Hinckley complains about 'drifter' label

WASHINGTON — John W. Hinckley Jr., accused of trying to kill President Reagan, wrote to a reporter to complain about being depicted as a drifter and to elaborate on his interest in actress Jodie Foster, the Washington Post says.
"You and the other journalists make it sound like I was some kind of a hobo or something," Hinckley was quoted Sunday as writing in the unsolicited letter, dated Sept. 7.
"My recent cross-country ventures were necessary because New Haven (Conn.) was so far away," the letter continued. "I would have traveled to Budapest to find Jodie Foster."
Federal prosecutors believe that Hinckley, 26, college dropout and son of a wealthy Colorado oilman, may have been motivated on the day of the attempt on Reagan's life by an infatuation for Foster.
Foster, a student at Yale University in New Haven, played the role of a young prostitute in the movie "Taxi Driver," a story about a spurned suitor who stalked a political candidate.

Hinckley was taken into custody immediately after the March 30 shooting that wounded Reagan and three others. Investigators found an unmailed letter to Foster in Hinckley's Washington hotel room.
"Jodie, I would abandon the idea of getting Reagan in a second if I could only win your heart," the letter read. It asked her for "the chance with this historical deed to gain your respect and love."
In his letter to the Post, Hinckley asked that he not be called a "drifter" in future news accounts, the newspaper said.

"I may have done some drifting in the fall of '80, but in the years prior to this, I was not roaming around the country," the letter read. "Now that I'm in Maryland, she (Foster) and I are much closer, in more ways than one," Hinckley wrote. It was signed, "Yours truly, John Hinckley Jr."
Hinckley has pleaded innocent to charges he tried to kill Reagan, White House press secretary James Brady and two lawmen outside a Washington hotel. He is being held without bond at Fort Meade, Md.
The Post said neither Hinckley's defense lawyer nor government officials involved in the case would discuss the letter.
