Chicago clergy offer alternative

United Press International
LOMBARD, Ill. — Moderate Christian clergymen said Saturday they are organizing an alternative to the Moral Majority because the church cannot be classified as politically "left or right."
The Chicagoan-led Committee on Fair Play, made up of some 100 Chicago area ministers and priests, said it is trying to influence the nation's political scene without employing the tactics of the New Christian Right, which it said is "narrow minded."

"The church is not merely on the side of the political right or left," the group said.

"We do not demand that our convictions dominate public education, public television, or attempt to establish censorship over those who disagree, or who control the public sector."

The committee issued a series of position statements it said will show the New Christian Right is not the only group that is "pro-human, pro-justice, pro-creation, pro-morality, pro-nation, pro-peace and pro-human rights."

The group said it:
—Deplores "the devaluation of personhood, whether by irresponsible abortion, genetic manipulation, infanticide, euthanasia, capital punishment, economic manipulation or nuclear proliferation."

—Deplores "the exploitation of the Earth resulting in air and water pollution, the depletion of natural resources, the impoverishment of peoples, the extinction of wildlife and natural habitats and the socially uninhibited use of the land."

"We should be critical of our country in order to change it to ward its ideal vision; we must love our country enough to think it worth changing," the group said.

The committee, which first began organizing last winter, is led by the Rev. Jack W. Lundin, pastor of the Community of Christ the Servant.

Trustee not to be trusted

United Press International
KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Wedded bliss was short-lived for Saunders Grim. He thought he was going on his honeymoon but ended up back in jail.

The 30-year-old prison camp escapee was arrested Wednesday — the day Kalamazoo County officials saw his name under the "Marriage Licenses" section of the local newspaper.
Two weeks earlier Grim had walked away from the Grass Lake, Mich., prison camp where he was serving a 10-year sentence for burglary. As a trustee at the camp he was given periodic furloughs.
