Quick elimination

Chandler says Aggies' mistakes proved fatal

Coach Tom Chandler may have pinpointed his team's biggest nemesis when he spoke to reporters after the Aggie baseball squad had been eliminated from the Southwest Conference tournament over the weekend.

"The problem we had all year was that we always gave the other team four or five outs," the Texas A&M coach said. "We did it against Texas (Friday night when the Aggies lost 12-7) and against Houston (Saturday afternoon when the Aggies lost 13-6)."

For instance, in the game with No. 1-ranked Texas, the Aggies committed three errors, each of which led to Longhorn runs. Against the Cougars, Texas A&M was charged with two errors, and both were followed by runs as well.

Catcher Jeff Jacobson's solo home run in the fifth inning of Saturday's game seemed to illustrate some of the disappointment of the Aggies' season, which ended abruptly after the team won five of its last six regular-season games to qualify for the league tourney.

While outfielders Billy Cannon and Ronnie Risinger watched, the ball bounded off the Olsen Field scoreboard sign, knocking several letters off and onto the warning track dirt. Only a few inches higher and the ball ironically would have knocked the letters "A&M" off the portion of the sign listing the four teams participating in the tourney.

But it was only a matter of four innings before the Cougars made reality of the Aggies' early exit from the tourney. Erasing a 5-3 Aggie lead with an eight-run seventh inning, Houston ushered Texas A&M straight to the Olsen Field gates.

Chandler, describing the stadium as a "good hitter's park," gave credit to the Aggie offense, but added that his relief pitchers "couldn't do it" when called upon to replace the Texas A&M starters.

The Aggies' Rick Luecken, who was named first team all-SWC, struck out nine during 6½ innings against Texas. However, the Longhorns scored three runs in the seventh inning to take an 8-5 lead after the Aggies had come back to tie the game during the sixth.

Cougar assistant coach Bragg Stockton said although Texas A&M hit well (with 13 runs and 21 hits in two games), the squad's pitching proved to be its downfall.

"Their pitching was a little spotty, and when we took the lead, their bullpen couldn't turn the momentum," Stockton said. "They're an excellent hitting ballclub and they can run well, too."

UT won 12-7 on its way to another Southwest Conference title. Texas will host the NCAA central regional, which opens May 28 in Austin. The Houston Cougars may receive an at-large bid.

At General Telephone...
We're Not Simply Talking
About Service
Improvements
We're Making Them
In The Bryan Division

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal, it's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects, modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For the Bryan division this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

The Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has established certain standards in public hearings, and our service results are listed against those standards.
