They say they'll be ready. When the clock strikes 6 Saturday, the alumni will get down to business.

The athletes say they're having fun seeing all their old teammates and finding out who can and can't still display skills between the goal lines.

"We're enjoying it," said Ted Lamp, a former linebacker who won the 1974 Aggie Heart Award. The annual award goes to the senior athlete who best displays the intangibles of effort, determination, desire, courage and competitiveness.

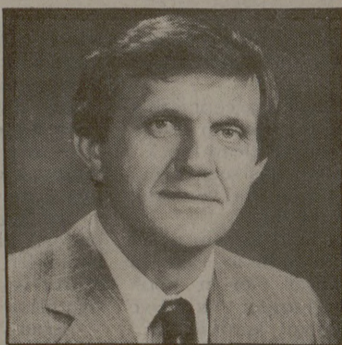

"It's good getting together with the guys you played with and the guys you haven't ever met," Lamp said.

Lamp said the fun should, perhaps in a slightly decreased amount, carry over into the game with the Aggies.

"It may stop quick, but we'll still be a bunch of easy-going guys having a good time," he laughed.

Milstead, the Aggies' quarterback during 1957-59, took the same attitude.

"We're having a blast. It's fun seeing all these younger guys like Ed Hargett," he said while jokingly pointing a finger at Hargett. "I used to watch him when I was a little kid."

Milstead's joke is obvious, since Hargett played football here during the late 1960s.

Garth Ten Napel, a linebacker here until 1975, says he's happy to be part of what has been called a family reunion of sorts.

"It feels good seeing my old friends," Ten Napel said. "A lot of us became so close we're like family. It's really great seeing a lot of the older players, too."

Ten Napel also expressed a positive attitude about Sherrill and his new staff.

"I think it's really great," he said. "Hopefully this game will bring a lot of support to his program, and that's what he (Sherrill) needs. I think he's enough of a leader to turn the A&M program around."

Sherrill said that after the game, awards will be presented to the Aggie varsity's most improved offensive and defensive players. In addition, he said, the John David Crow Award and Charlie Krueger Award will be given to members of the team.

The alumni athletes chosen the most outstanding offensive and defensive players for the game will receive rings as well.

Sherrill said that during the game, both squads will stay in one defense so that injuries will be less likely. The Aggie varsity will handle every phase of the kicking game, he said, including punts, kickoffs and downfield coverage on returns.

Quarterbacks for both teams will wear red jerseys, and will not be rushed in the backfield as heavily as during a normal spring game.

A&M tops Razorback tennis team

After having lost to No. 1 TCU Wednesday in the first day of the Southwest Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women tournament in Austin, the Texas Aggies defeated Arkansas 5-4 Thursday morning.

However, Texas A&M was without the services of Lili Fernandez, the Aggies' No. 1 singles player. Fernandez has the flu and will not play in today's fifth-place match with Rice.

Fernandez, Texas A&M's only qualifier for the SWAIAW individual competition, was to have played in her opening match today at 1 p.m.

In Thursday's matches, Amy Gloss played in the No. 1 spot, defeating Susan Incardone 6-0, 6-1. No. 2 Pam Hill outlasted Kellie Chase 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, while Theresa Landry lost to Beth Wagner 6-1, 7-6, 7-4 in the No. 3 match.

Laura Hanna lost the Aggies' only other singles match in two sets to Lorie Zacharias 7-5, 6-1. Texas A&M's Sonja Hutcherson defeated Debbie Smith 6-1, 6-0 and Cheryl Stanford, who normally competes in only doubles, beat Kathy Kaer 6-1, 7-5 in the No. 6 singles match.

While two of the Aggies' doubles teams lost to the Razorbacks, Closs-Stanford topped Smith-Chase 6-4, 6-3. Hutcherson-Hill lost to Zacharias-Wagner 7-5, 6-2 and Hanna-Landry fell to Incardone-Cindy Donica 6-3, 3-6, 6-0.

Oilers hire Dallas scout for defense

United Press International HOUSTON — The Houston Oilers announced Thursday they had hired Dallas Cowboys scout Ralph Staub as defensive line coach.

Staub, 54, will replace Joe Galat, who resigned to become head coach of the Montreal Alouettes.

"We waited until after the draft to hire him," said Oilers coach Ed Biles. "He has an excellent background after playing college ball under Sid (Gillman) and then serving on Woody Hayes' staff at Ohio State before joining the Cowboys. He will be a solid fundamental teacher for our defensive linemen."

Staub attended the University of Cincinnati and played under Gillman, who later became head coach of the Oilers and is now with the Eagles.
