Council to hear recommendation

by Johna Jo Maurer

Battalion Staff
A nomination for MSC Council president will be heard at tonight's council meeting.

The nominating committee — made up of two faculty advisors, two MSC staff members, one former student and 11 students from the MSC Council and Directorate — interviewed applicants Todd Norwood and Craig Hanks Sunday and will present a recommendation for the council's vote.

Craig Hanks, current vice president of programs, is a junior philosophy major.

Todd Norwood, a senior chemical engineering major, is the current vice president of finance.

In other business, the vice presidents of development, finance and programs will present officer reports.

The program study committee plans to update its review of the MSC Black Awareness Committee and the MSC Arts Committee. Doug Dedeker, current president of the MSC Council, said these two groups will be commended for a job well done in the past year.

Dedeker said the MSC Videotape Committee will be reviewed at tonight's meeting.

Students get chance to see professors' art

by Joe Tindel Jr.

Battalion Reporter
An exhibit featuring art from faculty members in the College of Architecture and Environmental Design will begin Thursday in Rudder Tower.

The exhibit, which will run through Feb. 23, is sponsored by University Art Exhibits. The exhibits are part of the Office of Cultural Development, headed by Wayne Stark, special assistant to the president for cultural development.

The exhibit will include a variety of art, ranging from paintings and sculptures to architectural drawings and projects, some of which are prize-winning competition pieces, said Joseph Hutchinson, coordinator of Art Program Development for the college.

A reception for the artists will be held Feb. 7 at 2 p.m.

Faculty members from every department of the College of Architecture and Environmental Design will exhibit pieces in the show, Hutchinson said. The exhibit will include 112 objects from 29 faculty members.

Hutchinson said it has been about four years since the College of Architecture and Environmental Design has participated in a large group exhibit in Rudder Tower. He said the college has its own display of faculty art that students see, but the large group exhibit gives the faculty exposure to the University and the community.

University Art Exhibits sponsors three or four exhibits a year.

Today's Almanac

United Press International
Today is Monday, Feb. 1, the 32nd day of 1982 with 333 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

There is no evening star. Those born on the date are under the sign of Aquarius.

American composer Victor Herbert was born Feb. 1, 1859. In 1790, The United States Supreme Court convened in New York City for its first session.

In 1899, the first insurance policy covering an automobile driver was issued to Dr. Truman Martin of Buffalo, N.Y. In 1970, two trainees near Buenos Aires, Argentina, were killed.

In 1979, Ayatollah Khomeini, symbol of Iranian revolution, returned to his homeland and urged the end of all foreigners.

Also on this date in history, Patricia Hearst was released from prison five years after being kidnapped from her home. She had served 2 1/2 years of a seven-year bank robbery sentence.

A thought for the day: "Greater than the mightiest armies is an idea whose time has come."
