Houston tops LA in 11th

HOUSTON — Even the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers are human early in a baseball season.

An error by second baseman Steve Sax and a flubbed assignment by veteran center fielder Ken Landreaux caused the Dodgers to suffer a tough 2-1 loss in 11 innings to the Houston Astros Monday.

The loss didn't injure the Dodgers, 3-2, at this early stage in the season but the manner of the defeat did. A victory was sewed up tighter than a National League baseball when Sax's throwing error in the eighth inning gave Houston a tying run and when Landreaux's failure to find a pop fly in the 11th inning resulted in the losing run.

Spring training

Sherrill says Aggies progressing

It's obvious that Jackie Sherrill isn't in any hurry to create a world-beater at Texas A&M University.

He knows that many details must be worked out during spring training, and that his team has a great deal of work to do before it can reach the level everyone expects of it.

After Monday night's practice in Kyle Field, the ninth of the spring for the Aggie football team, Sherrill said the players are progressing slowly but surely.

"It was a normal Monday night practice," Sherrill said. "We're going through some technique and reaction drills. We're making some progress."

Sherrill expressed concern about a knee injury Monday night to defensive tackle Kermit Foster. Although unsure about the seriousness of the injury, Sherrill said Foster should be out for a few days.

Freshman defensive lineman Ray Childress will be out for one or two weeks after sustaining a hamstring injury last week. Sherrill said that Childress has pulled the muscle two or three times, and that he'll be held out to avoid re-aggravation of the injury.

Sherrill lauded the recent efforts of tight end Mark Lewis, who has impressed the offensive coaches during the first two weeks of spring training.

"I think with Lewis out here, it gives us some dimension," Sherrill said. "We're progressing, but we've got a lot to learn. Our offensive line is making some progress, but we've got a long way to go. The defense is playing with a lot of intensity."

"We should be able to run and throw the football — that's encouraging."

Bobby Roper, the Aggies' defensive end coach, said: "I think the attitude has been excellent. The players are trying to do the things that we've asked them to do. None of the coaches have had any complaints as far as the attitude's concerned."

"Defensively, we're making normal progress, but then again, I'm not really sure what normal progress is. They're working against themselves, so we don't know what it'll be like against other competition."

"The effort is there, and it's getting better," Roper said. "We've been able to stay relatively free of injury, and that's helped."

The Aggies' next workout will be Wednesday afternoon at 4 in Kyle Field.
