Wood murder trial to begin Tuesday

United Press International
SAN ANTONIO — Charles Harrelson's trial for the murder of Federal Judge John Wood begins Tuesday. His wife Jo Ann and high roller Jimmy Chagra's wife Elizabeth will be tried for conspiracy to commit murder and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Jimmy Chagra, now serving 30 years on the drug smuggling charge, was granted a separate trial at the last minute — a move that federal Judge William Sessions had rejected until government prosecutors said they also wanted Chagra tried separately.

Chagra and his brother Joe faced additional charges of drug smuggling in a reported scheme to spring Jimmy from the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., after his drug conviction and to finance his escape from the country. That issue now will not have to be addressed at the first trial.

Joe Chagra, an El Paso lawyer, agreed to testify against Harrelson — but not against his brother — as part of a plea bargain in which he pleaded guilty to conspiracy to murder. The other charges were dropped.

The prosecutors have hours of taped conversations between Jimmy and Elizabeth Chagra that will be played for the jury.

Elizabeth Chagra is accused of delivering Harrelson's $250,000 payoff money to his stepdaughter in Las Vegas. She reportedly wrote a letter to Wood's widow this month apologizing for her role and saying she acted on her husband's orders.

Mrs. Chagra's attorney, Warren Burnett of Galveston, said if Jimmy Chagra could be tried first, he could then testify on behalf of Mrs. Chagra at her trial and could exonerate her. Otherwise, Burnett said, Chagra would have to incriminate himself if he testified.

But Sessions followed the prosecution's wishes in trying the other three defendants first. Burnett has warned he will try to delay Tuesday's trial.

Jo Ann Harrelson has already been sentenced to three years in prison for using a phony name to buy the high-powered rifle authorities believe was used to kill Wood. After this conspiracy trial, she will face another trial for lying to a grand jury about the Wood case.

3 crash victims 'critical'

United Press International
MIDLAND — The pilot and co-pilot of a small airplane that crashed into an apartment complex and a resident of the complex were listed in critical condition in Lubbock Saturday with severe burns, hospital officials said.

Two other men injured in the Friday crash were listed in stable condition at a Midland hospital.

Police said no additional victims were found at the Warwick Apartment complex, where a small plane carrying prisoners to Louisiana crashed shortly after takeoff Friday, gutting 12 apartments and seven cars.

Listed in critical condition Saturday in the burn unit of Lubbock General Hospital about 100 miles north of Midland were the pilot, Allan Sheets, 56, of Baton Rouge; copilot Ken Hornsby, 41, of Baton Rouge, and Richard Sellars, 20, of Midland.

Sellars had burns over 85 percent of his body, hospital officials said. Sheets was burned over 70 percent of his body and Hornsby suffered burns over 35 percent of his body.

The two prisoners being transported to Louisiana were in stable condition at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Witnesses said the timing of the small plane's crash into the complex probably prevented more victims than the five men burned in the fire that raged after the accident.

A search of charred apartments and cars ended about four hours after the 2 p.m. crash. Police said no additional victims were found.

"It could have been worse if it had happened when more people were home from work," said assistant apartment manager Laura Havdra. "And the kids weren't home from school."

The plane, registered to the Louisiana Department of Corrections, apparently clipped one unit of 24 apartments with its wing shortly after takeoff.

Havdra said the crash damaged the most distant of six apartment complex units, the one closest to the small, city-owned Midland Air Park where the twin-engine Beech apparently refueled before it took off.

The Red Cross and other volunteers worked Saturday to find lodging for those whose homes were destroyed. Havdra said a motel in Odessa, 20 miles northeast of Midland, offered free lodging for up to three days to victims of the fire.

Police declined to release details of the crash, but one witness said flames shot as high as 150 feet above the apartments.

Another witness said one passenger crawled from the wreckage and called for help.

MSC Council meets to hear reports, approve speakers

The MSC Council will meet tonight at 7:30 in 216T Memorial Student Center to hear committee and vice-president reports and to approve new speakers.

Council president Todd Norwood said the council will hear a report about a new student development training program called Phoenix. The program, which is to be implemented this year, is actually a series of programs designed to train students in various managerial and leadership skills.

The council also will hear a report on a branch of the MSC Travel Committee: the MSC Travel Project. Students who went on the trips to the Dominican Republic and to Trinidad and Tobago worked in the country and lived with a native family. Norwood said the council will also approve more speakers for the fall and spring semesters.
