local/state-

talion/Page 6

oril 1, 1982

Rollie Whit

15

ng applicants,t lies heavily s, MCAT scon nmendation, po ws and physical health," Wa

ction commit or the applicant personality, nittee does

al decision

ecommendss

eptance to the

iew itself has

y system" for the said. The stu-

through three views with the

on the admi

. Students who

n one interview highly recom-

asis of the other

deadline for eptember 1982

tance, the first

dence are spen

Station campu

ence and doing

d fourth yea rams, mostly i

cott and White

ital and at the

Veteran's Cer

consist main

kships, as well ith ambulance

ectives.

A:

rom m

9

French,

DR

Battalion/Page 7 April 1, 1982

Fifth Aggie brother takes used senior boots proudly be the first time they have pounded the sidewalks of Texas

Junior cadet Pat Perryman shows the inside of his senior boots, which have been worn previously by his brothers are listed below his in the boot.

four brothers. The names of his

by Dennis Prescott Battalion Reporter When Pat Perryman puts on his senior boots this fall, it won't

A&M University. Perryman will be wearing the same pair of boots four of his brothers wore as seniors in the Corps of

also have rented the same post office box at the Memorial Student Center since 1966 when

Gerald Perryman Jr. came to the University as a freshman.

The brothers from Freeport

Cadets.

"March to the Brazos is also Cheerleaders. significant because it is the first time the juniors really take com-mand," Corps Adjutant Glinn White said. "They will be totally campus." Following the march, set monetary goals, he said. juniors in many outfits are given Cadets raised about $18,800 last

River Saturday for an afternoon of fun and games and to raise money for the Brazos County March of Dimes. March seven miles through brazos River. There they will be greeted by three Dallas Cowboy

Class of '72, wore the boots. Since then, Lawrence and Robert Perryman, Classes of '76 and '78 respectively, have worn the boots, and now it's Pat's turn.

size shoe, but the size of the boots has been altered once. The boots now have new soles, but that is the only other repair ever made on them.

Pat said all five wear the same

The boots were made in 1968 for Gerald, who graduated in 1970. Pat said the tradition be-names engraved on metal plates inside one of the boots.In order to keep the box, the brothers rented it for a year until Pat came to school. "I'm very proud of these boots," Pat said, "because I know gan when his brother Thomas, of some people who wear boots for one year and really get them ragged out." He said when he gets through with the boots, he and his brothers plan to put them, along with the spurs, in a glass case and present them to his parents. "We'd probably fight over them, otherwise," he said. school.

ade on them. The brothers have their until Robert graduated in 1978.

Gerald is a captain in the Air Force stationed in Omaha, Neb. He was a zoology major at Texas A&M. Thomas and Lawrence were management majors and

Robert was a finance major. Pat is majoring in mechanized agri-culture and said he isn't sure what he will do when he finishes

"Maybe I could drive tractors funds for March of Dimes some senior privileges and re-sponsibilities, Bruce Dunn, regi-vear, he said. Cadets have been collecting prizes donated by area merby Cyndy Davis Battalion Staff The Texas A&M Corps of some senior privileges sponsibilities, Bruce Dur ment commander, said. Cadets will march to the Brazos Cadets will leave at 8:30 a.m.

March to the Brazos to raise in charge of the march back to Outfits are also encouraged to money since before Spring chants will also be awarded, he Break, White said. The cadet said.

collecting the most money will Outfits will compete in tug-of-receive a one-fifth karat war, stretcher races and sack diamond for his senior ring, races, White said.

Larry Warnock, Corps adminis-tration sergeant, said. A keg of streamer on the basis of overall beer will be given to the outfit participation, he said.

SHARKY'S

Campus Theatre Last Night 7:30-9:45

$13 ruling may aid Boys Ranch

United Press International SANTA FE, N.M. — A ruling by the New Mexico Supreme In a unanimous Court in favor of the New Mex-

the potential for a much greater In a unanimous decision

The balance of the estate in into before the Sept. 18, 1979, death of Mary E. Martin of question is $13.20. The full impact of the court's

Tuesday, the high court upheld ruling, however, could affect the ico Boys Ranch will make that organization $13.20 richer, but hidden behind the decision is que to set aside a trust entered ranch is in or near the oil- and

Clovis That trust left Martin's 2,300acre Roosevell County ranch to the Boys Ranch. The Martin gas-rich area of eastern New Mexico, Boys Ranch director Mike Kull said Tuesday.

At issue is an appeal to Mar-tin's will filed by her first cousin, Rosa Hanvey of Plainview.

Hanvey appealed a decision by Curry County District Judge Fred Hensley, who had ruled that Martin's will left her entire Skaggs, Eckerd's, Circus of Toys, K-Mart, Wilson's, Claude Davis and Feather Crest Farms.

THEATRES

That prompted the Boys Ranch to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court, which unanimously overturned the appeals

> John Carr, an Albuquerque lawyer who represents the Boys Ranch, said the $13.20 in personal property that was left in Martin's estate following payment of all outstanding debts is not at issue.

> The real issue, he said, is the federal court challenge by Hanvey to set aside the trust that Martin established prior to her death. In that trust, she left the Roosevelt County ranch to the Boys Ranch.

If Hanvey can establish a right to inherit Martin's estate, she boosts her chance to inherit the ranch if the trust is set aside, Robb said.

Police department sponsors Easter egg hunt April 10

The College Station Police Department will hold an Easter egg hunt for children 10 and under on the station grounds at 10 a.m. April 10.

Children will be divided into three age groups for the hunt, and more than 15 dozen eggs will be scattered across the grounds.

Cheryl Weicker, of the police department, said every child will win a prize. Prizes include candy, toys and a special 3-foot stuffed rabbit. The Easter bunny will also be on hand to award Pooh's Park ride passes.

TG&Y, Dillard's, Gibson's, ment, 696-8283.

Participants must register at TG&Y, on Texas Avenue, by Friday.

For further information contact Lt. Bernard Kapella at the Prizes are being donated by College Station Police Depart-

photo by Todd Woodard

