"I hope this stuff doesn"." "I hope this stuff doesn't sink into my ores," Porter smiled after some over exerant teammates poured champagne ver his head.

Porter, who entered a rehabilitation cenin 1980 for alcohol and drug abuse, singhome an eighth-inning run in support of ne combined seven-hit pitching of Joaquin ndujar and Bruce Sutter, giving Herzog a 30 p.m. in 410 Rudde e in only his second season at the Cardin-

"This was the most fun I've had in my treer in baseball," said Porter. "It was very citing. We weren't afraid after getting bend in the sixth inning. We knew we just ad to battle back.

Herzog managed Porter for two years nen the Kansas City Royals won the Amer-

1980, one of the key decisions he made was to sign Porter in the re-entry draft.

"The big thing is Darrell had those great years for me in Kansas City," said Herzog.
"He's caught real well and he's been throwing well since he got over his arm injury. I was really happy to get him over here."

He should be happy. Porter handled the St. Louis pitching staff artfully, was named MVP in the National League Playoffs and captured the World Series MVP with a .286 average, one homer and five RBI average, one homer and five RBI.

The decision left Milwaukee one victory short of completing what would have been a remarkable hat trick, three times placing their season on the line in one game. They won the American League East on the last day of the regular season, became the first AL team to win a playoff after losing the first two games, but could not overcome the determined effort of Andujar, Porter, and the rest of the Cardinals, who came back from a three-game-to-two deficit in the

Over that span he allowed eight hits and two walks, but only one run. And when Andujar committed a throwing error in the sixth to help Milwaukee take a 3-1 lead, it appeared the Vuckovich might wind up authoring another Brewer miracle.

Then in the bottom of the sixth, Keith Hernandez singled in the tying run, George Hendrick singled in what proved to be the winner, and from that point the toughest battle Andujar faced was with Milwaukee's Jim Gantner with whom he skirmished after throwing him out to end the Brewers

"I made up my mind that nothing was going to stop me or beat me tonight," said Andujar. "I told my teammates that tonight nothing was going to beat me.

Once the Cardinals went ahead, it was only a matter of time before Sutter entered the game and nailed it down as he did 36 times during the regular season.

"It's hard to believe," said Sutter. "I know "It's hard to believe," said Sutter. "I know it probably won't sink in for a while. I imagine I'll be hunting deer this winter and all of a sudden it will sink in and I'll let out a big

Sutter receives praise as St. Louis wins 6-3

ST. LOUIS — With two out in the top of the ninth, Bruce Sutter's split-fingered fastball was baffling the Milwaukee batters and bleacher fans

"When I came over here, I was pretty lucky. We already had a lot of good ballplayers. The one guy we needed was a relief pitcher.

"We had 92 victories for the season and Sutter"

The howl from the 53,000 people at Busch Stadium Wednesday night reached an earringing crescendo when Sutter struck out Gorman Thomas of the Brewers to give the St. Louis Cardinals their first World Series championship

Hundreds of bleacher fans, who had draped their legs over the top of the outfield wall at the start of the inning, leaped onto the field.

They were joined by thousands of others, from the box seats, who poured onto the field's artificial turf and dashed past the dozen mounted officers and handful of police dogs sent out to control the the field. Many had their arms raised in victory salutes. Others snatched up the bases for souve-nirs and only a mass of officers prevented fans from scooping up and hauling away the dirt of the pitcher's mound.

At least three different sections of the artificial turf were ripped up by the fans while officers formed a ring around home plate.

A thunderous fireworks display high over the downtown area reflected light and sound from the glass-walled skyscrapers that surround the ballpark. The pyrotechnics after the game sustained the ovation for the Cardinals' 6-3 win in the series finale.

And though Darrell Porter was named the Most Valuable Player in the World Series, St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog had no trouble singling out another player for filling the leading role in the Cardinals' drive to the world cham-

Herzog did just that again Wednesday night in the seventh and deciding game of the Series against Milwaukee. And Sutter retired the last six batters in order to save the Cardinals' 6-3 win for Joaquin Andujar.

Sutter, who spent his years before joining St. Louis growing accustomed to last-place finishes with the Chicago Cubs, was enjoying the madhouse St. Louis clubhouse after the game.

"It's hard to believe," Sutter said. "I know it probably won't sink in for a while. We had a lot of ups and downs this year, but when it came down to the end we all played well and every guy did his Police were no match for fans who ran about job to bring us the championship.

> Milwaukee third baseman Paul Molitor, who got his first look at Sutter and his famous split-fingered fastball during the Series, said Sutter was the difference between the two clubs.

> "You take away Bruce Sutter and they're only a better than average club," Molitor said. "They're a good club, but he's such a significant factor.

> Brewers' Manager Harvey Kuenn said the results of the Series were not dictated on Sutter being available and Milwaukee being without its relief ace, Rollie Fingers, who has a torn muscle in his arm and didn't make an appearance.

> Herzog said even when the Brewers took a 3-to-2 lead in the Series, he believed the Cardinals would come back to win because they were playing

"I thought after we won the second game that if we got back to St. Louis we would have a good chance of winning," said Herzog. "I didn't really get that excited about it. I don't
