Festivities flourish for visitors during Parents' Weekend

The MSC Variety Show, RHA Casino cert Saturday at 8 p.m. in Rudder Au-82, the Texas A&M Theatre Arts ditorium. production of Dames at Sea and the naming of the 1982 Aggie Parents of the Year are among the highlights of this year's Parents' Weekend this Friday through Sunday. The MSC Variety Show, Friday night at 7:30 in Rudder Auditorium, features performances by Texas A&M University students and faculty. Performers include two Texas A&M football players performing original numbers on the piano and guitar, a barber shop quartet, a medley of old-time favorites by the Texas A&M Women's Chorus, and various dance

The show will also feature a gym-nastics routine performed by Sherri Ryman, Miss Texas, 1981.

All those who can't make it to Las Vegas, but still want to try their hands at a game of chance can do so at Casino '82. The event, sponsored by the Residence Hall Association, is on the second floor of the Memorial Student Center from 8 to 12:30 Friday night.

Participants can convert their tickets into $3,000 worth of play money. Games will include such casino favorites as blackjack, roulette, and craps. Those who are lucky enough to have any "money" left at the end of the night may bid for prizes at an auction. For those who might want a taste of Broadway, the Theater Arts Program will present performances of "Dames at Sea" over the weekend in Rudder Theater

Tickets for all activities except Casino are available in Rudder Box Office. Tickets for Casino are available at the door and at campus dining halls.

Other activities scheduled for Saturday include a Rudder Complex open house, a Southwest Conference baseball game between Texas A&M and Texas Tech and two Aggie Cinema movies at the Grove. Sunday will feature the Parents'

Day awards program in Rudder Au-ditorium at 9 a.m., where the 1982 Aggie Parents of the Year will be named.

This annual award is based on suc-cessfully fulfilling the roles of parents morally and economically, active involvement with individual students and community and University involvement.

Students at Texas A&M nominate parents for the award. The winners are chosen by the Parents' Day Committee, made up of University students.

Several Corps activities also have been planned for Sunday. The Ross Volunteers will present a perform-ance at Kyle Field at 1:15 p.m. At 2:15

Official goes to Israel to smooth Sinai transfer

United Press International TEL AVIV, Israel — Opposition leaders accused Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government of orchestrated hysteria" in hinting the ai withdrawal could be postponed, nd a U.S. official was ordered to Israel today to smooth the transfer to Egyptian control.

Tension over the April 25 pullback rom the Sinai was heightened by conued clashes between Israeli forces nd Palestinians angered by the killng of two Arabs at Jerusualem's re-wered Dome of the Rock mosque Easer Sundav

Officials, who had predicted several days of violence, said Tuesday one Palestinian was killed and at least 27 others were wounded in two days of violent protests.

The American-born Israeli soldier arrested for the shooting spree, Alan Harry Goodman, 38, was arraigned Tuesday and ordered held for 15 more days of questioning.

Begin hinted at the possible postponement of handing the Sinai over to Egypt in two newspaper interviews Tuesday — a withdrawal called for in the U.S.-arranged Camp David peace accord.

At the same time, U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Walter Stoessel, the number two man in the department, held final briefings with U.S. officials in London for a mission beginning today to insure Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai.

After talks with Israeli officials, Stoessel planned to continue discussions with Egyptian officials in Cairo on Friday.

Israeli Labor Party officials lashed out at the hysteria two weeks before the pullback from Sinai during a five-hour session Tuesday of the bipartisan defense and foreign affairs committee

The committee was briefed by Defense Minister Ariel Sharon about alleged Egyptian violations of the 1979 peace treaty, which Begin insisted be rectified before the with-

The state-run television said the infractions involved stationing an extra batallion and constructing fortified positions and minefields in the limited forces "B" zone in the Sinai.

Egypt denied the charge. "I am astounded," Labor Party leader Shimon Peres told the television network. "What do we gain from this? Why climb out on a limb and then ask the State Department to help us back down?

He was referring to President Reagan's sending of Stoessel and the recently concluded visit of Nicholas Veliotes, assistant secretary of state. Stoessel met Veliotes and Secretary of State Alexander Haig in London.

But in the Sinai workmen continued to dismantle houses and industrial structures and bulldozers uprooted fruit trees in preparation for the pullback.

The young guard of the Herut faction of Begin's ruling Likud bloc urged a one-month delay in with-'drawing after hard-line speeches by

Sharon, Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir and Deputy Prime Minister David Levy about the alleged Sinai violations

Story correction

An error was made in Monday's Batalion in the story "Pre-registration for Fall '82 begins April 19." The tory should have said students in the College of Business Administration with grade point ratios less than 2.0 an pre-register if this is their first nester at Texas A&M University. Business students on scholastic robation with less than a 2.0 miderm GPR can pre-register only if hey are meeting the terms of their probation at midterm. The Battalion egrets the error.

Page said the turnout at the open meetings, held once a year, is usually not good, considering an enrollment of approximately 11,000 students in the college of engineering.

"It is a mode of communication between students and deans. Students "This has been standard procedure want to ask questions and this is the for the college," Page said, "there is only way to do it," he said.
