Jackson declares himself free agent for second time

NEW YORK — Mr. October may be taking his act on the road. New York Yankee outfielder Reggie Jackson, whose postseason heroics and clubhouse charades have made him one of the most controversial players in baseball, declared himself a free agent Monday.

Jackson, who finished his fifth year with the Yankees last week, had perhaps his worst season ever with a .237 average, 15 homers and 54 RBI. Jackson was part of two championship teams and three pennant winners during his New York stay.

Women golfers finish seventh in tournament

By GAYE DENLEY

The Texas A&M women's golf team, playing without two of its strongest starters, tied with UCLA for seventh place in the Lady Gator Invitational in Gainesville, Fla., last weekend.

The University of New Mexico won the tournament with a three-day team total of 884, followed by Florida State University at 893. The Aggies posted a 917, 33 strokes out of first place.

Coach Kitty Holley left home freshman Patricia Gonzalez and senior Monica Welsh, two mainstays of the five-member traveling squad, replacing them with Kerry Bower and Sheila Oldfield. Welsh had missed qualifying for the tournament by one stroke, and Gonzalez, just returned from an international competition, needed the weekend to catch up on her rest and her schoolwork, Holley said.

Another of the regulars, Shirley Furlong, placed sixth individually in a field of 74 players from 15 schools, firing a 75-73-74-222. Jackie Bertram finished six strokes back at 228, and Susan Yantis shot a 229. Bower and Oldfield added a 240 and a 243 to the team total.

The Aggies will venture south of the border for their next tournament in Monterey, Mexico, on Nov. 12-14 at the Club Compestre. "It should be fun," Holley said. "This is the first time they've held this tournament."
