Texan accused of killing deputy in truck incident

United Press International
EL DORADO, Kan. — An Aug. 16 trial has been ordered for a Texas truck driver accused of deliberately plowing his rig into a deputy sheriff's car and crushing the officer to death.

Butler County Judge John Jaworski Monday rejected a request for a change of venue for Johnny Lee Huddleston, 30, of Decatur and scheduled the August trial. Huddleston has been ordered to stand trial on first-degree murder charges in the April 19 death of Butler County Sheriff's Sgt. Thomas Wolf. Huddleston also faces charges of drug paraphernalia possession, reckless driving and attempting to elude a law enforcement officer.

Nader group says AMA, others want to fix prices

WASHINGTON — Three major medical groups gave at least $10,000 each to 44 congressmen sponsoring a bill that would strip a federal agency of its authority to restrict professionals, a Ralph Nader group says.

The proposed legislation would take away the Federal Trade Commission's power to bar doctors, lawyers, dentists and optometrists from setting prices and restricting advertising.

Nader's Public Citizen charged Monday the legislation would let doctors and other professionals "fix prices, boycott and engage in other unfair and deceptive practices with total impunity from FTC prosecution."

Public Citizen reported that the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association and the American Optometric Association gave more than $1.1 million to bill sponsors between January 1979 and April 1982.

Of the 192 House co-sponsors, the study — an update of a report issued in March — said 97 percent received an average of $6,145. Of the 44 who received more than $10,000, Rep. Richard Shelby, D-Ala., led the list with $19,750.

Shelby, a second-term member from Tuscaloosa, said: "I have consistently voted against the authority of the FTC to intervene in a lot of activities I thought have not been authorized by Congress."

"I feel Congress has never granted the FTC the authority to intervene in state-regulated professions, such as the state bar and the state medical association."

"As far as the money I've received from PACs (political action committees), it was given over a four-year period. I have not been lobbied on this bill — to my knowledge — by the AMA," he said, although he said he had received a letter from the Alabama bar association in support of the bill.

Rep. Robert Whittaker, a Republican from Augusta, Kan., who received $16,350, said he would worry if medical groups didn't support him since he is an optometrist.

"I don't buy the argument that a Washington legislator has more expertise than state officials" regulating the professions, he said. He labeled the study a ploy by the Nader group to get public campaign financing by making questionable contributions from special interest groups.
