

Lefty wins No. 10 in Phillies' 1-0 victory

United Press International
Since the designated hitter rule hasn't been adopted by the National League, perhaps pitcher Steve Carlton figures he should have a designated speaker.

Carlton, 37, who earned his 48th career shutout when he pitched Philadelphia to a 1-0 triumph over St. Louis Monday night, didn't comment, but Phillies' Manager Pat Corrales says he is tired of hearing the left-hander is nearing the end of his career.

"Steve Carlton has been outstanding, amazing," Corrales said. "He's been proving things to a lot of people. The country started doubting him but he hasn't had any problems throwing."

Carlton became the National League's first 10-game winner as he led the Phillies to their eight straight victory, moving them into first place by percentage points over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Carlton struck out four and allowed only one Cardinal runner to reach third base in improving his season record to 10-7 and his career mark against his former team to 33-10.

Gary Matthews drove in the game's only run in the fifth off Steve Mura, 5-7. Bob Dernier, who entered the game in an 0-for-21 slump, singled for his second hit of the night, stole second and scored on Matthews' single to left.

St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog understandably was unhappy.

"It doesn't make any difference when you don't score any runs," Herzog said.

Pete Rose's hitting streak, the best in the NL this season, was snapped at 21 games. He was 0-for-2 with a pair of walks.

In other National League games, Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 6-4, Atlanta took Houston, 6-4, San Francisco routed Cincinnati, 7-1, and Los Angeles beat San Diego, 6-4.

In the American League, Boston outslugged Milwaukee, 9-7, Oakland topped Kansas City, 8-4, and Chicago trimmed Minnesota, 8-7.

CUBS 6, PIRATES 4 — At Chicago, Leon Durham hit two home runs, including a two-run shot with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning, to lift Chicago. Dick Tidrow, 3-1, pitched the final three innings for the win.

GIANTS 7, REDS 1 — At San Francisco, Joe Morgan homered and drove in another run with a sacrifice fly during a six-run first inning to bolster the four-hit pitching of Renie Martin, 3-4.

DODGERS 6, PADRES 4 — At Los Angeles, Steve Yeager and Pedro Guerrero each hit two-run homers to help Fernando Valenzuela join Carlton for the NL lead with 10 wins. Chris Welsh, 5-3, took the loss.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox laid down a pair of fast, hard-hitting Laws on the Minnesota Twins Monday night.

Rudy and Vance Law came up with key hits to trigger a seven-run fourth inning that carried the White Sox to an 8-7 victory at Minneapolis. Vance flashed some speed by beating out an infield hit with the bases loaded to knock in the first run and Rudy delivered a three-run double off loser Al Williams, 2-6, to highlight the inning. Steve Kemp capped the inning with a two-run homer.

Rudy also used his legs to pull the White Sox out of a ninth-inning jam. He raced to the center-field wall to haul in Jesus Vega's long drive with two runners on base for the final out of the game.

Twins' Manager Billy Gardner put the blame for Chicago's big inning squarely on the shoulder of Williams.

"That one inning killed us," he moaned. "That ball in the mound was a double ball. He (Williams) does his glove."

RED SOX 9, BREWERS 4 — At Boston, Jerry Remy knuckled in four runs with a pair of doubles to spark the Red Sox victory snapped a three-game Boston losing streak which loss was only Milwaukee's second in its last 12 games.

A's 8, ROYALS 4 — At Kansas City, Mo., Rickey Henderson knocked in four runs with a single and a double and D. Murphy belted a three-run homer to lift the A's triumph came without the services of manager Billy Martin who returned to the hospital the game with neck spasms.

Rain keeps hampering Wimbledon

'Washout' still appropriate

United Press International
WIMBLEDON, England — Wimbledon is running as fast as it can and going steadily backward.

"You never know what's happening out there," grumped a victorious John McEnroe Monday. "It's sunny one minute and pouring with rain 10 minutes later."

And that has put this $1,068,000 tennis championship in a deep, wet hole.

Washout Wimbledon began its second week roughly 160 matches behind schedule. Officials planned 75 matches Monday, and 28 finished.

To do even that kept Jimmy Connors playing until nightfall. In their last set on Court 1, Connors and Drew Gitlin needed seeing eye dogs, but the No. 2 seed finally outguessed the tournament qualifier to win, 6-2, 6-7, 7-5, 7-5.

For the first time in memory, the tournament decreed the first two rounds of men's doubles matches would be won in a best-of-three set format instead of the traditional best-of-five.

It moved up the start of play two hours for two more days, and doubtless will keep the 11 CDT start until women's finals day Saturday.

Every match possible was played out to conclusion, though not everyone cooperated. While Connors was battling through his fourth and final set, 16th-seeded American Steve Denton and Shalke van der Merwe of South Africa were locked into their fifth. The referee called it off with games at 10-10.

Like McEnroe, who won in three easy sets, the game's top women squelched through to the last 16. No. 4 seed Tracy Austin lost one set, but No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd, No. 4 Andrea Jaeger, No. 10 Barbara Potter, No. 9 Sylvia Hanika and No. 13 Anne Smith all won in straight sets.

Brian Gottfried, the American 13th seed, was the only seed to fall, though his defeat by Nick Saviano was hardly a normal upset. Their match began last Thursday, and Saviano finally won the five-setter in Monday evening's fading light, 6-7, 6-7, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1.

The women had advanced farther the men; thus, today's the day when seeds play seeds:

Evert meets No. 15 Virginia Ruzici, Jaeger plays Smith, No. 7 Pam Shriver faces Potter and No. 6 Wendy Turnbull meets No. 12, Billie Jean King, who is in her 102nd Wimbledon match.

Among the men still in the third round, seventh-seeded Mats Wilander, No. 14 Ken Tanner, No. 12 Mark Edmondson and No. 15 Buster Mottram all face unseeded opponents.

But the women's spots go to the top seed, Martina Navratilova, facing unseeded young American Zina Garrison in the opening match on court.

World Cup play continues

United Press International
MADRID, Spain — The action at the World Cup steps up in class today with West Germany and England renewing an old soccer rivalry.

The players on both teams are firmly convinced that this will be their year.

Two-time champ West Germany did not play well in getting to the second round and was booted off the field after winning a berth with a 1-0 victory over Austria last Friday. England went through the opening phase undefeated in three games.

But such is the rivalry between two of Europe's traditional superpowers, that form often goes out the window when they meet. Talk to any group of supporters and they usually can't make up their minds whom to pick. And so it is today, even though West Germany has not lost to a continental rival since 1978.

West Germany, the reigning European champion and without doubt the premier team on the continent during the past decade, probably will start as a slight favorite, but England has a fine lifetime record against the Germans.

In 18 games between the countries, England has won 11, tied three and lost four, scoring 49 goals against 22 allowed.

In World Cup play, the score is tied: England defeated West Germany 4-2 in overtime in a 1966 final in London, but Germans gained their revenge four years later in a quarter match at Leon, Mexico, with a 3-2 in overtime after England-led 2-0 with 20 minutes to go.

England coach Ron Greenwood refused to join the "land will win" set when he said "I am not influenced by the Germans have not played well. They usually start slow in the World Cup and then prove."

Greenwood then announced that the same team which France 3-1 in its opening match would meet Germany.

In Barcelona, defending champion Argentina takes two-time winner Italy, Argentina favored. But Brazil next up for the victors prospects for advancement appear limited.

The teams have met six times previously, with England ahead 4-1 and two matches in Argentina four years ago but the host nation came back eventually defeat Holland 3-1 in the final at Buenos Aires.

Argentina was upset in opening match by Belgium when it began defense of the title two weeks ago, but came with two convincing victories to take its place in the second round. Italy, though, played three miserable ties to make back-door entrance.
