

Brain damage diagnosed after Leveille's collapse

United Press International
VANCOUVER, British Columbia — Doctors say Boston Bruins left-winger Normand Leveille suffered brain damage due to a cerebral hemorrhage sustained in a weekend NHL contest, but are not yet sure how extensive it is.

The 19-year-old Montreal native's parents have kept a bedside vigil at the Vancouver General Hospital, where their son underwent six hours of surgery Saturday to relieve pressure on his brain and stop bleeding.

Bruins spokesman Nate Greenberg said Tuesday that Dr. Barrie Woodhurst, who performed the surgery, advised Leveille's parents against transferring their son to a hospital in Montreal.

"There's been no change in his condition. We were told there was no deterioration or improvement in his condition," Greenberg said after meeting with Woodhurst, Leveille's parents and other team officials.

"He's still unconscious and still in poor condition," Greenberg said.

Jacques and Therese Leveille have been at the hospital almost constantly since they arrived from Montreal Sunday afternoon.

Greenberg said Woodhurst told the parents their son would have to remain in the intensive care unit at Vancouver General Hospital indefinitely.

Leveille has been unconscious since he was rushed to the hospital after he collapsed during the first-period intermission in a game against the Vancouver Canucks.

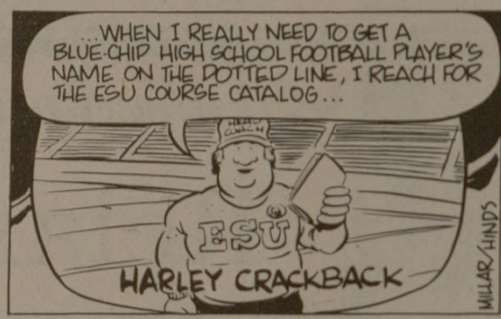

"He (Woodhurst) felt there was some brain damage, but to what extent we don't know," Greenberg said. "Mrs. Leveille asked the doctor about transferring Normand to the (Montreal Neurological Hospital and Institute), but the doctor said that was not possible under the present circumstances."

Greenberg said Boston players attended Mass in Toronto Tuesday to pray for their stricken teammate. The Bruins meet the Maple Leafs tonight.

On Monday, Bruins general manager Harry Sinden said Woodhurst had discounted the possibility that Leveille's condition was caused by a heavy check he took from Vancouver forward Marc Crawford in the first period of the hockey game.

"It has nothing to do with any blow," Sinden said. "It's a malformation of the arteries and veins and is called an arteriovenous malformation."

Sabres' late goals tie Walter, Montreal

United Press International
Former Montreal coach Scotty Bowman said he didn't recognize many of the Montreal Canadiens Tuesday night. Present coach Bob Berry had the same problem.

"When the game started at 8, we weren't even prepared," Berry said after his team could only manage a 7-7 tie with the Buffalo Sabres. Montreal is undefeated in seven straight games, but that is little consolation to Berry.

"We suffered a total breakdown in the third period," he said. "We've been playing well lately, but we're still giving up too many late goals."

"I hardly recognize the Canadiens anymore," Buffalo coach Bowman said. "There's only seven players remaining from the days that I was there."

Guy Lafleur tied Bobby Orr for 12th place on the all-time NHL assists list with his setup of Walter's first goal at 5:58 of the second period. He picked the puck off the boards and backhanded a pass through his legs to Walter, who broke a 5-5 deadlock with a shot past Buffalo goalie Jacques Cloutier. Less than four minutes later, Lafleur fed Walter and the left wing blasted a drive through Cloutier's legs to put Montreal up 7-5.

The wild first period ended 5-5. Mike Foligno, rookie Hanu Virta and Steve Patrick provided Buffalo with a 3-0 lead in the first six minutes. Doug Wickeneiser made it 3-1 on a power play with Montreal's first shot on a goal. Mark Napier and Keith Acton scored less than three minutes apart to tie it 3-3. But the Sabres struck with goals from Savard and rookie Sean McKenna before Montreal's Robert Picard and Steve Shutt replied in a span of 32 seconds.

In other games, the defeated New York Islanders, Quebec, Calgary 7-2 and Hartford 8-1.

NORTH STARS 3 — At East Rutherford, Tom McCarthy scored the third period goal. North Stars a victory over Devils. Steve Payne also goals for Minnesota.

NORDIQUES 4 — At Quebec, Goulet recorded a hat trick and two assists to power the Nordiques. The Maple Leafs even with the Nordiques. Anton Stastny's fifth goal of the season at 16:56 of the third period gave Quebec a 1-0 lead.

ISLANDERS 7 — At Uniondale, N.Y., Bossy and Duane Sutter scored two goals each and Denis Proulx had four assists. Islanders extend their season home unbeaten to 29 games with a 7-0 victory over the Flames.

Irving Nimitz forfeit; record 1

United Press International
IRVING — Neglected paperwork for a student transfer will cost Nimitz High School the seven wins in which an ineligible player participated, a District 8-5A executive committee has ruled in an emergency session.

Monday's action reversed the Vikings' 7-0-1 record to 1-7. It was the second time in the last two years coach Mike Farda's team has seen victory taken away because of the participation of an ineligible player.

"All it is is paperwork," Farda said as news of the ruling spread like a cloud through the Nimitz fieldhouse. "We even drove down there Friday and got everything signed. If he was too old or didn't pass something, it would be a different story. But he just came out here and worked his tail off, and the coach didn't get the paperwork done."

Barring an appeal to the University Athletic League's executive committee, Grand Prairie and Grand Prairie are set for play-off berths in state.

Sophomore Kyle transfer papers from 25 miles southwest of Irving not mention his football ties there, which breaks eligibility requirements, district chairman George said.

The paperwork is to show the transfer and not being recruited by the district's executive office. Failure to take the action have placed in jeopardy right of any District 8-5A to participate in state playoffs. Farda said. "There's a guy who has to take the blame."
