The Off-Campus Aggies' cutting crew is going back out this weekend, OCA Vice President Bruce Martin said at the OCA meeting Monday night.

Martin, bonfire chairman this year, said OCA cutting crews will meet Saturday and Sunday mornings at 8 behind Duncan Dining Hall. OCA will have tables set up around campus to sign up as many people as possible to build up their bonfire crew, he said.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, OCA will have a Bonfire Crew Party at Doux Chene Apartments for everyone who participated.

Other events discussed included a street dance to be held after the Nov. 14 Arkansas game in Culpepper Plaza. President Paul Bettencourt said local radio stations KTAM/KORA will be cohosting the event with OCA.

The radio stations will have a mobile unit in Culpepper, and will be giving us free air time, Bettencourt said. A merchant in Reveliers is a vocal pop jazz ensemble of five men, five women and three instrumentalists. Qualifications for the group include a solo and ensemble audition, and those with the best vocal mix are selected, Fleitas said.

"It's not the elite group in the department, but it is a group that requires a very specific vocal style to fit the music that we sing," Fleitas said. "We do strictly jazz, pop and swing - no classical.

All the groups in the department require a great amount of commitment and dedication and Once you're in, you really have to commit yourself.
