Dallas man's business includes flying fast and fearlessly

United Press International
DALLAS — From radioactive nuclear material to tons of dangerous explosives, Kay Cohlma will fly anything anywhere if the price is right.
Cohlma's 25 aircraft fly to 36 cities, usually carrying millions of dollars in negotiable securities and canceled checks that form the bulk of his business.

Two Learjets and 23 Beechcraft Barons comprise his current fleet, based at Dallas' Love Field. Cohlma's business extends from San Antonio to the west and Boston to the north. "We fly more miles than some major airlines," said Cohlma, whose pilots log a total of 33,000 miles daily. "We're the nation's largest independently owned airline."

Although canceled checks are the key to his business, he also specializes in handling hazardous cargo that the commercial airlines either cannot or will not fly. The material includes dynamite and blasting caps, artillery fuses, detonators and dynamite, radioactive mate-
