Oilfield explosion seriously injures 3; cause unknown

United Press International
TOMBALL — Three construction workers were burned Tuesday in an oilfield equipment explosion but officials said they were unsure how the accident occurred.

A crew from T & T Construction Co. of Houston was working on a gas leak east of a oil separator unit about 8 a.m. when the separator exploded, said Harris County Sheriff's Department officials.

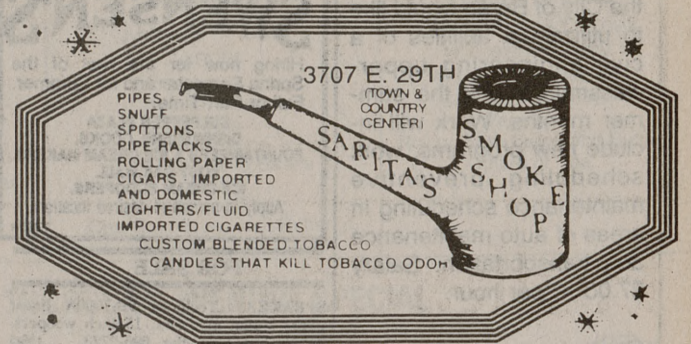

Pieces from the unit blew as high as 500 feet and were scattered for one-fourth mile around the site, said Sgt. Tom Wilson.

The unit, belonging to Tara-toga Gas and Mineral Co., is used in the production of oil separate liquid components from the gaseous elements. The units are cylindrical or spherical in shape, and separation is accomplished by gravity, with the heavier liquids falling to the bottom and gas rising to the top.

Wilson said two employees with burns were taken by LifeFlight helicopter to Hermann Hospital. One man is in serious condition, the other is critical, officials said.

A third man with minor injuries was taken to a hospital in Tomball. Several other employees were injured in the blast, but none seriously.

Campus names

Dr. Milton Weller, a distinguished wildlife scientist and head of the Entomology, Fisheries and Wildlife Department at the University of Minnesota, has been named to assume the Caesar Kleberg Chair in Wildlife Ecology at Texas A&M.

The Kleberg Chair was made possible by a grant of more than $100,000 from the Caesar

Kleberg Foundation for Wildlife Conservation and by additional financial support which will be provided by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Kleberg Chair is one of 30 endowments to attract or retain outstanding faculty for teaching and research.

to avoid a heavy thunderstorm at the time it crashed, killing two men.

A spokesman for the Freestone County Sheriff's Department said the Bell Jet Ranger II departed Huntsville Monday en route to Gainesville when it encountered a heavy thunderstorm in east Texas and decided to turn back.

Investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board were at the crash site Tuesday.

Pilot Clinton Rose, 25, of London, England, and Harvard

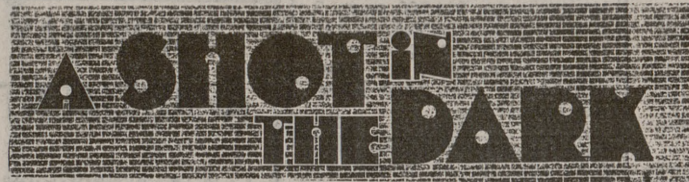

Holen, 24, of Oslo, Norway, were burned beyond recognition in the crash about five miles south of Fairfield.

The helicopter was flying north along Interstate 45 when it crashed and exploded on impact.

"Some eyewitnesses said that the helicopter had made a sharp bank toward the west and then began losing altitude while traveling at a high rate of speed," Department of Public Safety spokesman David Wells said. "It struck the ground, exploding on impact."
