Disappointed over loss of Fuller, Pender

By RITCHIE PRIDDY
Sports Editor

Football is a game of intensity. And head coach Tom Wilson said intensity was the key to the Aggie victory over Louisiana Tech Saturday night.

"The two most pleasing things in the ballgame," Wilson said in his weekly press conference, "were, one, the players on the field and on the sideline were totally intense throughout the entire ballgame and, two, we were able to play a lot of our people."

Wilson said he and his staff had talked to the players all last week about intensity. He said he wanted to find out exactly what his team could do and, in order to do that, each player had to perform to his maximum ability.

"We wanted to find out just how good this team can be," he said. "We were tired of talking about how good we could be—it was time to find out."

Wilson added that he wanted to turn his team totally loose against the Bulldogs and that he never thought of the score. As long as each player played to his maximum ability, he said, he wouldn't have to worry about that.

Sixty-nine players saw game action Saturday night, a couple, however, saw a bit less than they were expected to see.

Strong safety Jeff Fuller went down with torn knee ligaments and will be out for the rest of the year. Jeff Farrar took his place and performed well and will start this Saturday against Texas Tech.

Defensive end Paul Pender also hurt his knee and was replaced by Jon van Sant who also played well against Tech. van Sant intercepted a Matt Dunigan pass in the first quarter to set up the Aggies second score.

"Anytime you lose two players that enjoyed the game as much as Fuller and Pender it takes the shine off the win," Wilson said.

Fuller and Pender were considered to be two of the better defensive players for the Aggies and will be missed. However, Wilson said he has confidence in Farrar and van Sant. Robert Stoss will also see some action at left end. In addition, safety Mark McQueen returns to action this week after recovering from a slight knee injury he sustained before the season began and should give the Aggies adequate depth at safety.

Ray Childress, freshman defensive tackle, broke his hand during the game but should be able to play against Texas Tech this weekend.

Wilson continued his praise for the offensive unit, saying that it gained a little more confidence in what it can do.

"We needed to do some more things with our offense that we weren't able to do in the first two games. We feel that we have a lot of weapons and that it was time to use them."

The Ags are currently averaging 233.7 yards per game on the ground and 168.3 through the air. Their opponents, on the other hand, are averaging 70.7 yards on the ground and 246.3 through the air per game.

Earnest Jackson is the leading ball carrier with 271 yards on 51 carries for an average of 5.3 yards per carry. Johnny Hector is second with 265 yards on 37 carries for an average of 7.1 yards per carry.

Hector has caught the most passes with seven catches for 69 yards. Jackson has five receptions for 66 yards. Mike Whitwell also has five catches for 112 yards and Don Jones has four catches for 156 yards and three touchdowns.

Strong tackle Tommy Robison was voted the offensive player of the week for his effort in the Louisiana Tech game.

"There was a number of players who played well enough to win the award but Tommy continues to get better and better each week," Wilson said.

Wilson was particularly pleased with the kicking game, saying that it has been responsible for more big plays this year than in years past.

The punting has continued to improve with Buzzy Sawyer and Kyle Stuard handling the chores. Sawyer is averaging 37.2 yards per kick while Stuard, who punted for the first time this season Saturday, is averaging 69.5 yards on two kicks. His first punt sailed 81 yards, 69 through the air.

Defensive tackle Kermit Foster was voted the outstanding special teams player for the week. Foster recovered his second fumble in the Tech game, his first coming in the California game. Wilson said Foster has a knack for the ball and is almost always where the ball is.

Defensively, the Aggies continue to shine. Saturday they held the Bulldogs to just three yards on the ground on 34 attempts. The secondary remains a question mark but considering the fact that the Aggies have faced two high-powered passing teams (Cal and Tech) it isn't so bad. It has given up 739 yards through the air for an average of 246.3 yards per game.

Linebacker Bobby Stroger was voted the outstanding defensive player for his efforts in Saturday's ballgame. Stroger was credited with six tackles, two for losses. He is second to linebacker Mike Little in tackles with 27. Little has 32.

Wilson said Stroger continues to improve every ballgame and could well be one of the best linebackers in the league this fall.

Overall, Wilson was pleased with his team's performance Saturday and said they were entering the conference schedule on a high note. He said his team thoroughly enjoyed the 43-7 win over Louisiana Tech, but added that the Aggies were by no means in the great team. "We are," he said, "ready to take the next step."

The next step for the Aggies will come Saturday night in Lubbock when the Texas Tech Red Raiders host the Ags.

The Red Raiders are coming off a tough conference loss to Baylor and will be, as always, tough opponents for the Aggies.

Women's tennis team places second in tourney

Texas A&M women's tennis team finished second in the Westwood Invitational tennis tournament.

The Aggies' 12 points were second to Trinity's 21 points. The University of Texas was third with seven and TCU was fourth with six points.

All four doubles teams were able to win their first round matches. Only the team of Pam Hill and Maylyn Hooton were able to get past the second round, however. The pair was finally defeated by second seeded Jan Jarosz and Lisa Sassano of Trinity 6-3, 6-2.

"Our doubles teams really played over their heads," said coach Jan Cannon. "We beat a lot of good teams and I hope we can continue to play over our heads."

She said no other team in the tournament was able to accomplish the feat and it allowed the Aggies to score enough points for second place.

Hill-Hooton defeated Kim Wilson-Eulalia Garcia-Cors of Trinity 7-5, 6-3 and the third seeded team of Jen Greiewe-Cindy Samson 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 before falling to the second seeds.

Rebecca Raser-Cheryl Stanfield defeated Marilyn Morell-Angley, the Olmedo of TCU 6-3, 6-3 before losing to Jarosz-Samson 6-3, 6-0.

Laura Hanna-Amy Closs beat Maggie Moriss-Michelle Luntz of the University of Texas 6-1, 5-7, 6-3 in the first round. In the second, the team lost to fourth seeded Lori Nelson-Cindi Hill of TCU 7-6 (13-11), 6-4.

"The tie-breaker loss really hurt the girls," said Cannon. "They took so much out of them that they could not recover in the second set."

Sonja Hutcherson-Theresa Landry defeated Beth Rumin-Jane Johansen 6-4, 6-2 before losing to top seeded Louise Allen-Felicia Raschiatore of Trinity 6-1, 7-5.

"We played with some new teams and were really just experimenting with the girls," coach said. "They all played tough and had good reports. I think we might keep the teams."

The Aggies also did well in singles but only had two players get past the second round. Both were defeated in the third round.

Pam Hill defeated Samson 6-4, 6-2 and Lila Hirsch of TCU 6-2, 6-4 before losing to the fifth ber one seed in the tournament, Louise Allen, 6-2, 6-1.

Amy Closs beat Mary Jo Giamalva of Texas, sister to the tennis professionals, in the first round and Hill of TCU 6-2, 6-3 before getting beaten by Sassano 6-3, 6-1.

"I was pleased with the singles," said Cannon. "Pam Hill played very tough against Allen and the score does not indicate how close that match really was."

The Aggies will be in action again Oct. 9-11 in the Texarkana Invitational Tennis Tournament. Both the men's and women's teams will be competing in the team field.
