the guard room and a resident of Dorm 5 reported the call to the University Police, who arrived on the scene about 10:10 and ordered the dormitory evacuated.

hung up.

While some residents of the hall clustered outside and some sought the warmth of the nearby lounge or another dormitory, University Police searched the hall and came up empty-handed.

Residents were allowed back in the dorm about 10:30 and told to watch for any unfamiliar objects. The incident was characterized by one police officer there as "probably a prank."