Three Mile pushes ads, then springs new leak

United Press International HARRISBURG — The oper-ator of the Three Mile Island nuclear power station is pushing hard for public acceptance of its plan to restart one of its nuclear reactors

In four separate television ads, General Public Utilities emphasizes it has "a new management team" since the nuclear accident at Three Mile Island 21/2 years ago, and that the team can operate the

But even as General Public Utilities Corp. pushed its television advertising campaign, a new leak spilled contaminated water inside the reactor building that was the site of America's worst nuclear Technicians halted a leak of water Satuday from the damaged No. reactor. Lake Barrett, senior NRC official at the site, said no radiation was released into the environment Barrett said about 500 gallons of water spilled onto the reactor floor between 5 p.m. Friday and 4:24 a.m. Saturday when the leak was brought under control. Officials then canceled plans for an entry into the contaminated reactor building.

The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board has conducted a year of hearings into the proposal to restart nuclear reactor Unit No. 1, twin of the Unit No. 2 involved in the 1979 nuclear accident. General Public Utilities proposed that Unit No. 1 be reopened this fall. It was shut after the accident at its twin by order of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The ads, which began during the Labor Day weekend and will continue through September, cost $55,000 to produce and air, utility spokesman John Fidler said.

"The reason we did it was to let people, specifically people around TMI, know about the tremendous amount of study and research that is going on before restart," Fidler

He said the ads, one which fea-tures radiologist Jon Shoup assur-ing residents the plant can be operated safely, were aired in Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading, York and Lebanon.

Although the government has not decided whether to grant permission to operate Unit No. 1, the ads contain the statement "When the government approves restart, we'll be ready to provide electricity dependably and reliably."

Fidler said the company did not intend to suggest it believed government approval of a restart proposal was beyond question. He said the company wanted to con-should permission be granted.

The licensing board is expected to make its recommendation on a restart to the NRC in November. It is expected the NRC would rule by the end of the year.

The ads note 1,400 employees have been working to clean up the radioactive waste left by the nuclear accident at Unit No. 2 and that 100,000 pages of evidence were collected in government hearings on the proposed restart.

"In fact," the ads say, "TMI has been studied more thoroughly than any other nuclear plant in the

A spokesman for the Three Mile Island Public Interest Resource Center, an antinuclear organiza-tion, said it considered the ads a waste of money.

Battalion Reporter Bryan-College Station residents will have to endure humidity and temperatures in the high 80s at least until October, the National Weather Service in Houston said Thursday.

Local residents should be feeling cooler temperatures — with highs in the mid-80s and lows in the low 60s — by October 6. The weather service said these are normal fall temperatures for the area.

had already received 29.14 inches of rain, 0.12 inches more than the 29.02 inches that fell last year.

County Extension Agent Tom Sistrunk said that although harvesting of crops has been delayed due to long rain periods, this summer was much better to farmers in Brazos County than last summer.

Sistrunk said last summer's heat damaged many crops beyond the point of recovery.

Winter, however, will probably be relatively mild. Bryan and College Station usually average a wintertime low of 41 degrees. On those same days temperatures often reach a high of 61 degrees. Snowfalls don't come often to Brazos County.

Having enough snow to play in isn't likely, Strauss said. "We ha-ven't had a 'miserable snow' since 73," he said.
