Bell phone increases toll fees

United Press International
AUSTIN — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has received permission to temporarily raise fees for toll calls within the state by 10 percent.

Bell spokesman Dale Johnson said Wednesday that the 10 percent surcharge will be in effect for about two or three months — long enough to raise $16.7 million — and probably will be initiated in mid-November.

It will affect only long-distance calls within Texas.

The surcharge was the result of an out-of-court settlement of a 1980 rate case between Southwestern Bell and the Public Utility Commission. The PUC had granted the phone company only $114.3 million of its requested $326.3 million rate hike request. Bell appealed and won part of its case, prompting the settlement.

Reagan's economic policies linked to abortion increase

NEW YORK — Many women are having abortions because they cannot afford to raise children under the Reagan administration's economic policies, a health center director says.

Fifty-three percent of the women interviewed in a survey for the health center CHOICES said the most important reasons were the economic conditions in deciding to have an abortion. In a similar study last year only 28 percent of the respondents had cited economic concerns in having abortions.

Merle Hoffman, a social psychologist and director of CHOICES, said Wednesday the survey questioned 200 women during a six-month period. The study was made in conjunction with Adelphi University and the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York.

"Because of the reality of the economy, many women are sacrificing their desire for children," said Hoffman.

"The Reagan administration's economic policies must be viewed as having a direct effect on abortions in this country, more than 1.5 million a year."

Careers were the second-most important reason listed, while emotional, school and medical reasons were cited by only 6.5 percent.

The majority of women ranked children and having children to be of primary importance in their lives, followed by marriage and relationships.

Out of the sample, 65.5 percent were employed and 93 percent of those held pink-collar jobs — secretary, data processor, office work, clerk/typist.

Thirty-five percent were totally responsible for their family's financial care.

Among the 28 percent of the women sampled who were married, nearly half were working full-time to help support their families.

Economists have estimated the cost of raising a child to age 18 can cost as much as 250,000.
