state / national-

Battalion/Page 12 February 5, 1982

EXTRA! EXTRA! Daring Daylight Robbery at Local Dyer Store!

For the sixth straight year (plus two crooked ones), the notorious, nefarious, and niggling Dyer Dealers attacked all of their suppliers of name-brand stereo equipment demanding lower prices and better deals so the savings could be passed on to their customers during an outlandish "Daring Daylight Robbery" sale. Led by San Antonio's own Jerry ("The Man") Dyer, the gang went to great lengths to avoid taking any merchandise of questionable quality. One supplier who claims to have been hit in this same manner by this same gang for all six years tried valiantly to hide his better stereo equipment. "It was the weirdest thing I'd ever seen", the supplier said describing the caper. "That bunch had eleven trained goats that sniffed out all my good stuff just like them Army dogs do", he continued. Local authorities who were called in to investigate (plus some who were not) speculate that the Dyer Dealers have split the loot among their five local hideouts and are planning to disburse it this weekend among local residents at tremendous savings. This assessment seems to be another example of top detective work since the Dealers have done the exact same thing for years and are spending thousands of dollars advertising the fact. Below are some recent photos of known gang members and a partial list of the loot taken.

*TM Dolby Labs

FIND ONE OF THESE HIDEOUT HONCHOS AND HAUL OFF THE SAVINGS!

Thrift institutions, commercial banks Th urged to compete

United Press International WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary Donald Regan urged

Congress Thursday to allow banks to compete with money market mutual funds, which he helped to create. In testimony before a Senate subcommittee Regan said the competition between commercial banks and the Wall Street funds has helped consumers in the short run, but also has weakened the nation's banking system. "Many consumers have placed their savings in money market funds instead of deposit accounts," he said, "more to avoid the restrictions on interest rates and services of depository institutions than to benefit from the different products and services of money market funds and securities firms.'

Regan, formerly the head of the Merrill Lynch brokerage firm, helped lead Wall Street to mercial banks.

a wider assortment of fine net services, particularly the keting of money marketme funds.

But Regan warned theof you watche mous growth of the tungis week, you weakening depository impamention th tions by concentrating or the televisio sources of funds. The gase networks e also is inconveniencing on her like. to financial services. So, in the sp. "It is not beceficial weather the sp.

"It is not beneficial, how yown rating for the structure of the second women w industry to be changing sor he armchair of industry to be changing wise armchair of ficantly without some objoors broadca commercial banks," Regain The areas He said the administrasketball, bas backs legislation that wolk ands are be quire banks to place new silking or as to ities underwriting and dapper and bey activities in a separate sile This rating ary. Regan said after a periorters/broadc experimentation the thiffielevision netw tutions also should be allowed USA Sport tutions also should be allowie USA Sport compete on equal terms ad ESPN, E assume all the powers of cork, they ar -offs and t he first C's No. 2 t ie and C and Pat Si Attorneys seeking ungs. piece of the rock the the start is honesty

> He "hired" Wood and Ra help him deal with state offi and gave a labor leader $5 JC1 in cash to pass to Clayton turn for the speaker's he obtaining the contract. Cla said he never intended to SAN ANT the money, and took it miles mainta avoid embarrassing labor lerward True Attorneys Donald Ray and

L.G. Moore. the crippled Ray said Clayton also has but San A templated filing suit agervin and M Prudential. counted fo punted for Ray said Hauser paid e points in attorneys $500 in cash to actory. Thus the seriousness of his intent.⁵⁵ win over promised to pay them a $2 atches. monthly legal retainer for a Gervin a ing guide Prudential throad for 66 the insurance bidding prosault that He said they never were p more than the orginal $500.

"They (Prudential) aut rized Joe Hauser and those FBI agents to act as their rep sentatives, and as their agents conduct this investigation, tially for their business poses," Ray said.

"Obviously Prudential had have some kind of interestint activity before it would allow self to be used in this kind scam. They had to think it wo. suit their business purpose have such an investigation of ducted.

Ray said he and Wood considered suing the gover ment, but noted the federals

Prudential representative and said the firm was seeking to land a lucrative state insurance con-

ernment is generally prote by immunity from such dam suits

Cuban refugees moved from base

United Press International FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. — The last 22 of 25,000 Cuban refugees who passed through the Fort Chaffee relocation center were loaded onto a bus before dawn Thursday and left Arkansas, destined for a federal prison in Chicago.

"They're all gone," said Mac Coffman, camp director for the Cuban-Haitian Task Force.

The last band of Cubans were to travel by bus to Tulsa, Okla., then fly by commercial airliner to Chicago, Coffman said. Earlier plans to transfer the last refugees to a halfway house in Seattle, Wash., fell through.

Coffman said he hoped the Cubans would be in Chicago only about 15 days before they could travel on to Seattle anyway

In the 22 months Cuban refugees were lodged in Arkansas, they played a role in the election of a governor, in the economy of a community and in the public's opinion on America's immigration policy in general. The "Freedom Flotilla" that brought an estimated 125,000 Cubans to the United States beginning in May 1980 sent many of the refugees through the Army base near Fort Smith. At one time, as many as 19,000 refugees were housed at the processing and resettlement center.

The commitment from Reagan administration to train fer the Cubans elsewhere delayed on several occasion until Jan. 24 when two busic of the remaining 392 refug left for federal prisons in Ge gia, Missouri and Kentucky

Army officials said the pla ment of the Cubans at I Chaffee had not affected operation of the military fad except for displacing s Army reserve and Nati Guard units who were forced stay in tents during sum camps in 1980.

Col. Ray Spence, Fort Ch fee commander, said rep and renovation of the fac have been under way for past 13 months and should completed within 180 days. estimated cost of bringing Army base back to its cond before the refugees arrived $7.9 million, he said.

Most of the costs of renoving the facility resulted for damage to barracks where Cubans were housed, Spel said

Chain-link fences and bart wire installed after the Ju 1980 riot belong to the Feder Bureau of Prisons and will removed, Spence said.