Gramm launches new plan to cut federal budget deficit

United Press International
DALLAS — Rep. Phil Gramm, the Texas Democrat who helped push Reagan Administration budget cuts through Congress, has compiled a new list of budget balancing moves, a Dallas newspaper reported Wednesday.

As Congress returns from a month-long hiatus, Gramm said he is positioning himself in the center of the controversy with a $40 billion package of proposals to trim the federal deficit, the Dallas Morning News said.

"We're trying to come up with $10 billion to $15 billion worth of additional 1982 savings, not an overall budget resolution," Gramm said. Gramm represents the sixth district, which includes Brazos County.

In addition to new budget cuts, Gramm's plan calls for raising income through several tax sources, including taxes on unemployment insurance payments.

Gramm worked with House Republicans and the Reagan administration to hammer out the stringent budget resolution the House approved in May.

He also played a central role in pushing a $35 billion package of budget cuts through the House in July, which drew fire from House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth and other Democratic leaders.

Although the Administration has predicted a federal deficit of $42 billion, many analysts say it may top $60 billion.

Most of Gramm's current proposals would trim the deficit by closing tax loopholes, raising fees for using government projects such as inland waterways and airports and cutting back on federal credit programs.
