Rob Williams dreams of the pros

United Press International
HOUSTON — Houston Cougars sophomore guard Rob Williams says he thinks often about starting his pro career after next season, but so far he hasn't decided on even the questions he must ask himself before deciding.

Antonio might help Williams, 19, make up his mind; playing in the NCAA Tournament finals would go even farther.

"I caught myself the other night dreaming that I was in the final four. I woke up when Billy Packer hollered 'Houston' as he was introducing the teams. I was pretty excited," he said.

Earning an NCAA Tournament finals berth is a longshot for the Cougars, a young team who is 19-8 and the SWC's second-place team. Nevertheless, Williams said he will be emotionally let down if his team doesn't make it.

"That is what my dream is all about. I've been thinking about it ever since the team has been going good," he said.

Houston probably will not receive an NCAA Tournament bid if they do not win the SWC Tournament, but they may be in line for a National Invitation Tournament berth with a defeat.

Win or lose, Williams will play his junior season for Coach Guy Lewis in 1981-82 and then decide whether to declare himself a hardship case, pass up his senior season and become eligible to play pro basketball.

"A lot of people have been telling me (to go hard), he said. 'I'll be straight with you. I try to look at it like it won't be that hard (a decision) because I want to stay in school and get my degree and everything. Most likely I will.'

He added, however, "I might like to go hard. I imagine it will be a tough decision because there is an opportunity to play pro ball. I haven't really gotten very far on thinking about it. There are things like if I have a big year, if I average 20 or 25 points next year and if the team has a good season — then I might consider taking advantage."

Williams is the nation's sixth leading scorer with a 25.0 average. He was the national player of the week once this season. He was the District 6 co-player of the year.

He is a better floor leader than former Cougar guard Otis Birdsong, a pro now. But he is not as sharp a shooter.

"I consider I'm at the midpoint in my development," he said. "I've matured more mentally to where certain situations on the floor get me going."

Men's tennis

The Texas A&M men's tennis team travels to Corpus Christi today for the 13th Annual H.E.B. College Tennis Team championships. The 24-team tournament has 12 nationally ranked teams competing. Play starts at 12 p.m. today and will conclude Saturday at 2 p.m. with the championship match.

Women's tennis

While the men travel to Corpus Christi, the Aggie women's tennis team is on the road in Provo, Utah at the Brigham Young Invitational Tournament. The eight-team tourney has some of the top-ranked teams in the nation.

The team will consist of Liliana Fernandez, Pam Hill, Maylen Hooton, Amy Closs, Sonja Hutcherson, Laura Hanna and Judy Willard. Doubles teams will be Hill-Hutcherson, Hanna-Closs and Fernandez-Hooton.

Women's golf

The 10th-ranked Texas Aggies led throughout the "Future Pros" Tournament, held Sunday through Tuesday at the Briarcrest Country Club, and won the event Tuesday over defending champion SMU by one stroke.

Texas A&M ended the three-day 12-team event with a 922 team total, while the Ponies managed a second-place 923 total. TCU was third at 929.

The event, played under gray, drizzly skies, saw Kim Bauer of the Ags finish second individually with a 227 total. Amy Benz of SMU was first at 225.

Other Texas A&M finishers: Susan Yantis, 230; Shirley Fur-long, 230; Monica Welsh, 238; and Sheila Oldfield, 243.

Football

Approximately 100 candidates including 67 scholarship players and 44 lettermen were on hand Tuesday at Head Coach Tom Wilson put the Aggies through their first day of spring training.

"It's evident that they worked hard during the off-season training program," Wilson said. "I was very pleased with the overall physical condition of the squad."

The opening session was primarily a teaching session with very little contact. Wilson said today's workout will have more contact work.

Women's softball

The first weekly national coaches poll has placed Texas A&M in second place behind Utah State.

The Aggies, state champions and second in the national tournament in Norman, Okla. a year ago, swept four games this past weekend against Texas Women's University (ranked sixth) and UT-Arlington to start off the spring.

National top 10 rankings are as follows: 1) Utah State, 10 first place votes, 350 points; 2) Texas A&M, 8 first place, 312; 3) Indiana University, 188; 4) Arizona State, 1 first, 176; 5) Cal-Berkeley, 1 first, 122; 6) Texas Women's, 1 first, 122; 7) Western Michigan, 120; 8) Western Illinois, 1 first, 110; 9) Cal State-Fullerton, 102; 10) UCLA, 1 first, 98.

Others receiving more than 50 points: Oklahoma State, California Poly, Pomona, Missouri.

Men's basketball

Vernon Smith's illustrious four-year career as an Aggie concluded Monday night in G. Rollie White Coliseum in front of 4,300 fans.

The forward ended as Texas A&M's all-time leading scorer with 1,778 points. Teammate Rynn Wright, who was recruited out of Dallas at the same time as Smith, finished as the third leading Aggie scorer with 1,495 points. Smith is also the school's career rebounding leader with 978 while Wright finished second at 861.

During the SWC season, Smith led the team with 15 points per game and 8.4 rebounds, with Wright finishing second with 12.5 points per game and 8.2 rebounds. Reggie Roberts was third in scoring with 11.5 points average and Claude Riley was fourth with 10.8.

Women's basketball

The final statistics for the Texas A&M Lady Aggies, 7-22 on the season, show Kelly Sullivan led the team in scoring with an average of 6.3 points a game, 315 points.

Trigg Crawford had 250 points to finish second in total points and average with 8.6. Fuller also had 8.6 a game and was third in total points with 240.

Tammy Crafton was the most accurate shot, making 46 percent of her attempts.

Crawford led the team in rebounds with 183, averaging 6.3 a game. Sullivan also led the team in assists with 68.
