Attempted-murder conviction upheld

United Press International
AUSTIN — The attempted-murder conviction of a man who fired two shotgun blasts into a Lampasas High School bus was upheld Wednesday by the 3rd Court of Appeals.

The bus, carrying members of the girls drill team, was returning from a football game in Belton. One girl suffered minor injuries in the Oct. 17, 1980, incident. Chandler contended throughout his trial there was no evidence that he intended to harm any of the occupants of the bus, and therefore he should not have been convicted. He was sentenced to five years in prison.

The appellate court said the jury could reasonably conclude from Chandler's attempt to conceal the origin of the shots, his flight from the scene of the shooting, and his purposeful aiming and firing of the shotgun that he had intended to harm the occupants.

Court says actress not Hughes heir

United Press International
AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday upheld a lower court decision denying actress Terry Moore's claim that she is entitled to a share of Howard Hughes' vast estate.

Moore claimed she and Hughes were married in 1949 on a yacht near San Diego, but testified at a trial in Houston she could not remember the date of the event nor the name of the yacht.

Captain C.B. Flynn Sr., who performed the ceremony, is dead.

Moore testified she and Hughes first exchanged marriage vows on a lovers' lane in Los Angeles in 1948, but said she never considered that a valid marriage.

Hughes died April 5, 1976, on an airplane en route to Houston.

Harris County Probate Court No. 2 had granted a summary judgment denying Moore's claim to a share of the Hughes estate, and the state Supreme Court, without comment, affirmed that decision.

Texas high court to hear appeal by Clinton Manges

United Press International
AUSTIN — South Texas millionaire Clinton Manges' appeal of a lower court ruling will be heard by the Texas Supreme Court.

The ruling granted nearly $1 million in damages to a family that contended Manges unfairly administered mineral lease rights on land he purchased from the family.

Manges, whose oil and land holdings in South Texas have helped him contribute large sums to state political campaigns, had disputed an appeal court ruling giving the J.C. Guerra family $883,000 in damages.

The appeal court had contended Manges overstepped his authority as executor of the mineral rights on 93,000 acres of land he purchased from the Guerra family by leasing the mineral rights to himself.

"Such leasing by the executor to himself smacks of fraud on its face," the appeal court said.

$1.4 million judgment affirmed

United Press International
AUSTIN — A Trinity man receive $1.4 million in damages as a result of a car-train accident in 1979, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Ely Edward Pierce, a former employee of the Texas Department of Corrections, filed the suit against Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and Uvence Mendieta, the engineer of the train which struck his car at a crossing in Trinity on Oct. 27, 1979.

Pierce contended in his suit Missouri Pacific was negligent in not having a protected crossing, and that Mendieta was negligent in not sounding the train's whistle and bell as it approached the crossing.

Pierce suffered permanent brain damage in the accident, and is unable to work.

A trial jury ruled in favor of Pierce, and ordered the railroad pay him $1,424,198 in damages.

The Supreme Court found no error in the lower court proceedings and allowed the trial court judgment to stand.
