Regents

Planning and Building Committee members learned Sunday that bids for the horticulture/forest science building exceed the money available for the project by about $1 million.
The low bid on the project, from B-F-W Construction Co. Inc. of Temple, was $12.22 million. About $11.28 million is available for the building's construction.
System Chancellor Frank W.R. Hubert made two alternate proposals to solve the problem. He said the regents could either revise the building plans — omitting enough items to bring it within its budget — or they could completely redesign it and reopen bidding.

Wesley E. Peel, System vice chancellor for facilities planning and construction, said the second proposal would delay consideration of the bids until the board's September meeting. He said he had found several features in the present plans which, if eliminated, could bring the building's cost down to the budgeted amount.

Regent H.C. "Dulie" Bell Jr. of Austin, planning and building committee chairman, agreed that the plans could be changed.
"The architect put too many Cadillac items in the plans when a Chevrolet would have done just as well," Bell said. "I think we can cut a lot of the Cadillac items out."
The committee recommended that the chancellor negotiate the changes in the plans with the low bidder. They

Congress, lobbyists battle over regulation of guns

Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Mo., to restrict enforcement power of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.
Pressure on the gun-control agency has been building for years, amid charges of alleged abuses of its power, and the Reagan administration is in the midst of efforts to dismantle the bureau.
But while that move drew initial favorable reaction from the powerful National Rifle Association, the gun enthusiasts' lobbying group has balked at the prospect of turning gun enforcement over to the Secret Service.

As that battle continues, the administration has endorsed the McClure-Volkmer proposal, as has the Judiciary Committee's Republican leadership.
But the committee effort bogged down last week when Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., sought to restrict the bill to long guns, leaving control of so-called "snubbies" and "Saturday Night Specials" under present harsh enforcement. The committee decided to get the Justice Department's views on how the differing proposals would affect enforcement and try to decide the matter Tuesday.

NRA spokesman John Adkins said the group is printing its 2.2 million members to boost the McClure-Volkmer measure.
Although primarily an organization for sportsmen, Adkins said many persons who are not gun enthusiasts are joining the NRA because they want an unfettered right to arm themselves for protection against criminals.
While the NRA is cheering McClure and Volkmer, Kennedy is supported by Handgun Control Inc., a group that seeks to end street crime by abolishing gun ownership.

Both organizations have chosen sides as politicians waded with the issue at lower levels of government. Campaigns for tough gun laws are being waged in such states as Florida, Massachusetts, California, Maryland, and Ohio.
The NRA applauded the publicized vote of the Kennesaw, Ga., council to require every home to have a gun for self-protection. The Kennesaw vote was a direct reaction to a vote last June in Morton Grove, Ill., to ban gun ownership and gun sales entirely.
Handgun Control's executive vice president, Charles Orasin, deplored the Kennesaw action. "The irony of the Georgia thing is, they talk about 'brother' dictating what to do in the home and this requires them to keep a 'time bomb' in your house," he said.

SOPHOMORES, JUNIORS, SENIORS,
EARN OVER $1000 A MONTH JUST TO FINISH COLLEGE!
IF YOU'RE MAJORING IN MATH, PHYSICS OR ENGINEERING, THE NAVY HAS A PROGRAM YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT.
It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program (NUPOC for short) and if you qualify, you can earn as much as $1000 a month right through your senior year. Then after 16 weeks of Officer Candidate School, you'll receive an additional year of advanced technical education. This could cost you thousands of $$$ in a civilian school, but in the Navy, we pay you.
During that year of training, you'll receive a $27,000 salary. It isn't easy. There are fewer than 400 openings and only one of every six applicants will be selected. But if you make it, you'll have qualified for an elite engineering training job program with unequalled hands-on responsibility, a $40,000 salary in four years, and gilt-edged qualification for jobs in private industry should you decide to leave the Navy later.
(But we don't think you'll want to.)

Donations 'shore up' SS system

United Press International
WASHINGTON — It would make a dent in Social Security money woes, but each year the retirement system gets about $40,000 in gifts from people grateful for its benefits or worried about its future.

A woman who donates $13.11 — computed by applying the employee tax rate to her benefit amount — said she hopes the money would "shore up" the sagging, dwindling Social Security fund.

Not counting 1974, the first year bequests and gifts were allowed, the retirement system has received an average $39,847 a year, the magazine said.

Some donors are concerned about Social Security's "publicized funding trouble." The administration says the system will be $1.6 trillion short in the next 75 years, although Democrats dispute the figure.

Other givers are grateful for Social Security's help. One woman said her father, who paid less than $500 in Social Security payroll taxes, drew benefits for 29 years. She donates her $9,000 share of his estate to the trust funds.

Gifts must be unconditional although they can be earmarked for one of Social Security's trust funds — retirement, Medicaid disability or Supplemental Medical Insurance.

The stingiest year for such donations was 1977, when only $10,274.73 was received according to the report. The most generous was 1979, when $91,949.88 enriched the system's coffers, including a $25,000 gift that was the largest ever from a living donor.
