Gramm will not run for Senate

United Press International DALLAS — Texas congressman Phil Gramm, criticized by the party faithful for helping write the Reagan administration's economic program, says he will stay in the Democratic party and seek re-election.

His announcement Sunday at a fund-raising event put to rest reports he might seek a Senate seat.

"I'd love to run for the Senate but there is a job to be done where I am," said Gramm, D-Texas. He was referring to the new economic proposals whose fate in his opinion will be decided in the House.

About 1,100 persons, including many Republicans, attended the fund-raising event and helped raise more than $100,000.

Gramm was confident the Reagan administration will be able to balance the budget by tion to reduce government spending.

"We've shut down the expansion of government," he said. If enough conservatives win during next year's elections, Gramm said, "the pro-spending element will be out of power for the rest of the century."

on the basis of partisanship, Gramm declared: "The people didn't elect me to go to Washington to do what (Speaker) Tip O'Neill and (Majority Leader) Jim Wright tell me to do. They sent me to defeat those boys and we've done it.'

Among those who helped organize the event were computer millionaire H. Ross Perot, First Baptist Church Pastor W.A. Criswell, and Gill Clements, son of Gov. Bill Cle-

Texas State Fair readying for Oct. 9 opening date

United Press International DALLAS — Big Tex, the 52-foot cowboy that has become an integral part and symbol of the state fair held in Dallas will be 30 years old at this year's opening of the nation's largest state fair.

It may be hard to believe the huge figure with the Western slant began as a Main Street Santa in Kerens, but it's true.

Big Tex joined the Fair in 1952, trading in his jinglebell hat for a tall sombrero that was later replaced by a 10-gallon hat. Cosmetic surgery the next year straightened his nose, corrected his wink and made him to talk.

Since then, Big Tex has greeted fairgoers and kept them up to date with each year's festivities.

This year's 17-day extravaganza opens Oct. 9 with the theme

Going Places, Doing Things."
Fairgoers will be able to find everything from Ronald Reagan's favorite candies to Elsie, America's favorite cow, in the exhibit buildings at Fair Park.

From the cattle barns to the theater lobby and back again via the circus tent and new car displays, State Fair officials are promising "an educational and en-tertainment program that challenges any visitor to see it all in one day.

The Cotton Bowl will be the scene of two big football matchups. The tradition-filled Texas-Oklahoma game is scheduled Oct.

10. State Fair officials have added a newer rivalry this year with North Texas State playing the University of Texas at Arlington on Oct. 24. Sports fans can also see hard-hitting action in professional rodeo at the fair.

Fair officials say George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones"—a new production of an early American favorite — will be presented familiar to television and music audiences, stars in the featuring classic tunes like "Yank ee Doodle Boy" and "Give My Re gards to Broadway." This year's Pan-Ame Livestock Exposition, Oct. $18 will be highlighted by the presigious World Congress of Sant Gertrudis Breeders—an intens tional conclave being held in the United States for the first time.

The fair's activities also include livestock competition, ho shows, creative arts contests, high school band competition and finbee championships.

Admission prices are $3 fm adults and $1 for children under the contest of the conte
