Jones, Saldi file lawsuit over salary negotiations

United Press International
NEW YORK — The agent for Dallas Cowboys' defensive end Ed Jones and tight end Jay Saldi Monday filed a suit in U.S. District Court in an attempt to block the NFL Players Association from handling their contract negotiations.

Don Cronson, a New York attorney, filed the suit against the NFLPA and the NFL. He said the suit was filed on behalf of the two Cowboys as well as Tim Wrightman, a rookie tight end with the Chicago Bears.

The NFLPA has the right to negotiate salaries for players but has waived the right in the past and allowed players to negotiate their own contracts. The players' collective bargaining agreement with the owners expires Thursday and the NFLPA now says veteran players and rookies who have not signed by midnight Thursday cannot sign until management and the NFLPA reach a new agreement.

The NFLPA has also said unsigned veteran players can play for their clubs for 110 percent of their 1981 contracts, or for the club's last written offer, whichever is higher. It also said unsigned rookies could not report to camp.

Both Wrightman and Jones are unsigned and Saldi is in the option year of his contract. The suit seeks to bar the NFLPA from preventing the players from negotiating and signing new pacts.

Orioles' Flanagan expresses joy over nation's fourth-ever test-tube baby

United Press International
BALTIMORE — The thrill of winning the 1979 Cy Young Award was nothing compared to the joy Baltimore Orioles' pitcher Mike Flanagan felt when he watched the birth of his first child — the nation's fourth test-tube baby.

"I witnessed the whole thing and it was amazing," Flanagan, 30, said at a Monday news conference. "Winning the Cy Young was a lot more physical effort on my part. But when you talk about thrills, nothing compares to this."

Mrs. Flanagan gave birth to the 8-pound, 8-ounce girl, named Kerry Ellen, Friday at Greater Baltimore Medical Center following eight hours of labor.

The infant was the first test-tube baby to be delivered by "normal, spontaneous vaginal delivery," rather than by Caesarean section, doctors said.

Mrs. Flanagan was seated in a wheelchair holding the baby during the news conference. "This makes me believe in miracles," the new mother said. "I never thought I'd have one."

The dark-haired baby, dressed in a white lace dress trimmed with pink satin ribbons was oblivious to the platoon of reporters and cameramen and slept through the entire event.

"Kathy had the courage and determination to go through with this. I'm very proud of her and the baby. All we wanted was a chance to have a baby and we got a square deal, as you can see," Flanagan said with an approving nod.

The baby was conceived by the in-vitro fertilization method at the Eastern Virginia Medical School, in Norfolk, Va.

Soap's secret ability to cleanse is linked to its role as a molecular middleman. It forces water and oil-substances which normally shun each other to mix together.

When you wash your hands with water alone, oils on the skin shed the water before you can get every wet — or clean. But soaps change this because one end of its molecule attaches to grease and oil, while the other end attaches to water molecules.

When scrubbing, you break oil and grease into particles that don't normally stay mixed with water. But the soap molecules surround each soil particle, attracting the dirt into the water. Linked, the particles remained together long enough to be rinsed away.

Vilas, Lendl to open today

United Press International
BROOKLINE, Mass. — The top two seeds will take the court in the $200,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships today fully aware of the fact two other seeded players have already packed their bags for home.

Top-seed Guillermo Vilas of Argentina and No. 2 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia will begin action in a tournament in which fifth-seeded Raul Ramirez of Mexico and No. 16 Juan Avendano of Spain fell in first-round action Monday.

Glenn Holroyd, a relative unknown from Phoenix, Ariz., used a tough serve-and-volley game to upset Ramirez. Holroyd, 27, had two first-round losses in Association of Tennis Professionals tournaments and was ranked 243rd in the world before stunning Ramirez, 7-6 (7-5), 6-4.

The serve-and-volley tactic was unusual on the slow clay surface, but Holroyd said: "I knew if I hit it on the baseline, he'd run it down."

"I never had a big win against a player like Ramirez on his best surface."

Unseeded Harold Solomon, once ranked in the top five in the world, defeated practice partner Rick Fagel, 6-4, 6-1, in the featured evening match.

"This is my first regular match in six weeks," said Solomon, who has lost twice in the Longwood final. "In fact, I've been practicing hard with Ricky and I've been beating him easily. He played better in the first set tonight. However, I was confident from our practice sessions."

In the Grand Masters singles final, Mal Anderson of Brisbane, Australia defeated Alex Olmedo of Encino, Calif., 6-0, 5-7, 3-0 (retired) to take the $3,450 first prize.

In other action, Mike Cahill of the U.S. defeated South African Danie Visser, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3; Jonathan Canter, U.S., defeated Drew Gitlin of the U.S., 6-3, 6-4; and Mark Dickson, U.S., defeated Mark Bauer, U.S., 6-3, 6-0.

Two other seeds survived. No. 13 Alejandro Gansabal of Argentina, defeating American John Ross, 6-4, 6-3, and No. 9 seed Van Winitzky, beating Spain's Gabriel Urpi, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

In other matches, Zaner, U.S., defeated Jay L. U.S., 7-5, 3-6, 6-3; Jeff T. U.S., defeated Bruce K. U.S., 6-1, 6-3.

I can't believe I read the whole thing.

We'll cut your reading and studying time to the bone.

Graduates of the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Course read an average of 5 times faster than when they started... and they understand more!

You think we're putting you on? It doesn't sound believable? Well, you'd better believe it. We're talking about the same course President Kennedy had his Joint Chiefs of Staff take. Senators and Congressmen have taken it. So have Captains of Industry. Why not you?

Over 1,000,000 people have completed our course and found it's actually easier to read faster. You can be a slow reader, have a medium-size IQ; it takes no special brains, skills or talents. Just eyes. We'll show you how you can read and study faster in only one hour at a free Mini-Lesson. The burden of proof is all on us—you've got nothing to lose but your grind.
