

Pitching, Boone's RBI bring 2-1 victory

Angels inch past Texas

United Press International
Solid pitching performances Tuesday night by Geoff Zahn and Doug Corbett, backed by good defensive play, carried the Angels to a 2-1 victory over the Rangers at Arlington.

Zahn, 9-3, went 6 2/3 innings and combined with Corbett on a seven-hitter to help the Angels to their 13th triumph in their last 17 games.

"I think I was fortunate the guys made the plays behind me," Zahn said of his infielders. "My pitching wasn't real pretty. I was fortunate to get ahead of the hitters when I needed to."

Only seven balls were hit out of the infield by the Rangers and of the seven batters Corbett faced, he produced six ground-outs.

Bob Boone singled home Doug DeCinces from second base in the fifth inning with what proved to be the winning run.

"We had two or three chances to make an easy game of it, but we didn't," Angels' Manager Gene Mauch said. "When we didn't, the pitching made what we had on the scoreboard suffice."

"And the infield play on the left side of the diamond—that's worth going to the ballpark for."

Texas took a 1-0 lead in the third inning on an RBI single by Billy Sample, but the Angels tied the score in the fourth when Don Baylor singled, moved to second as Reggie Jackson walked and scored on a double by Fred Lynn.

Despite the loss, Medich seemed encouraged by his performance.

"This was the best I've felt all year," he said. "I was hoping we'd tie it up and play some more. I could have gone all night."

Elsewhere, Cleveland defeated Baltimore, 9-2, Boston downed Detroit, 4-2, Seattle beat Toronto, 4-1, Kansas City topped Oakland, 7-2, Minnesota stopped Chicago, 12-5, and Milwaukee routed New York, 11-4.

In the National League, it was Pittsburgh 3, Chicago 1; New York 5, Montreal 4; Atlanta 6, Houston 5 in 11 innings; St. Louis 15, Philadelphia 3; San Diego 7, Los Angeles 5 in 10 innings; and San Francisco 3, Cincinnati 0.

INDIANS 9, ORIOLES 2 — At Baltimore, Andre Thornton blasted his 19th homer and triggered a four-run sixth inning with an RBI double to lead the Indians. Scott McGregor, 8-6, was the loser.

RED SOX 4, TIGERS 2 — At Detroit, Dennis Eckersley pitched a four-hitter and Dwight Evans, Jim Rice and Rick Miller homered to lift the Red Sox and send the Tigers to the 14th loss in their last 15 games.

MARINERS 4, BLUEJAYS 1 — At Toronto, Gary Gray's two-run double capped a three-run third inning that carried the Mariners and Floyd Bannister, 7-4. Mike Stanton earned his fifth save.

ROYALS 7, A's 2 — At Kansas City, Mo., George Brett and Willie Aikens drove in two runs apiece to help the Royals.

TWINS 12, WHITE SOX 5 — At Minneapolis, Ron Washington went 4-for-5 and drove in three runs and Gary Ward knocked in four more to spark the Twins.

BREWERS 11, YANKEES 4 — At New York, Cecil Cooper hit two homers and had three RBI and Don Money added three RBI to pace the Brewers.

CARDINALS 15, PHILLIES 3 — The Cards crushed Philadelphia, snapping the Phillies' eight-game winning streak. The Cardinals amassed 17 hits, with George Hendrick driving in seven runs with a double, a sacrifice fly and a grand slam. Joaquin Andujar, who entered the game with the third-best ERA in the National League, scattered six hits over seven innings to increase his record to 7-5.

PIRATES 3, CUBS 1 — At Chicago, Dave Parker broke a scoreless game with an eighth-inning double and pinch hitter Lee Lacy drilled a two-run single in the same inning to lift the Pirates.

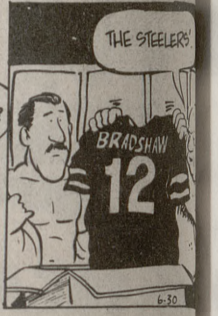

METS 5, EXPOS 4 — At Montreal, rookie Ron Gardenhire cracked his first major-league home run, a two-run shot in the seventh inning, to help the Mets snap a five-game losing streak.

GIANTS 3, REDS 0 — At San Francisco, Adee Hammaker, now 5-4, pitched a four-hitter for his first major-league shut-out and contributed an RBI single in leading the Giants.

PADRES 7, DODGERS 5 — At Los Angeles, Alan Wiggins singled home two runs in the 10th inning to cap the Padres' come-from-behind victory. Dusty Baker homered for Los Angeles.

Hubbard's game-winning gives Braves 6-5 victory

United Press International
ATLANTA — Though he took a while, Glenn Hubbard couldn't have picked a better time to get his second game-winning RBI of the season.

"It's the first one I've had since day one of the season," said the Atlanta second baseman after his one-out, 11th-inning single gave the Braves a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over Houston Tuesday night.

"I was just hoping to hit the ball hard," added Hubbard. "He (Mike LaCoss) got a slider up and I hit it in the gap. I haven't been frustrated. I think I've been playing good and hitting the ball well. There just haven't been that many (game-winning) opportunities for me."

The victory kept the Braves 2 1/2 games in front of San Diego in the National League West.

Hubbard's hit climaxed a big comeback for the Braves, who trailed 5-0 in the sixth inning. With one out in the 11th, pinch hitter Rufino Linares singled, went to second on Brett Butler's infield hit and scored on Hubbard's drive to left-center.

Atlanta scored two runs off Houston starter Joe Niekro in the sixth on consecutive two-out singles by Claudell Washington, Dale Murphy and Bob Horner and a wild pitch. Then, they racked two Houston relievers for three runs in the seventh to tie the game, with the big blows being Hubbard's two-run single and Washington's RBI single.

Both Hubbard and Washington had three hits in the game. "We played badly the first part of the game," said Braves' manager Joe Torre. "We didn't get good pitching."

The Astros got five runs off Atlanta starter Bob Walk in seven innings but Al Hrabosky and winner Steve Bedrosian, 4-1, didn't allow a hit over the final four innings.

"Hrabosky has been great," said Torre. "Bedrosian, after he finally found the plate, threw great."

The Braves left 10 men on base and were victimized by sloppy base-running by Brett

Butler, who was caught down between second and Jerry Royster, who was ped between third and

Torre said he was surprised to see Niekro come the game despite having lead after six innings.

"He threw a lot of reasoned Torre."

The Astros, who had only six hits, bunched the five runs early but went in order the last five innings.

Italy upends Argentina 2-1 but now must face Brazil

United Press International
MADRID, Spain — Four former champions saw World Cup soccer action Tuesday and the one thought least likely to succeed emerged as the only winner.

Argentina lost its grip on the crown when Italy, which had struggled through three matches in the earlier round, recorded a 2-1 victory in a bruising battle in Barcelona that will be remembered more for its temper than the quality of play.

And in Madrid, England and West Germany played typical European soccer but were unable to break a scoreless tie after 90 minutes of end-to-end play.

Action will resume Thursday when Austria meets Northern Ireland at Madrid and Belgium takes on the Soviet Union at Barcelona.

Back home in Italy, followers of the "Azzurri" danced in the streets and police reported traffic was nearly brought to a standstill in Rome when the final whistle sounded several hundred miles away in Barcelona.

The celebrating may have been premature because Italy's next opponent is Brazil — and the even-money favorites are unlikely to be in a charitable mood as they seek to get a step closer to a fourth championship.

Italian coach Enzo Bearzot, who was subjected to the most scathing attacks in the Italian press when Italy could only tie Poland, Cameroon and Peru in the first round, was simply jubilant.

"In the three first-round games," Bearzot said, "Italy was equally as good but lacked scoring power. This time we produced good play and scored two goals."

Argentine coach Cesar Luis Menotti was hardly gracious in defeat.

"I believe that we were deeply influenced by the fact Italy didn't attempt to create a game, that Italy was extremely lucky with its first goal and that Argentina played most of the game in Italy's half without the luck it needed to win," he said.

In the past, the Argentine coach claimed Italy was not a balanced team and he saw no reason to alter that view.

"I still hold the same opinion — I simply believe that Italy was very lucky," he said.

Argentina's destiny is now out of its hands. Its only chance, albeit a slim one, is to beat Brazil and then see the three-time champions take out Italy.

Brazilian coach Tele Santana said he now considers Argentina his most dangerous rival.

"Now the Argentines will come after us with everything because only a victory will permit them to classify."

Italy opened the scoring in the 56th minute on a goal by Marco Tardelli, and when Antonio Cabrini scored 11 minutes later, Argentina had one foot on the plane back to Buenos Aires.

Skipper Daniel Passarella pulled one back with seven minutes remaining on a blazing freekick, but Argentina was fortunate the goal was permitted to stand because the Italians, including goalkeeper Dinzo Zoff, clearly were not ready.

The tackling by both teams was particularly heavy, and in some cases downright mean. Romanian referee Nicolae Rainea had a difficult time maintaining control while issuing five yellow card cautions, and his patience finally gave out five minutes from conclusion when he expelled Americo Gal-lego for a particularly nasty foul on Tardelli.

England and West Germany will be looking for decisive victories to ensure continued progress. West Germany takes on Spain Friday. Should the Germans win, England will have a target to shoot at.

Several in the 90,000-member crowd charged the teams with being afraid of losing, hence the apparent lack of imagination around the penalty box.
