Ags ready for Boston Tea Party

By RITCHIE PRIDDY

Sports Editor

The Texas Aggies continue their preparations for Saturday's game with Boston College this week with little rest and more hard work. The Aggies are coming off a week's rest after their come-from-behind win over a tough Cal-Berkeley team two weeks ago and should be well rested for the more physical War Eagles.

The layoff gave the team time to recover from the bumps and bruises suffered in the Berkeley contest and time to prepare for a team they don't know much about. Head coach Tom Wilson has certainly taken advantage of the time off with some of the hardest workouts of the year and has been pleased with the team's response, saying the team has had some of their better practices and should be ready for the game.

Boston College is similar to California in a number of ways. The most obvious way is recent additions to their coaching staff. Former University of Maine head coach Jack Bicknell returned to Boston as head man last January, inheriting a 7-4 team loaded with plenty of talent and experience. Bicknell brought with him as offensive coordinator Tom Coughlin from Syracuse University.

Wilson said the War Eagles run out of a pro set as well as the I formation, which could amount to a very balanced offensive attack.

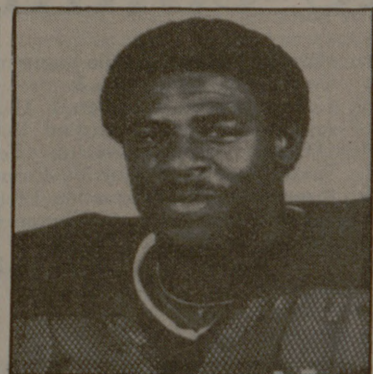

But, because of the changes in personnel and offense the Aggies don't know exactly what to expect from the War Eagles in their opener.

"We're not sure what kind of attack they'll have," Wilson said. "We've spent a lot of time looking at last year's game films to look at their personnel and at Syracuse films where their offensive coordinator came from."

Wilson said the War Eagles are much more versatile in their outside and passing game than California was and he expects to see a lot of motion plays from them.

Earnest Jackson

Johnny Hector

Boston College returns 41 lettermen (22 offensive and 19 defensive). Ten of the returning starters have won three letters which adds up to a lot of returning experience.

However, they will be without the services of first team quarterback John Loughery and running back Shelby Gamble. Loughery is out with torn ligaments in his passing hand and Gamble was suspended from the team's first two games this year for disciplinary reasons.

Loughery and Gamble finished last year as the team's leading passer and rusher, respectively.

The War Eagle offensive line ranks as one of the biggest in the country, averaging 6-4, 265. Ironically, that's where they have the least experience.

They didn't have a potent running or passing game last year, but they did have a balanced attack, averaging nearly 280 yards in total offense per game.

However, the War Eagles will be lining up against the SWC's number one defense against the rush when they face the Aggies and Bicknell has taken notice: "Defensively, the Aggies are very mobile and have excellent team speed. Their linebackers are especially good."

Wilson said the defense will again be tested this week: "Our defense is going to find out if it can stand up to a big, experienced team."

Offensively, the Aggies will face a tough 5-2 defense that features no less than seven three-year lettermen. Linebacker Jim Budness heads up the unit. He finished last year with 120 tackles, 67 unassisted.

Other standout defensive performers include end Greg Storr and tackle Junior Poles.

The Aggies feature one of the fastest backfields in the nation with running backs Earnest Jackson and Johnny Hector. That, coupled with the emergence of quarterback Gary Kubiak and Aggies have an offense to be reckoned with.

Bicknell said that the Eagles are especially coming with the speed of Jackson and Hector: "If either one of our runners get a crack they will give you trouble. They both have speed and quickness and are impressive."

Against California each finished with 125 yards. However, their success can't be attributed entirely to their running game.

"The offensive line graduated from I remember (against California). The only mental breakdown was when they put the rush we didn't recognize."

Wilson was leary of the team and said that the game is another test for his team.

"Boston College is a very hardnosed team. They have a season reputation as being a strong defensive team. They are much larger and much more physical than California was."

He added that the Aggies establish an inside rushing game against the Eagles which will be a lot of action.

"I anticipate a great battle (running) between the two. But, we'll also have to open more than we did against California."

Backup receiver Burns and safety Mark McQueen miss the game with injuries. Despite a slight knee injury, strong tackle Tommy Roberts will play with a broken hand.

Men's golf team finishes fourth

By GAYE DENLEY

Hindered by heavy rains and an unusual alternate shot format, the Texas A&M men's golf team finished fourth in the Fall SWC Tournament in West Columbia Monday and Tuesday.

The University of Houston took first place in the competition, played at the Columbia Lakes course, with a two-day total of 668. Close behind were the University of Texas with 671 and TAMU

681. The Aggies finished the tournament, divides the six points from each school into two. In the first round, players take turns playing every shot for each hole. That is added to each partner's round score to reach a round total for the tournament.

"It's just a fun thing," said Cromwell, Texas A&M's 1980 American who accompanied the team to the tournament. "It's a lot harder to play that way than you get to hit every shot."

The Aggies' game on Monday from the unfamiliar of play and rains that drenched the course, Cromwell said.

"We were in fourth (after day's round), and we moved closer (Tuesday), but we couldn't catch up," Cromwell said.

The next tournament for Aggies is the Sam Houston collegiate Sept. 21-22 in Wood, followed by the Braswell Intercollegiate Open in Shreveport, La.
