Record store theft crime of the week

Stereo equipment, records and tapes valued at $24,000 were stolen from the Tip-Top Record building on Coulter and Peace streets in Bryan when it was burglarized sometime after closing July 7.

The burglars gained entrance through a window on the east side of the building and left through the rear door.

Most of the tapes and records that were stolen were rock and soul music.

Anyone having information about the persons responsible for the burglary is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 775-TIPS.

Crime Stoppers will pay $1,000 this week to anyone offering information which leads to an arrest and a grand jury indictment in this case. Crime Stoppers also pays cash rewards for information about any other unsolved crime.

Crime Stoppers will consider all sources of information to be confidential.

Galveston hospital aids victim of jetliner crash

United Press International GALVESTON — Seven-year-old Rachel Schultz, severely burned by the crash of a jetliner into her Kenner, La., home Friday, was awake and agreeable but still in critical condition at Shriners Burns Institute Monday.

"She's conscious and alert and extremely affable," Nursing Director Jim Winkler said, despite the fact that she was wrapped in body dressings for second and third degree burns over 82 percent of her body.

She was listed in "critical but stable" condition.

"She was commenting on the beauty of the doctor's blue eyes. Asked if she was having problem breathing, she said, 'Not to my knowledge,' which is really an unusual answer from a 7-year-old," Winkler said.

Rachel's grandfather accompanied her from a New Orleans hospital to Galveston in a helicopter Sunday. Officials said she left New Orleans sucking a pop-suckle and sticking her tongue out at her father through a hole in her bandages.

Winkler said Rachel was unaware that her sister, Jennifer, 11, died and her mother, Barbara, 33, suffered burns over 80 percent of her body when Pan American Flight 759 crashed in their neighborhood shortly after takeoff, sending exploding fuel into their home. Mrs. Schultz remained hospitalized in New Orleans' East Jefferson General Hospital in critical condition.

$1.7 billion sought in Manges oil suit

United Press International LAREDO — A south Texas millionaire claims in a nearly $1.3 billion lawsuit that a Mobil Oil subsidiary and other firms have breached terms of a contract on a more than 64,000-acre lease on and off since 1933.

The attorney for reclusive banker-rancher Clinton Manges said Sunday he and fellow attorney Pat Maloney of San Antonio filed the lawsuit to cancel a lease held by a Mobil subsidiary since March 3, 1925, on a total of 64,646 acres.

Some of the acres on the lease are owned by Manges, and some are state property. Manges claims the lease requires successive operations on the land — meaning that no more than 90 days may elapse between ending work on one well and beginning operations on another.

"It's a suit to cancel an oil and gas lease for failure to perform according to the terms of the lease," Frank R. Nye Jr., a Rio Grande City lawyer, said Sunday. "They had the duty to come in and continuously drill without any breach of more than 90 days throughout the length of the term of the lease.

"Right at the beginning they missed out and there were some breaches that occurred and some subsequent breaches," he said, claiming the lease was first breached in 1933.

"The lease is so large and covers so great an area that it was only recently discovered when they had a chance to go in and examine the drilling records. It was only discovered about a year and a half ago."

No trial date has been set on the suit naming Mobil Producing Texas and New Mexico Inc., a subsidiary of Mobil Oil; Sun Oil; Petroleum Corp. of Texas; Texas Star Service Inc.; and nearly 100 individual lease holders as defendants. The lawsuit filed Friday said Mobil has 212 wells producing on 4,240 acres of the lease, leaving 60,406 or 93 percent of the land undeveloped.

Manges asks recovery of more than 35 million barrels of oil produced since the first lapse in drilling. Fair market value of the oil is $32 per barrel or $1.14 billion.

In addition, Manges wants gas produced since the lapse, which is in excess of 115 million mcf (million cubic feet) — amounting to $362.25 million.

Manges claims $70 million in damages because of Mobil's failure to relinquish the lease, and asks for $100 million in exemplary damages as punishment because of allegedly fraudulent acts by Mobil.

San Antonio congressman wants more funds for bases

United Press International SAN ANTONIO — Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, says he and other House members will try to restore $30 million in military construction funds for San Antonio that were cut from a budget bill in the Senate.

The money was originally intended for four of San Antonio's five military bases, including $20 million for barracks at Fort Sam Houston.

"This is a bread and butter issue for San Antonio," Gonzalez said Sunday. "The community must work for the entire House package."

The House version of the bill includes the $30 million for San Antonio. A House-Senate conference committee is to begin work this week on a compromise package.

Gonzalez urged San Antonio's leaders to contact Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, whose Senate Armed Services Committee cut the military construction budget from $47.5 million to $17.5 million.

In addition to the barracks, Fort Sam Houston would receive $2 million to air condition post schools and $310,000 for a dining facility at the Academy of Health Sciences.

The House bill also includes $3.5 million for an education center, metal bonding shop and refueling vehicle shop at Kelly Air Force Base.
