

Padres defeat Houston in Dome 'scuff-le' 5-2

United Press International
HOUSTON — Houston Astro pitcher Don Sutton was breezing along with a 2-0 lead over the San Diego Padres in the sixth inning when batter John Montefusco asked the umpire to check the ball for a scuff mark.

The umpire didn't find one, but Sutton got so incensed he lost his concentration and then the game. The 5-2 triumph Wednesday gave the Padres one victory in the three-game series.

"It was a ball game I deserved to lose because I pitched stupidly," Sutton said. "I was stupid to get angry with Montefusco, and I forgot I was out there to win a ball game. I've been losing my concentration in games over the past three to four weeks."

Montefusco doubled off Sutton after the incident. The hit started a four-run inning that sparked the San Diego Padres on to the victory.

"I've never seen Sutton blow up like he did," said Montefusco. "I asked the umpire to check a scuff mark on the ball. It seemed like Sutton wanted to show me he was mad at me rather than trying to pitch to me. I know what it means when you get upset and lose it out there."

Montefusco, now 9-6, overcame a shaky start to pick up his first complete-game victory of the season. He escaped a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and allowed two runs in the second. However, he retired 21 of the next 22 batters en route to a five-hitter.

"It's the first time I've gone nine innings in three or four years, and I feel great," he said. "I had a lot to prove this year. It was a do or die year for me in baseball."

The Astros took a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Terry Puhl's two-out single drove in Alan Ashby, who had walked, and Dickie Thon, who had doubled.

In the sixth, after Montefusco doubled down the left-field line, Gene Richards singled the pitcher to third. Richards then stole second as Tim Flannery struck out.

Haynie, Carner favorites in Boston Five tourney

United Press International
DANVERS, Mass. — Sandra Haynie was inducted into the LPGA Hall of Fame in 1977 — the same year she came close to retiring from golf. Five years later, she's playing as well as at any time in her 22 years on the tour.

Haynie, now 39, headed a field of 113 which began play today in the $175,000 LPGA Boston Five Classic, at the Radisson Farncroft Country Club.

Haynie, No. 2 on the money list with nearly $209,000, is the hottest player on the LPGA circuit. In her last five starts, she has back-to-back victories at Rochester, N.Y., and the Peter Jackson Classic as well as a second-, third- and fourth-place finish.

"I'm concentrating more and I'm a much more solid player," she said Wednesday after a practice round at the par-72, 6,008-yard layout. "This year has been more rewarding and enjoyable than the other 17."

Haynie's statistics say this is her 22nd year, but she considers it her 18th. She all but quit the tour after the 1976 season, competing in only one event in 1977, three in 1978, six in 1979 and seven in 1980.

Last year, playing in 25 tournaments, she won the Henredon Classic in North Carolina and earned $94,211, good for 13th on the money list. But in three less events this year, she has more than doubled that.

"This year has been unbelievable," she said. "I feel real good about the way I'm playing, though I am a bit tired. But once that adrenalin gets going, you forget you're tired."

With top money-winner Sally Little bypassing the event, Haynie rates as one of the favorites. Thirteen of the top 15 wage earners are present, including all-time leader JoAnne Carner, defending champ Donna Caponi, LPGA titlist Jan Stephenson and U.S. Open winner Janet Alex.

Indians' rookie stops Texas in 8-4 victory

United Press International
CLEVELAND — Bud Anderson is a happy man.

The 25-year-old rookie reliever wore a big smile after earning his first major-league victory Wednesday night when the Cleveland Indians bounced back to post an 8-4 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"I feel real happy," Anderson said. "I was glad to be called into the game in a tough situation. I was confident and I was throwing hard."

Anderson was summoned by Manager Dave Garcia after George Wright's two-run homer pulled the Rangers to within one run, 3-2, in the sixth against Cleveland starter Rick Waits.

After Lee Mazzilli flied out, Waits walked Buddy Bell and gave up a single to Dave Hostetler. Anderson came in and got Lamar Johnson to pop out, but Bell scored the tying run when shortstop Mike Fischlin booted Larry Parrish's grounder.

"I got the popper and the grounder, but Fischlin booted the ball. That doesn't upset me, though, because we are all human and errors are made," Anderson said.

The Indians chased Texas starter Doc Medich after filling the bases on a walk to Fischlin and singles by Miguel Dilone and Toby Harrah. Paul Mirabella came in and walked Mike Hargrove, sending Fischlin home with the go-ahead run.

After Danny Darwin relieved Mirabella, Thornton brought Dilone home with a sacrifice fly. Von Hayes then singled home Harrah to give the Indians a 6-3 advantage.

"When we got those runs it (victory) was there for the taking and I really wanted it," said Anderson, who allowed three hits, walked one and struck out two.

"I had all my pitches going for me tonight and I threw only two change-ups. I threw three fast-balls to go 1-2 on Mazzilli and I knew I was going to throw a strike to get him out in the ninth and end the game."

The Indians didn't get a hit in the first inning but they managed to score two runs off the wild offerings of Medich, whose record fell to 7-10.

Dilone, who scored four runs on the night, raced home on Thornton's single in the sixth and also came home when Mike Hargrove drilled a two-run bases-loaded single in the eighth to end the scoring.
