

Barbecue to benefit Bonfire See page 3

See pages 9 and 10

Serving the University community

lol. 76 No. 34 USPS 045360 12 Pages

College Station, Texas

The Battalion

Bears give

A&M victory

Monday, October 18, 1982

Ex-first lady hroughou Bess Truman dead at 97

United Press International KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Bess Tru-nan, the former first lady described the late President Harry S. Truan as "The Boss," died today of constive heart failure. She was 97.

turers

GSTEEN

antic City

RS

ly You And sident Gas

ORPE

nd Blood)

Truman died on arrival at Re-rch Medical Center. Her doctor id her condition was complicated by bleeding ulcer which caused a ret hospitalization. No family members were at the pital when death came.

"She was dead on arrival," hospital okesman Tom Peck said. "She was ought to the hospital early today pronounced dead at 4:38 a.m.' Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's time physician, said the cause of ath was congestive heart failure. e said no autopsy would be con-icted, but a news conference was to held at 9 a.m. CDT to discuss des of the death.

Peck said the death was related to bleeding ulcer that recently hos-talized Truman. At the White House, a spokesman id, "The president was saddened to n of her death this morning.

Born Bess Wallace Truman, the widow of Harry S. Truman, the 33rd president of the United States, zealously guarded the privacy of her personal life in her final years at the 17-room mansion where she grew up in Independence, Mo.

Following the death of her hus-band on Dec. 26, 1972, Truman rarely left the spacious frame house a few blocks from the Truman Library that friends said she always liked "a lot the White House.

The oldest living former first lady maintained a quiet existence with the aid of a housekeeping staff of two women and a handyman and a Secret Service detail.

A recurring case of arthritis and other ailments necessitated first that she use a cane, then a wheelchair, and finally those illnesses severely re-stricted her visits to the beauty shop and the Truman Library

The only daughter in a family of four children, Truman was born Feb. 13, 1885. She was 18 when her father died and her widowed mother returned with the children to live with Bess' Grandmother Wallace.

Bike accident

staff photo by Diana Sultenfuss

Elizabeth Harnden, 24, a graduate student in English, is treated for head injuries by the University Emergency Medical Team. According to the University Police report, Harnden was turning south on her bicycle onto Ireland Street from Parking Lot 7, near the A&A Building, Friday morning when she swerved to avoid another bicycle and collided with Alberto Livore, who was riding his bicycle south on Ireland. Harnden was treated for minor head injuries and released. Livore was not injured in the accident.

Gemayel visits U.S.; Israel nearing agreement

United Press International on the prospects of a trilateral agreement being reached soon with Washington and ates Sunday to seek aid for rebuilding Leon m, leaving his army under orders to move to the mountains southeast of Beirut to halt ghting between Christian and Druze Mos-m militias. Cabinet Secretary Dan Meridor indicated Israel may soften its opposition to an interna-tional peace-keeping force there, provided it plays only a secondary role in policing a 27-mile huffer zone north of the Israeli frontier. The burged by the sector of the Lebanese army to replace statistic troops in the rocky Shouf mountain generation overlooking Beirut airport came after Gemayel conferred with leaders of the two inval factions before boarding a special Mid-lafe East Airlines flight for New York. In Jerusalem, the Israeli cabinet at its regu-

The 40-year-old lawyer is scheduled to address the U.N. General Assembly today be- Christian Phalangists and leftist Druze has fore moving on to Washington for a meeting Tuesday with President Reagan. been going on in the mountains for months, but intensified last week into sustained artil-Reagan was expected to announce a $10 billion loan during the first official visit to the United States ever by a Lebanese president, the sources said.

In Beirut, government sources said Lebanese army would go into the Shouf ing the Phalangists to go on with the battle. Gemayel and his nine-man team of top mountains "after Israeli troops in the region Apparently preparing for the arrival of the Lebanese officials would seek help in Washington for rebuilding Lebanon and its army, a key to the restoration of law and order in the country torn by seven years of warring.

Fighting between the right-wing Lebanese

Apparently preparing for the arrival of the Lebanese regulars, the Israelis moved lum-bering Mack truck tank transporters into the foothills of the Shouf and closed off some of the narrower mountain roads to ordinary traffic weekly meeting heard an optimistic report ary of State George Shultz.

lery and mortar duels that reportedly killed

15 people. Druze leaders called five days ago for the Lebanese army to enter the area to stop the State-run Beirut radio said Sunday the fighting, claiming the Israelis were encourag-

But one Israeli officer said he had not yet received orders to withdraw his two American-made M-60 Patton tanks and two armored personnel carriers.

"We're here to keep the peace between the two factions and I haven't received any orders to move." said the Israeli officer who identified himself only as Lt. Uri.

staff photo by Diana Sultenfuss

Grin and bear it

Matt Batchelor, a senior computer science major from Orange, poses with the Baylor University mascot, a North American black bear cub named Judge Charles. Batchelor's sister, Mary, is a student at Baylor. For related stories, see pages 9 and 10.

'Bad news': campus priest to be moved from A&M

by Janet Joyce

Battalion Reporter Clad in beige slacks, a light-colored sport shirt and a maroon sweater, Bill Brooks walks briskly across the Texas A&M campus. Students, faculty and staff greet him as they pass. A few stop to chat.

But instead of the cheerful faces he usually sees, their expressions are sad. And their conversations begin with,

"I heard the bad news." The "bad news" is that the Rev. William C. "Bill" Brooks — Catholic priest, campus minister to more than 12,000 Catholic students — has been transferred anter four and a half years and will leave Tuesday for his new home in Luling.

Brooks has been part of Aggie life during his years here. He has gone to Fish Camp each year, regularly visits the bonfire cutting site and is an hon-orary member of the Century Singers and Singing Cadets. Among the many people upset ab-out his leaving is Dr. Carolyn Adair, director of student activities.

"I don't really understand why the (Roman Catholic) Church would move a person away from an area in which he so strongly excels," Adair said. "Father Bill has been such an important influence on thousands of students. I'm sorry for those in the future who will not know him.'

Janie Metzer, a secretary for student activities and the Student 'Y', said Brooks has worked well with students of all denominations.

'I'm not Catholic but that doesn't make any difference," she said. "I think he's wonderful and not only the Catholic (students) but the Protestant students, well, anybody - they've just always counted on him as a friend and he's been there when they've needed him.

Rev. William C. Brooks

Carol Lilley, a junior mechanical engineering major from Yoakum, worked with Brooks.

"When I first met Father Bill, I sometimes wondered if he ever stopped talking because he's such an out-going person," Lilley said. "But when it comes to counseling, he always seems to know when to talk and when to listen and most of the time he listens. He can really help you get things back into perspective." Brooks brought a variety of experiences to College Station.

He was born in Cincinnati in 1940. He began singing professionally in high school and has sung with the Buffalo and Cincinnati symphonies and the New York Metropolitan Opera.

Selling insurance full time, Brooks went to school at night and received a bachelor's degree in economics in 1961. He was named the Outstanding Man of Cincinnati the same year.

In 1963, Brooks received a second bachelor's degree — this one in psychology. He worked as a medical technician to finance his education and enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserves

In 1965, Brooks - who was raised in the Church of Christ — joined the Roman Catholic Church. In 1970, he entered the Franciscan Community in Centerville, Ohio, where he studied theology. He spent two and a half years living in monasteries - one in Centerville, and another in Oldenberg, Ind.

He left the Franciscans in 1975, planning not to be a priest. Then a friend encouraged him to look at the Austin diocese. On Sept. 27, he was ordained a deacon and was ordained a priest seven months later.

Brooks came to St. Mary's on June 1, 1978, arriving at a parish that had minimal attendance on Sunday and was in such financial trouble that it was doubtful his $250 a month salary would be paid. Today, he leaves a parish that is financially sound, and has standing-room-only crowds at four Sunday masses in a building that officially seats about 800 people.

"We're all going to miss him," Lil-ley said. "In fact, the Aggies will prob-ably overload Luling's telephone lines as soon as Father Bill hits town."

As a parting gesture, a yell practice will be held for Brooks at noon Tuesday at St. Mary's.

Cheap Trick ticket sales postponed

Tickets for Cheap Trick will not be on sale today. They will go on sale Wednesday morning at Rud-der Box Office. Call MSC Town Hall at 845-1515 for further information.

inside

The second s
Around town Classified ( National Opinions
Sports 1
State

Today's Forecast: High of about 82, low in the upper 50s. Warming slighty with high haze.