Marino, Pitt should stave off Mountaineers

United Press International
NEW YORK—The rumbling in the hills near Morgantown, W.Va., can be heard 60 miles to the north in Pittsburgh, the home of the No. 1 team in the nation.

And Pittsburgh coach "Foge" Fazio knows what his Panthers will be up against Saturday when they host the 14th-ranked Mountaineers in the 75th renewal of their heated rivalry that dates back to 1895.

"Everybody around here knows they've got better material than we do," says the first-year coach. "I'm really worried about this game. It's our first home game at Pitt Stadium and we're playing, in my opinion, one of the top 10 teams in the country. We've got to increase our intensity for this game because emotions will be running high out there."

The Panthers, who lead the series 51-22-1, shut out the Mountaineers last season, 17-0. It was the first time West Virginia had been held scoreless since losing to Penn State, 33-0, in 1976.

West Virginia, which started the season with a convincing 41-27 upset at Oklahoma, is now 3-0 while the Panthers, following a 20-3 triumph over Illinois, also are 3-0.

"We know it's going to be a challenge, but we're looking forward to playing them," said West Virginia coach Don Nehlen.

West Virginia's last victory over Pittsburgh came in 1975 when the Mountaineers kicked a field goal with no time remaining for a 17-14 triumph.
