

Bonfire '81 and . . . the 'big' game

Tickets to the game were hard to come by and many people were forced to 'search' for them, even if that meant taking a chance with scalpers. The game was Kyle Field's largest with 71,731 fans jammed into the stadium.

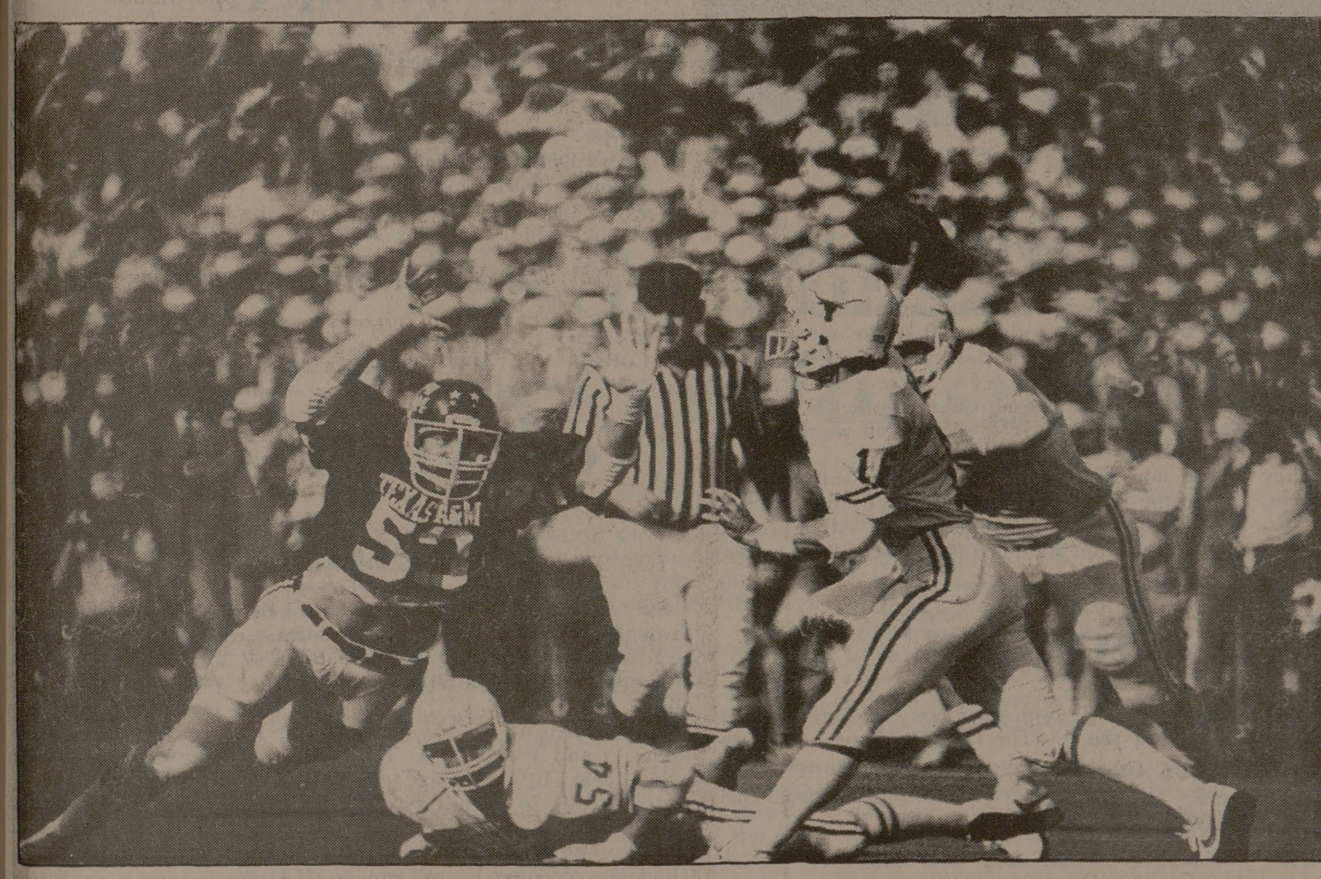

Senior center David Bandy humps it and sings the school song before the game. Bandy and nine other seniors finished their home careers with Thursday's game.

Bonfire '81, lit the night before the Texas A&M - Texas game, glows as the Aggie Band plays the 'War Hymn' in the background. The blaze drew an estimated 35,000 Aggies and even a few Longhorns to watch the annual event. The stack fell at approximately 8:30, sending the crowd into a frenzy.

Freshman defensive tackle Ray Childress charges Texas quarterback Robert Brewer during second half action. Brewer and teammate John Walker lead the 'Horns past the Aggies 21-13.

Photos
by Dave Einsel

Texas head coach Fred Akers is congratulated by Texas A&M head coach Tom Wilson after the game. The victory was only the second for Akers over the Aggies in four tries.