

Man steals partner's watch after robbery

DALLAS — A robbery outside the apartment of Elbert Litton, 58, a carpet store owner. Litton was wounded in the right side when he tried to take a gun away from one of two men who confronted him outside his apartment in an apparent robbery attempt, witnesses told police. He was treated at Baylor University Medical Center.

Witnesses told police that after Litton was shot, he pushed the two gunmen aside and ran as the men opened fire. Litton fell into a puddle of water, struggled to his feet, drew a revolver from his pocket and started returning fire, police said.

Democrats claim GOP ads degrade president's office

WASHINGTON — Republican Party television advertisements featuring a Jimmy Carter look-alike are being condemned as "degrading" by Democrats and there is uncertainty over how much network air time they will receive.

In one ad an attorney reading a will is flanked by an actor who looks like Carter, flashing a toothy grin, and another actor who looks like House majority leader A.T. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass.

"To Ronald Reagan we leave a recession," the lawyer says. "Inflation at 12.4 percent, gas prices sky high, government spending money like it was going out of style."

CBS has already rejected the ad, saying it's too early in the season to run any political spots. Republicans said NBC and ABC would carry the ad, but a spokesman for NBC said it was undecided.

Asked if the network had problems with an ad that used a look-alike of a former president, NBC spokesman Owen Comora said in New York: "I think that's what they're discussing."

ABC reportedly also was debating turning down the spot but a spokesman would only say "we have not had any ads placed at this time."

Republicans unveiled the ads Monday and said they would spend $1.7 million to air them nationwide. The ads center on the theme, "Republicans are beginning to make things better."

Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., chairman of the Democratic House Campaign Committee, said: "To claim, as the Republican ad does, that Ronald Reagan was left a recession is a lie."

Coelho said telegrams were sent to the networks and station managers of local television outlets that have sold the Republicans time for the ads to warn that the commercials are blatantly false.

Airline threatens to sue FAA

AUSTIN — The president of Emerald Airlines said Tuesday that his company will take legal action against the federal government unless an equitable system for allocating flight space at Dallas-Ft. Worth Airport is instituted.

Emerald President Dean Rush said the airline has been trying since September of 1981 to get "slots" in and out of DFW but has been put off by the Federal Aviation Administration in favor of larger carriers.

Emerald currently serves Houston, McAllen and San Antonio with DC-9 passenger planes. The airline cancelled service in Midland and Austin when it became apparent it would not receive flight space in Dallas.

Rush said the airline had been led to believe four times that they would be allowed to serve Dallas, only to have the FAA change its mind.

"According to Rush, larger carriers have been able to get slots by lobbying in Washington and some have sought to impede competition by making sure smaller carriers cannot get clearance in and out of the airport."

Rush said Emerald has requested clearance into Dallas for 16 flights daily, and made its most recent request after the bankruptcy of Braniff. He estimated that Braniff's demise opened up 168 daily slots into DFW Airport.

"We feel that as a small carrier we are being jeopardized by everyone standing back and keeping quiet," Rush said. "We can't afford to do that anymore."

Rush said Emerald had lost about $1 million because it has not been allowed to fly into Dallas and has furloughed 73 workers in the last three months.

Rush said he had notified the FAA of his intentions to file suit and would wait until Thursday at noon to see if the agency responded to his requests before taking legal action.
