Day or Night . . .

her image is coolly feminine. For a special luncheon or for evening cocktails she has that sophisticated allure.

Soft yet reserved.

Sensual, yet restrained.

When night falls, she wears her womanhood sweetly. Her night look mirrors the loveliness of yesteryear, with a touch of poetry.

Oilers interview coaches

United Press International
HOUSTON — The Houston Oilers scheduled interviews with Cleveland Browns coach Jim Shofner and Atlanta Falcons coach Doug Shively this week.

Shofner, the Browns quarterback coach, was the leading contender to become the Oilers offensive coordinator after former Baltimore Colts head coach Ted Marchibroda dropped out of the picture last weekend.

The Falcons' Shively will talk to General Manager Ladd Herzog and head coach Ed Biles about the defensive coordinator job.

Two more assistants' positions were filled this weekend when defensive secondary coach Bob Gambold and special teams coach Andy Bourgeois, both coaches on Bum Phillips' Oilers staff last season, decided to remain with the team. Both had sought to talk with the New Orleans Saints, Phillips' new team, but were restricted by the Oilers from doing that.

Biles said Marchibroda wanted more money than the Oilers were willing to pay.

"I didn't think it would be fair to my other assistants to have one guy making significantly more than anyone else," Biles said.

Marchibroda, fired by the Colts following the 1979 season, is unemployed and still earning $150,000 annually from the Colts.

Shofner is scheduled to fly to Houston Thursday. Shively is coming to town Wednesday.

So far, Biles has hired three coaches, Ray Callahan for the offensive line, Bourgeois and Gambold.

Gambold is the coach who was called a "hostage" by the fired Phillips. Gambold remained disappointed despite having been allowed to keep his job with the Oilers.

"The Oilers told me I had a job here and I appreciate it," he said.

E-Systems continues the tradition of the world's great problem solvers.

Recognized with Archimedes and Newton as one of the three greatest mathematicians, Karl Gauss also pioneered math in astronomy, gravitation, electricity and magnetism.

E-Systems engineers are continuing in his footsteps today. They are pioneering technology and solving some of the world's toughest problems in electronic transmission and signal-reception in an interference and noise background using basic Gaussian concepts.

E-Systems "pioneering" in communications, data, antenna, intelligence and reconnaissance projects results in systems that are often the first-of-a-kind in the world.

Men's and women's bowling

The Texas A&M University men's and women's bowling team swept through the field to finish first at Trinity University in San Antonio this weekend in the last of a four-tournament schedule spanning two semesters.

Thus, the Aggies are the Texas Intercollegiate Bowling Conference regional champs, and will return to San Antonio in two weeks to compete against other Texas regional champions. The University of Texas, Trinity, Texas A&M and Southwest Texas State compose the eastern Texas region.

In men's competition, Paul Merriman of Texas A&M rolled a perfect game to lift the Aggies out of second place to take the overall victory. It was the second 300 game in the history of the TIBC; the first was by Texas A&M's Mark Myrick last October.

In women's action, the Aggies started out the final day with a half-point lead over Trinity with Texas a close third. By the end of the day, the Ags had compiled a considerable lead and Texas had overtaken Trinity for second.

In the round-robin tournament, each team competed against each other once, and aggregate team scores were taken.

At the end of this month, both teams will be going to the ACCU Regional Championships in Canyon to try and win a bid to the national championships in Milwaukee, Wis.

Women's rugby

The Aggie Rugger, Texas A&M's women's rugby team, shut out both the San Antonio and Dallas rugby clubs this weekend in its first competition of the spring.

The Aggies, who return only nine players from last year's squad, are unranked for the first time in four years, scored first against San Antonio on a goal by Cindy Maxim. Maxim was assisted on the score by teammates Cindy Allen, Jana Harter, Karen Tinch and Yvonne Carchonegrete. Then, the Aggies defense, led by Allison Arnold and J.J. Graham, held and the Ags took their first win of the season, 4-0. Goals in rugby are worth four points each.

In Dallas, the Texas A&M women again scored early. June Dyke scored the first goal with an assist from Cheryl Host. The Aggies scored the second goal on a 25-yard broken field run. The women were able to keep Dallas in their own end of the field for the entire second half. Tinch scored again later in the game to seal the game for the Aggies, 12-0.

The Aggies, now 2-0, are a relatively young team with six rookies on their starting lineup.

Sports Car Club

The Texas A&M Sports Car Club held its first Autocross of the spring semester Sunday at the Zachry parking lot.

The "On Any Sunday" event started out being an "On Any Sunday" other than this one" event, as the skies clouded over, but as the event eventually came out, so did the racers.

With a near record 55 entries participating and approximately 200 fans watching, the "On Any Sunday" Autocross was a success. The event ended with a run-off race between the two fastest cars. Bill LaBarge representing the Sports Car Club in a Modified Honda GT1200 and Darrell Haun, representing the Houston Region SCCA in his Modified Datsun 510, finished with a .02 second difference in times. LaBarge won the run-off, beating his own personal best by .48 second with 1:03.19 time.

Top player named

United Press International
DALLAS — Rob Williams, the Southwest Conference's leading scorer who has helped push Houston into first place, was named the league's basketball player of the week Monday.

Williams scored 77 points as the Cougars won two of three games last week to take the lead away from Baylor. The sophomore from Houston increased his conference-leading scoring average to 25.1 as he also had 10 assists and six rebounds in victories over Baylor and Texas A&M and a loss to Texas Tech.

Williams' strongest competition came from Rynn Wright of Texas A&M, Ricky Pierce of Rice, Howard of Texas and Ralph Howard of Texas Tech.

Pierce had 42 points and 20 rebounds as the Owls took over second place, one game behind the Cougars.

Wright brought down 17 rebounds and scored 24 points in the Aggies' 84-59 win over Baylor Saturday.

Brewster was the key in the 81-70 win over Houston. The Aggie from El Paso scored 15 points and had seven rebounds in the game.

Howard was the force in the 83-63 win over SMU, scoring 20 points and having eight assists in the victory.

UT golf coach will retire at end of '81

United Press International
AUSTIN — Long-time University of Texas golf coach George Hannon, who's coached players like Crenshaw and Tom Kite, will retire at the end of the 1981 season, officials announced Monday.

Hannon, 56, has been coaching since 1964. During his 17 seasons the UT golf program has become one of the most successful and respected in the nation. A total of 22 players have been selected to All-America golf teams.

His teams have won eight national and three fall Southwest Conference titles, placed in the top 10 in the NCAA championship eight times and in the top 20 another two times.

Several of Hannon's players have gone on to the PGA tour. They include Crenshaw, Kite, Rik Massale, Lance Ten Broeck and Chaffee.

A native of Kemp, Hannon was a member of the Longhorn team in the mid-1940s before turning professional and held pro jobs at Bryson, Marshall and Dallas before turning to Austin in 1961 to take a job as head pro at Municipal Course.
