

President interested in summit

United Press International
WASHINGTON — President Reagan today expressed strong interest in a summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev and said the United States has "no intention" of getting mired, Vietnam-style, in the war in El Salvador.

Reagan, appearing at a briefing on his economic recovery package in the Executive Office Building auditorium, was asked about Brezhnev's call for a summit in an address to the 26th Communist Party congress in Moscow Monday.

"I was most interested in his suggestion and it is something that now we will discuss," Reagan replied. He said the discussions will include the State Department, the Cabinet and "most particularly" America's allies, including British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher when she visits Washington this week.

"The president said he would not demand a set agenda before such a summit could be held. But he also indicated Soviet behavior, now hampering the U.S.-Soviet relationship, would be important.

"I have repeatedly said I am willing to negotiate a solution — legitimate negotiations aimed at verifiable reductions in nuclear weapons," he said.

"I also made it plain at such a negotiating table, if and when this takes place, there should be other considerations, what has been termed by Mr. Brezhnev as linkage," he added.

"I wouldn't try to guess what's in their thinking," Reagan said of Soviet motives, "but let's just say I found it very interesting."

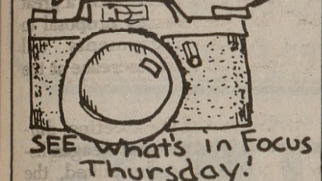

Asked whether he might appear to be delaying summit talks, Reagan replied: "I don't think it's a case that we'll be obviously and intentionally dragging our feet. This isn't something you say, 'Come on over and we'll talk.'"

Asked whether there was a possibility the United States could become involved in El Salvador, Reagan replied:

"I know there is great concern over that. I think it's part of a Vietnam syndrome, but we have no intention of that kind of involvement."

"But there is no question we are in support of the government there against those who believe in the violent overthrow of the government there," he added.

Monday, Reagan disavowed budget director David Stockman's statement that a 2-cent-a-gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax might be considered as part of his economic recovery package.

COSMIC COALESCENCE

Where does science fiction end and reality begin? It's all in the mind's eye. Be it the creative imagination used to produce Star Wars, The Black Hole, and The Empire Strikes Back, or the more scientific approach of hypothesis testing and experimentation, the distant galaxies of science fiction coalesce into reality with the advanced technology now being developed at a company called TRW.

It was the Defense and Space Systems Group of TRW who made possible the Viking Lander biological experiment which looked for life on Mars and the High Energy Astronomical Observatory which looks for quasars, pulsars and black holes in deep space. Professionals at TRW-DSSG are now involved in such impressive technologies as high energy lasers, communications systems, plus other future projects still considered science fiction.

A company called TRW will be on campus...
