Texas A&M forward Claude Riley (13) and center Rudy Woods (23) jump high in an effort to block LSU forward Derrick Taylor's shot in Monday's game. The Aggies beat the Tigers 68-63 to remain undefeated for the season. LSU dropped to 0-2. The Aggies begin tournament play this weekend in Illinois.

Williams may play tonight against Cougars

United Press International
HOUSTON — University of Houston guard Rob Williams, recovering from knee surgery last month that was to keep him out of action until January, practiced with the Cougars Monday and might play against Texas Lutheran Tuesday.

Williams injured his knee during a work out in early November and underwent orthoscopic surgery Nov. 13 to repair damaged cartilage. At the time, a team spokesman said he would not be available until conference play opens Jan. 4.

Lady golfers finish fourth in tournament

By GAYE DENLEY

Battalion Staff
Partners Monica Welsh and Shirley Furlong finished fourth in a field of 12 in the Bluebonnet Bowl golf tournament in West Columbia last weekend.

The tournament was played with a partnership format, in which the lowest score of the two partners on each hole is recorded. TCU won the competition, played at the Columbia Lakes course, with a three-day total of 208, trailed by Arizona at 209 and SMU at 210. The Aggies finished at 214.

Furlong tied for second individually with rounds of 75-76-77-

228, earning second place outright on the third hole of the tiebreaker. "Shirley really played a good tournament, especially the first couple of days," Coach Kitty Holley said.

Holley added that the Bluebonnet Bowl was a "fun" tournament, whose results do not count towards Texas A&M's qualifying record for the national tournament next June. Welsh and Furlong, who had the best averages on the Texas A&M team over the first semester, were chosen to represent the Aggies at the tournament. "It's a reward for the first semester," Holley said.
