

Florida gun sales increase; weapons go to black market

United Press International
MIAMI — Multiple handgun sales have reached staggering levels in Florida, and authorities speculate many of the weapons end up in the lucrative New York black market for guns. Statistics from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms show 5,888 handguns were bought by 2,292 individuals in multiple gun sales during the last three months of 1981.

Two of the agency's districts encompassing California and six other states in what is often considered the "gun-toting" West, reported a combined total of 2,298 sales involving 5,977 weapons.

"It staggers everyone who looks at it," Peter Mastin, assistant special agent in charge of the bureau in Florida, said Sunday.

Officials with the Treasury Department's bureau say they believe many of the guns bought in Florida have been smuggled out of the country or illegally sold in New York.

Florida, Virginia and Ohio appear to be major sources of guns sold in the back alleys of New York, said Alex D'atri, a bureau supervisor.

Error in city code makes prostitution lawful in Norfolk

United Press International
NORFOLK, Va. — Prostitution is legal in Norfolk — at least temporarily.

The city's solicitation ordinance was overlooked when a Florida company revised the city code in October, making it difficult for police and judges to make street solicitation charges stick.

"Right now, an officer has to enforce the law in a way that is not a horse," said a named officer said Sunday in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

General District Court Judge William Shapero said the issue has come up in my court and I've dismissed it. I feel that I couldn't convict under the guidelines of the Municipal Code Co. of Tallahassee, Fla., revamped the code because it had not been revised in more than 20 years, the Norfolk attorney's office said.

An assistant city attorney in the newspaper: "We went to go through and simply retain sections and delete some of the archaic language. But the project of adopting a new code was an enormous endeavor. Something was bound to go in the process."

City Attorney Philip Trow said the problem can be solved easily.

"On any Tuesday, all I have to do is take the code up to the City Council," he said. "From there it is up to them to decide to adopt a new ordinance."
