Rev. Moon gets fraud conviction

NEW YORK — The Rev. Myung Moon was found guilty of tax fraud and conviction officials of his Unification Church, calling him the "abused and misunderstood religious leader" of the sect said he would be vindicated.

Moon's attorneys vowed appeal his Tuesday conviction for failing to report as income the $150,000 in interest he received from a $1.6 million account. An aide also was convicted of helping file false returns and phony documents.

Sentencing was set for July and Moon could be ordered to prison for 14 years and a $25,000 fine.

Moon, 62, showed no emotion when the verdict was announced to conclude an eight-week trial and did not comment as he left the U.S. district courtroom with his wife and bodyguards. Some of his followers packing the courtroom wept in their eyes. The woman, two-man jury had deliberated for five days.

A Unification Church spokesman quoted Moon as saying: "Don't worry. No problem. The way of the public that we serve God and we serve humanity. We are people of principle, not personality."

At a news conference, Unification Church President Moon said the case was an attack on religious freedom, calling the church the "most vilified, abused and persecuted church in the United States ... The government has sought to get rid of Moon."

Durst called Moon, who had been accused of brainwashing many of his 3 million followers, "the most abused and misunderstood religious leader of 20th century."

Moon's lawyer, Charles S. Durst, said he would try to have the verdict set aside and would appeal the conviction if it were moved to a federal court. Moon would face up to 14 years in prison for one count of conspiracy and three counts of tax fraud. The sentences were ordered served concurrently.

If the sentences were ordered served concurrently, the practice in tax fraud cases, Moon would face up to 14 years in prison.

Takeru Kamiyama, 40, an aide to Moon, was found guilty of helping file false tax returns and obstructing the investigation through the use of phony documents.

Moon, who lives in a $625,000 estate in suburban Irvington, N.Y., heads an international movement with members in 120 countries and an estimated 30,000 in the United States.
